STRIKE CHIEF AND SENATORS IN NEW YORK

Mission of Quay, Penrose and Mitchell a Profound Secret.

KEEFE, PERHAPS, A GO-BETWEEN

Miners of All Districts Vote to Continue the Fight for Recognition.

ANSWER TO ROOSEVELT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

Refusing absolutely to tell why he is here, John Mitchell, leader of the striking miners, arrived in this city at 9 o'clock tonight, accompanied by his lieutenants, District Presidents Duffy, Fahey and Nicolls. Mitchell left Wilkesbarre suddenly immediately after receiving a mysterious telegram from New York.

On reaching the Ashland house here, Mr. Mitchell went to his room, denying himself to all callers, but leaving word that a certain man was to come to him the instant he reached the hotel. The name of this expected visitor could not be learned.

Almost at the same time that Mr. Mitchell arrived Senators Quay and Penrose reached this city and stopped at the Fifth Avenue hotel.

That an important movement is on foot in the great strike was believed certain; but tonight it was impossible to learn what plans are contemplated.

Before going to his room to go to bed, as he said, Mr. Mitchell told the clerk of the Ashland house that he expected a call from a man, whose name he gave. This visitor, he said, was to be shown to his room without delay. He would receive none others, he said, and no cards were to be sent to him.

Visitor Supposed to Be Keefe.

Mr. Mitchell had not been in the room five minutes when he was called downstairs to answer a call on the telephone. He talked about 10 minutes and then went to his room. Fifteen minutes later he was summoned to the telephone again, and he was in earnest conversation for some minutes. At midnight, so far as could be learned, the visitor he was expecting had not arrived.

This visitor, however, is supposed to be Daniel Keefe, president of the Longshoremen, with headquarters at Detroit. Daniel Keefe is known to have been in the anthracite regions, but the exact nature of his mission has not been divulged. During the anthracite strike of 1900 Keefe represented Senator Hanna, and the Republican national committee and was very influential in bringing about a settlement of the differences between the coal operators and the miners' union, securing a raise of 10 per cent in wages and a reduction in the price of coal. The best information is that Mr. Keefe is on a similar mission now.

Mr. Mitchell, to whom the other members of the party directed all questions, said he could not disclose his plans tonight. He would not say where he would stay in this city, nor how long.

Regarding the general strike situation, Mr. Mitchell would say nothing, except to retterate his belief in the miners' ultimate triumph. The vote in the union today, he said, demonstrates that there would be no weakening in their ranks.

Goes to Quay's Hotel.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Mr. Mitchell, accompanied by a stranger, left the Ashland house for the Fifth avenue hotel. Senators Quay and Penrose had returned to the hotel shortly before Mr. Mitchell arrived, and they were accompanied by a third man. They went to room No. 120, which was a room assigned to a Mr. Hammerling. All notes or cards addressed to the Pennsylvania senators were sent to this room.

Soon after Mitchell reached the hotel a note came from the Hoffman house for Senator Quay. He returned the message that he had retired, and he also sent word to the hotel desk that he was not to be disturbed by any cards or messages.

That there was a conference of momentous import was the conclusion of all who knew of the presence of the men in the hotel, and in the conference were Mr. Mitchell, who can do so much to end the strike; Senator Quay, who said a month ago that the strike would be ended in two weeks; Senator Penrose, who, with Mr. Quay, would like a settlement for political reasons; Mr. Hammerling and a fifth man whose identity was not learned.

President Mitchell's conference with Senators Quay and Penrose lasted for an hour and three-quarters. At its conclusion Mr. Mitchell returned to the Ashland house. He declined to say a word as to his talk with the senators, and the senators left word with the clerk at the Fifth Avenue hotel that they would not see any one, instructing the clerk to refuse the cards of any persons who might wish to interview them.

Mitchell Healthy But Tired.

Mr. Mitchell had the appearance of having been under severe mental and physical strain, but assured questioners that he was in good health, though tired.

"Information has been conveyed to me by 'phone," said he, "that a total of 200 local unions have reported unanimous votes against resuming work. The men are not deterred from going to work through any fear of bodily harm, but are resolved to remain out until the differences between them and the operators are arbitrated, or until they are ordered to return by their leaders.

"This leaves not more than 40 or 50 local unions to hear from yet. The unanimous action includes the votes of strikers not members of the union, but who were present at the meetings and voted with the union men."

Miners Vote to Continue Strike.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 8.—Unless President Mitchell's hurried visit to New York bears fruit, the end of the mine workers' strike seems a long way off.

Every local union of the miners' organization through the length and breadth of the hard coal belt, held special meetings, either last night or today, and resolved to remain on strike until the mine owners grant concession.

While the reports of these meetings came pouring to Wilkesbarre by tele-

TRAIN CRASHED INTO AN AUTO

Harry Tod Is Instantly Killed in Wreck at Youngstown.

TWO SLIGHTLY HURT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Youngstown, O., Oct. 8.—Harry Tod, aged 26, a son of Henry Tod and a grandson of the late David Tod, Ohio's war governor, was instantly killed this afternoon in a collision between his automobile and Erie train No. 7. Two friends, Frank G. Silvers and Harold Stitt, were in the car with him, but escaped without serious injury.

The party was leaving the works of the Republic Rubber Company and approached the railroad crossing. A building obstructed their view of the track and the front wheels of the machine were on the track when they saw the train, 100 feet away. Tod was unable to stop the machine, and attempted to drive it across. Just before the engine hit it Stitt jumped and escaped with only a bruised hip and a scratched face. Silvers and Tod, who were on the front seat, were in the machine when it was hit, and were thrown about 25 feet.

Tod fell on a stone culvert, and the fall crushed his skull. Silvers was uninjured except for the jolt of falling.

Tod was in charge of the furnace of the Briar Hill Iron and Coal Company. His father, Henry Tod, is one of the wealthiest men of the valley, being interested in the different manufacturing concerns here. The body of Tod was picked up and carried home, and a physician called, but it was shown that the young man had died instantly. The machine was a complete wreck.

TWO SUITS AGAINST THE COAL RAILROADS

F. H. Thompson Begins Action in Philadelphia Under the Anti-Trust Law.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 8.—Frank H. Thompson of this city began proceedings today in the United States circuit court to have the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley railroad, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, the Delaware & Hudson railroad and the New York, Ontario & Western railroad companies declared an illegal combination because they are engaged in an unlawful restraint of the anthracite coal supply.

Mr. Thompson also requests that the representatives of the companies "be restrained and prohibited from meeting together for the purpose of fixing the rate of coal or wharf price thereof."

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The hearing which was to have been given today before Attorney General Davies on the application to begin proceedings under the Donnelly anti-trust law against the coal carrying railroad companies, operating in this state, which control the anthracite fields in Pennsylvania, has been adjourned until October 15 at the request of the railroad companies.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company filed an answer in which it denies that it is a party to any illegal combination.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The federal grand jury for October was sworn today. It is more than likely that the charges made by the New York American against the coal trust managers of entering into a criminal conspiracy to monopolize the supply of coal and to fix an arbitrary and exorbitant price, will come up for consideration. The foreman is Charles C. Fuller, an oil dealer.

SCHWAB PREPARING FOR WINTER CRUISE

Charters A. J. Drexel's Steam Yacht for Mediterranean Trip—Changes Plans.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Charles M. Schwab has chartered Anthony J. Drexel's fine steam yacht, the Margarita, and will spend part of the winter cruising in the Mediterranean. Mr. Schwab intended taking a villa somewhere on the Riviera, but decided the other day that he would be more benefited by a cruise.

Col. Millard Hunsiker, representative of the Carnegie Company in London, yesterday signed the charter for Mr. Schwab for the Margarita, which has been laid up for the winter at Cowes. She will immediately be made ready for her cruise. She is expected to go into commission on October 22. Mr. Schwab will join the yacht with Mrs. Schwab at Marsellies. The yacht is chartered until March 1.

Mr. Drexel, who left today on the Oceanic, told me he would be in America only a short time and would sail from New York on November 4. Dr. Ward, Mr. Schwab's brother-in-law, sails for America on the St. Louis next Saturday.

DEVELOPING TENNESSEE.

Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh to Finance Companies.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh has agreed to finance three companies formed in this section recently by Pennsylvania and Ohio capital, and deeds for 25,000 acres of Polk and Monroe county land were filed. This land is immensely rich in coal, iron, slate and timber.

The Tellico Railroad Company has a surveying corps ready to start on a proposed branch into the new operations on the 1st.

Italian Audience to Mascagni.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Signor Pietro Mascagni's reception and treatment at the hands of his countrymen in the Metropolitan opera house tonight was all that he or his managers could have desired. The audience, which crowded every corner of the building, was so overwhelmingly Italian that grand opera may be said to have been given locally.

Two Negroes Lynched.

NEW BERN, TENN., Oct. 8.—Garfield Burley and Curtis Brown, negroes, who murdered a farmer, were lynched tonight by 500 men. Burley confessed and implicated Brown. They were hanged to a telephone pole.

FIRST REGIMENT TRAIN IS STONED

Small Boys Are Responsible for Only Feeling Shown Against Soldiers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The entire national guard of Pennsylvania is camped tonight in the anthracite coal regions, the last regiment from the western part of the state having arrived late this afternoon.

Contrary to expectations the troops were well received and there was no disposition on the part of the strikers to annoy the soldiers.

There was only one instance during the day of any show of feeling, and this was manifest at Bethlehem when some boys stoned the second section of the train bearing the First regiment from Philadelphia.

Universal quiet reigns throughout the entire region. Brig. Gen. Schall, who arrived in Tamaqua this afternoon, telegraphed to Maj. Gen. Miller that there was no disturbance of any kind in the district.

GATES' PROPHECY.

He Says Strike Will Be Settled Long Before His Steamer Reaches This Side of Atlantic.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(Copyright Cable.)—John W. Gates, who with Mrs. Gates sailed for America today on the Oceanic, is confident that the coal strike is near its end.

"Long before the Oceanic reaches New York," said Mr. Gates, "the coal strike will be settled. It has reached its culmination."

"Do you think Mr. Morgan is having much to do with a settlement of the strike?"

"Most certainly," replied Mr. Gates. "I tell you, this affair has grieved Mr. Morgan. He really cares nothing for money except for the power it brings. When he forms a syndicate he gives 90 per cent of it to his friends. He is one of the most kind-hearted of men. I think his efforts will have much to do with a settlement of the difficulty."

KNOX CHOSE TOPIC OF GREAT INTEREST

Attorney General Will Speak in Pittsburgh on Commerce Clause of Constitution.

Philander C. Knox, attorney general of the United States, will make an address in Pittsburgh next Tuesday that is arousing national interest. His subject will be "The Commerce Clause of the Constitution and the Trusts." He comes at the invitation of the chamber of commerce to address that body, but it is a safe conclusion that wherever he speaks the room will be packed.

It had been intended to hold the meeting in the chamber of commerce rooms, but when President A. J. Logan received word last night from Mr. Knox that he would be here and of the subject he had chosen, it was decided that a larger auditorium was necessary.

A committee consisting of W. H. Keech, W. M. Kennedy, D. P. Black and Robert Pitcairn was appointed to arrange the details of the meeting. The assembly room at the Hotel Schenley will probably be chosen, although the matter has not been decided as yet.

The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. In view of the question Mr. Knox will discuss, the demand to get within hearing of the attorney general may result in the securing of Carnegie Music hall for the meeting.

KING AND QUEEN FIGHT.

Servian Courtiers Obliged to Separate Royal Pair After a Quarrel About Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(Special.)—The Sun in a cable from Vienna says: A Belgrade correspondent describes a renewal of the domestic amenities of the Servian royal pair. King Alexander, owing to financial difficulties, recently stopped Queen Draga's pin money, amounting to $40 a month.

The queen revenged herself by creating an indescribable scene before the courtiers, who were finally obliged to protect the king from her violence. Finally the queen boxed her husband's ears, and he, in trying to parry the blow, struck her violently on the arm.

DIXIE DAMES WELL DEFEND REBEL FLAG

EX-CONFEDERATE TALKS FOR THEM

OLD GLORY HONORED, TOO

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newport, Ky., Oct. 8.—Excited Daughters of the Confederacy formed a compact blockade in Carnegie hall today and successfully resisted the efforts of Janitor William Boyd, under orders of Secretary Albert Silva of the Newport library trustees, to tear down a large confederate flag which occupied the most conspicuous place over the center of the stage. Boyd retired in good order to Silva, who consulted the other trustees before taking further steps.

In the meantime the state convention of the U. D. C. proceeded. Carnegie hall was put at the disposal of the Daughters of the Confederacy only after considerable opposition among the trustees.

When Secretary Silva learned that the feature of the decorations was the big confederate flag, he went to Mayor Nelson. After deliberation they sent a request of the Daughters to remove the confederate flag from the place of honor. The Daughters indignantly refused.

Then Silva ordered the janitor to tear it down, but when Boyd attempted to carry out the order the southern women blocked the aisles and nothing short of armed violence could have secured for him a right of way to the flag. The directors were unable to decide on further proceedings to remove the flag and it remained.

American flags had conspicuous positions at either end of the stage. James M. Arnold, who served in the confederate army, who was conspicuous in aiding the ladies in every way possible in the entertainment of the delegates, was especially aroused when he learned of the objection.

"You may say for me there is no sentiment connected with that flag," pointing to the beautiful silk stars and bars. "It is simply a memento of the four years' struggle. There is but one flag. Stars and Stripes, that we all honor and revere. We are all loyal to that flag and no more so than the ladies and gentlemen you see assembled here today.

"President McKinley attended our reunion and wore our badge at Augusta, Ga. The constitution of the Daughters of the Confederacy requires that the national colors always predominate at such assemblies."

The feeling being somewhat abated the convention assembled at 9:30. The hall, which seats 250, was more than two-thirds filled by delegates from various parts of the state and members of the local chapter. Not the slightest allusion was made during the morning's proceedings to the unpleasant incident which occurred before the opening.

When Janitor Boyd appeared the second time to carry out instructions for the removal of the flag he was surrounded by members of the local chapter and there was an exciting exchange of words between them. Rather than create further confusion the janitor withdrew.

The visiting delegates include many of the most distinguished ladies of Kentucky. Mrs. James M. Arnold, state president, delivered an interesting address on the work of the organization during the year, which was the raising of funds for the completion of a home for disabled confederate soldiers and for the care of widows and orphans.

WADSWORTH OF EIGHTEENTH KILLS ALLEGED DYNAMITER

Guarding Home of Non-Union Man at Shenandoah and Fires on Prowler Who Ignores Signal to Halt.

PITTSBURGH SOLDIERS REACH STRIKE REGION

By ROBERT WRAY, Staff Correspondent.

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 9.—Private Wadsworth of Company A, Eighteenth infantry, who was placed on provost duty last night and assigned as a sentinel at No. 1118 Coal street, which was dynamited Monday night at 11:30 o'clock, shot and killed one of the alleged dynamiters at midnight.

Wadsworth challenged the fellow twice, and he tried to escape in the darkness. The sentinel then fired, the ball penetrating the man's chest.

He was found in the road, dead, a short distance from the house he is alleged to have attempted to blow up. His body was taken into the house, where it now lies.

Private Wadsworth simply obeyed orders. His first shot was fatal.

This was the third attempt to destroy the house and family by dynamite.

The outpost consists of seven men, and the sentries near the house were Privates Wadsworth, Company A; McCurry, Company B, and Corp. McWhinney, Company A.

A report of the affair is now being made to Col. Rutledge by Maj. R. W. A. Simmons, provost marshal.

By ROBERT WRAY,
Staff Correspondent.

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 8.—Shortly after the Eighteenth infantry left Pittsburgh a telegram was handed to Col. Rutledge, stating that his regiment would encamp in Shenandoah. The telegram was from Acting Brigade Commander Col. Willis J. Hulings, and was the first official notice Col. Rutledge had of the final destination of his command.

When the regiment arrived here Col. Rutledge did not know that his command was to succeed the Twelfth regiment, which had been ordered to Wilkesbarre.

The movement of the Eighteenth infantry to this place was devoid of incident until Sunbury was reached. The command left Pittsburgh in two special trains. The first consisted of 11 coaches, carrying the First and Second battalions and headquarters. The second section consisted of six coaches and four freight cars, and was in charge of Lieut.-Col. Kay. When the first section arrived at Sunbury it was held an hour for the second section, when it was made into one train of 21 cars. Two large engines were then attached to it.

Guards on Both Engines.

After the troop train pulled out of Sunbury guards consisting of six men and a sergeant were placed on each engine. Twenty rounds of ball cartridges were distributed to the non-commissioned officers of the regiment and a slow run made to Shamokin.

Crowds of miners, their wives and children were gathered at every mining town until Shenandoah was reached, where an immense crowd was awaiting the arrival of the regiment. The looks of the people were sullen and defiant, but there was no disturbance at any point.

When the train pulled into the station here Company B, in command of Capt. Huff, was thrown out as an advance guard with Company I, Capt. Harry I. McLain, and Company K, Capt. John B. Guthrie, as flankers. Company A, in command of Lieut. J. L. Patterson, acted as rear guards. In this order the regiment moved through the city to its camp on the mountain overlooking the Indian Ridge colliery, a mile away.

Shortly after reaching its camp two prisoners were turned over to the guard of the regiment by Col. Clemmes of the Twelfth infantry. They were receipted for by Adjt. James H. Bigger, and instructions given that the prisoners were to be held until released by higher military authority.

Held by Armed Guard.

Three sentinels with loaded rifles were placed in charge of them and were instructed to allow no person to approach or speak to the prisoners. The two foreigners are charged with having dynamited several houses within the past week and were arrested this morning shortly before the arrival of the Eighteenth.

Late this afternoon Maj. R. W. A. Simmons was appointed permanent provost marshal. The provost guard consists of two officers and 50 enlisted men. The officers are First Lieutenant E. L. Kearns and Second Lieutenant H. L. Cochran of Company B. The time of duty will be 24 hours and the headquarters of the guard will be at the Philadelphia & Reading railroad station.

Passes will be given and will only be good until 9 p. m., and they must be signed by the provost marshal. All officers found in Shenandoah after this hour will have their names taken and report of them will be made to Col. Rutledge. All persons insulting soldiers will be arrested, and an assault made on the troops by stone throwers will be responded to by a volley of bullets. When it becomes necessary to fire the men are instructed to shoot to kill.

State Rations Not In.

Orders were issued tonight that rations will be issued for 10 days. The first issue was to have been made tonight, but it failed to materialize. The Eighteenth infantry carried two days' rations. It is expected that the first state issue of rations will be made tomorrow.

The headquarters of the brigade has been located at Ashland, in the Union hotel. Ashland is about eight miles from Shenandoah, and telephone and telegraphic communication has been established with all the commands of the brigade. Battery B and the Fifth infantry are encamped at Ashland, the Sixteenth is at Mt. Carmel, and Tenth at Mahanoy City. The consolidated report of the Eighteenth infantry tonight shows the total strength present as 40 officers and 502 enlisted men.

The Eighteenth regiment got under canvas tonight. It was late when the camp's lines were laid, but it was magical to see the whole city grow on the site of one that was being torn down and removed. The Eighteenth arrived at the Lehigh Valley station here at 2 p. m. One slight accident occurred. Private Cassidy of Company M, while they were filing out of the cars and preparing to march to camp, fell against a journal box of a passenger coach in a swoon and cut gash in his head. He bled profusely and is a sick man, but will recover in a few days. He was the only man who had to be carried into camp.

Martin McAndrew, striking miner, was mysteriously shot in North Union street at 9 o'clock tonight. Two bullets struck him. He was taken to the State hospital at Ashland. He will probably die. He said he knew who shot him, and although told he would die, refused to tell the names of his assailants.

By WM. L. ROSS,
Staff Correspondent.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Oct. 8.—A welcome, in which the striking coal miners took the most prominent part, greeted the officers and men of the Fourteenth regiment when their special train rolled into the Reading station at 7:15 o'clock this evening. The open-armed reception was as unexpected as pleasing, and tonight men of the regiment are congratulating themselves upon this city being their headquarters. Fruit, bread and other food was freely supplied the soldiers by the miners.

It was a wearisome ride, lasting nearly 20 hours, that brought the regiment from Pittsburgh. Delay after delay was caused by the large number of troop trains moving, the Fourteenth's train being the sixth troop section of the Pittsburgh limited. Nevertheless officers and men enjoyed themselves. The route of the journey was over the Pennsylvania railroad main line to Lewistown Junction, then over the Lewistown and Sunbury division and the Shamokin branch to Shamokin. At the latter place the train was switched to the Reading road.

Great Crowds Watch Trains.

Here first the anthracite region was entered and the interest of the men, few of whom had ever seen this part of the state, was intense. The newspapers had foretold the coming the Second brigade and great crowds greeted the various trains.

At Shamokin, where the Tenth was already doing duty, an incident occurred that characterized the whole status of affairs so far between the miners and the Fourteenth. One of the strikers, an American fully 50 years old and of intelligent appearance, came to the headquarters car and speaking to several of the officers on the rear platform said:

"We miners are glad to have you come. We know we will get fair treatment from you, and that is more than the deputies give. It will soon be seen that the miners will not be frightened by the state militia."

In front of the Fourteenth was the Tenth, and behind it was Battery B.

The Tenth reached Shamokin about 1:30 p. m., and was immediately set guarding the mining properties there. Battery B's train was consolidated with the Fourteenth's at Sunbury and the understanding was that the Battery and the Fourteenth would remain together.

Battery B at Ashland.

For this reason both came to Mahanoy City, but immediately afterward orders were received sending the Battery back 12 miles to Ashland, where it will have its headquarters. The boys of the Battery who had seen the warm welcome extended the Fourteenth were much chagrined when ordered to leave Mahanoy City.

It was after nightfall when the Fourteenth reached its operating center, and after a consultation of the regimental officers it was decided to have the men pass another night in the train. Tomorrow Col. Thompson and his staff will choose the camp site and the work of camp making will start early. By night a complete city of tents will have been constructed and the men will be in the full enjoyment of a military campaign with all the detail of such work.

When the company reports were made to Col. Thompson by the captains it was found that the command as mobilized on the train comprises 378 men and 32 officers.

The health of the whole regiment is unexceptionable and the first 24 hours of duty has passed without accident of any kind.

SHAW WILL RETIRE.

Boston Authority Says Gov. Crane of Massachusetts Will Be Secretary of the Treasury.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Advertiser this morning authoritatively announces that Gov. Crane of this state will, at an early date, succeed Secretary Shaw of the treasury department. The change will occur as soon as the reserva question is settled and the money market is restored to tranquility.

The change is but the furtherance of the president's plan made long ago. When Secretary Gage retired Gov. Crane was slated for the place. When the proffer was first made he could not accept because of engrossing questions and labor troubles here which demanded his entire attention. Now, however, he is ready.

Secretary Shaw will change his title, as it is said another cabinet office will be made for him, if possible, although complete retirement is forecasted. President Roosevelt's action was hastened by complaints from high government officials beside the banking houses, to whom Secretary Shaw was anything but a delight.

He left his room door unlocked a few minutes. The hotel's defense is that it is an imperative rule that patrons lock the doors of their rooms when leaving them.

CITIZENS' PARTY ABUSED

Interesting Features in Connection With a Gathering in Speck's Hall, Hazelwood, Last Night.

The Ballot Reform, or "Jim Grimes' Muddy Water" party, as it is popularly known, held the first public meeting in its history at Speck's hall, in Hazelwood, last night. About 150 men, mostly railroaders, were present. Several men, nearly all of them Democrats on state and national issues, made speeches.

Viewed from behind the scenes the meeting was a great farce. The standard-bearer of the Ballot Reform party, as everybody knows, is R. E. Pattison, the Democratic candidate for governor, but that the real object of the party is to elect the machine county ticket was made plainly apparent at the meeting last night. There are several amusing features: For instance, while one well-known member of a labor organization was on the stage advising his hearers to vote for the machine county ticket and against the Citizens party ticket, another member of the same organization was down in the audience distributing copies of the Journal of the Knights of Labor. Nearly the whole first page of the paper was devoted to a bitter attack on Pattison, signed by John W. Hayes. In this article reasons are shown why organized labor should not vote for Pattison for governor.

Hammered at the Citizens Party.

Only one of the several speakers advised his hearers to vote for Pattison; all the others attacked the Citizens county ticket, its candidates and the leaders of the party; all but two of the speakers said they were Democrats, and of the other two one said he was "half a socialist" and the other seemed from his theories to be a full-grown socialist.

The meeting was called to order by Frank E. Conway, a railroad man, who was elected permanent chairman. Conway said the meeting had been called that the issues of the campaign might be discussed by workingmen. Workingmen were badly in need of legislation for their own benefit, he said.

W. J. Burke, a railroad conductor, was the first speaker. He said workingmen were in favor of three things, an honest ballot law, the referendum and an employer's liability act. He believed the result of workingmen's support of the ballot reform party would be a workingmen's party, which would procure the recognition workingmen were entitled to. If Pennypacker were elected governor, Senator Quay, he said, would control him. He said that an employers' liability law was once introduced in the legislature, but Senator Quay did not allow it to come out of the pigeonhole. Burke indulged in a spirited eulogium on Pattison, which fell flat. He was the only speaker who did mention the ballot reform candidate for governor.

Shaw Confirms a Story.

William A. Shaw, business agent of the Machinists' International union, who, rumor has it, is one of the political organizers on the pay roll of the Sixth avenue organization, gave his side of the negotiations of the United Labor league with the Democratic and the Citizens party's committees of 10, when the labor league tried to dictate to the fusionists the names of workingmen to be nominated for the legislature. Shaw also unwittingly proved the story that has been told regarding the machine's effort to attribute the activity of the police in arresting people to John B. Larkin's ideas of economy. This is the way Shaw told it.

"When Cooney, the assistant business agent of my organization, was pinched and fined $5 and costs, I went to Magistrate S. F. Kerr and said to him: 'You don't want that money.' 'Oh, no,' I don't want it,' said Kerr, 'but that man Larkin does. You know Larkin has promised to reduce the millages and we have to turn in every cent of fines to help him do it.'"

Shaw showed that the Republican state organization made an honest effort to learn what kind of legislation the organized workingmen desired. He said an agent of Senator M. S. Quay met several labor leaders at the Hotel Duquesne and told them the senator desired to know what kind of laws they wished passed for the benefit of labor. They told the agent that they had no authority to talk without permission of their organizations, and so the negotiations fell through, by no fault of the Republican state chairman.

Churchill's Fearful Experience.

Other speakers were W. H. Baird, a railway conductor; O. A. Ainsworth, a salesman; W. A. Plummer, a locomotive fireman, and George J. Churchill, a traction conductor. Ainsworth called on the audience to vote for the machine county ticket in order to further the cause of ballot reform. Churchill told of his own experience in first trying to get a nomination for the legislature in the Sixth district from the Democrats as a Democrat; then of trying to get it from the Citizens; then of enlisting the services of the United Labor league to get it either from the Citizens of Democrats, and then, when he couldn't land it, of being billed to make speeches at machine meetings and of finally drifting into the hands of Senator Flinn and James F. Grimes.

It was seriously told by Ainsworth that Senator Flinn had nothing to do with the Ballot Reform party; on the contrary that it was W. J. Burke, the rich railway conductor, who got the Ballot Reform party before the people of the state.

BEETHOVEN'S PIANO

Was no piano at all. It was nothing more than a clavichord, a primitive musical instrument, with only one string to a key, built on the Italian harp system. Its chief and notable characteristic was the certainty that it would get out of order at a critical moment. It is said that in the midst of a concert the most perfect instrument of that day would get out of tune and required adjustment. Yet, note the imperishable name of Beethoven, whose works were the admiration of the world, even before it was possible to know their full worth. It is perfectly natural that the name of Chickering is held in equal esteem by the music-loving world. It was Jonas Chickering who invented the overstringing, who first used a metal plate in a piano. The radical improvements introduced by Jonas Chickering, more than three-fourths of a century ago, marked an epoch in pianoforte building, and today every piano worthy of note is built upon the system first introduced in the Chickering Piano. Since that day the Chickering has been the world's standard, and other instruments are good or bad as they compare with W. F. ROOSEVELT UNSCATHED.

Suffers No Ill Effects from His First Day's Outing Since Return to Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—After having been driven in a carriage the full length of the Grand Army parade today, and later on having made a carriage trip to the National zoological park with Mrs. Roosevelt, it was expected by the president's physicians that he would show some effects from the strain and his first day out of doors in two weeks.

It was announced at midnight at the White House that the president was progressing as he has done during the last week, and suffered no ill effects from the day's doings.

COAL TRAIN HELD BACK.

First Disorder at Williamston Since Two Weeks Ago.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—The first outbreak of disorder since the marches and arrest of two weeks ago occurred at Williamstown last night, when an attempt was made to move 32 cars of coal from the siding of the Lykens Valley Coal Company.

The coupling pins were drawn and the engine had to back to the cars again. This occurred five times, and there were some stones thrown at the cars. Finally the trainmen got the cars coupled and started off with the train amid hoots and jeers.

ROOSEVELT STILL WORKS FOR PEACE

NIGHT CONFERENCE ON STRIKE TROUBLE.

Influences at Work on Operators. Gompers Makes Emphatic Declaration for Miners.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 603 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.

Still seeking some means to end the anthracite strike, President Roosevelt had in consultation tonight Secretary Root, Attorney General Knox and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York. At the end of the conference it was announced by Secretary Cortelyou that there was no statement to make tonight. He said that the reply of John Mitchell to the president's appeal had not been received.

It is taken for granted in administration circles, however, that the reports that Mr. Mitchell has refused to call the strike off pending an investigation are true.

It is firmly believed here that various influences are being brought to bear by the administration officials on the operators to make concessions on humane principles and then trust to the future for an adjustment of their differences with the miners.

I am permitted to say on very eminent authority that even if the forces at work looking about to end of the scrimp fail the president will persist. He will not think that every resource has been exhausted till the actual end of the controversy.

Samuel Gompers, president of the National Federation of Labor, made a sensational speech at a mass meeting tonight, in which he said the striking miners would never return to work unless the mine owners consent to arbitration or yield to the just demands of the strikers. On the platform were a dozen miners in their working clothes, with lamps in their caps, who enlivened the meeting with songs of the mining camp.

"I would like to say to the owners of the coal mines in Pennsylvania," shouted Mr. Gompers, excitedly, "that it will not do to try and starve the miners into submission. They will not go back to the mines under a vague promise that something may be done for their relief in the future. The American people will not submit to a starvation process, in view of the miners' repeated efforts to settle the pending difficulty by arbitration."

OBJECTIONS ARE FILED TO THE GRIMES PARTY

"Ballot Reform" Scheme May Be Blocked by Dauphin County Court.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—Fusion between the Democrats and the Grimes-Flinn ballot reform party on the Pattison state ticket may be blocked by the Dauphin county court. Objections were filed today to the papers of the "muddy water" party nominating Pattison and the rest of the Democratic state nominees.

The objections state that the names of these candidates will appear in the Democratic column on the ballot, and that the placing of their names in the Ballot Reform column will cause confusion for the voter in marking his ticket. The objectors are ex-Representative Palmer A. Laubach, one of the leading "insurgents" of the last legislature, and Andrew McAllister of Philadelphia. The case will be heard next Wednesday.

A special train brought to Harrisburg from Scranton today over 500 witnesses to testify in the cases objecting to the nomination papers of George Howell of Scranton as the Democratic candidate for congress in the Lackawanna district. They are all Democrats who are friendly to the candidacy of Congressman Connell, who has been nominated by the Republicans, and one faction of the Democrats. They allege that Howell's papers are invalid for the reason that the convention which nominated him was illegal. Should the court sustain their objections the Democrats will have no candidate against Connell.

X-RAY EXPERT'S BLUNDER CAUSES FATAL OPERATION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, O., Oct. 8.—Ex-Street Commissioner Frank Buettner, a wealthy and prominent contractor, probably will die as the result of a peculiar mistake.

Yesterday he woke up with a sore throat, and missing his false teeth, thought he had swallowed them. He sent for a surgeon at once. The doctor had him taken to a hospital and the X-ray was used. It was thought that the plate of teeth was located in his stomach and a large staff of physicians began to cut him up. While they were at work a sister-in-law of Buettner found the teeth under his bed and rushed to the hospital, but when she got there the doctors were just sewing up the incisions.

The announcement of the woman so alarmed the surgeons that they dropped their tools in amazement. They said they had taken the X-ray expert's word that the teeth had been located. Buettner was suffering from laryngitis and will probably die.

KRONPRINZ WILHELM SINKS BRITISH BOAT

Steamers Collide in a Heavy Fog and Two Lives Are Lost.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, which sailed from Southampton today for New York, ran into and sank the British steamer Robert Ingham during a dense fog, off Beachy Head. The Robert Ingham went down about four minutes after the collision, but the Kronprinz Wilhelm saved all the former's crew of 13 men, with the exception of William Miller, the mate, and a man named Scott, the only passenger she had on board.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm suffered no damage whatever and proceeded on her voyage after landing the shipwrecked men at Southampton. The Robert Ingham was bound for the Tyne.

The victims were both asleep below when the crash came. Scott was killed in his berth. Miller rushed on deck and was immediately washed overboard, his lifeless body being picked up by the Kronprinz Wilhelm's boats which hurried to the rescue of the survivors of the lost steamer. The crew of the Robert Ingham lost all their belongings, but upon their arrival at Southampton they were provided with clothes by the Mariners' society.

Capt. Elliott of the Robert Ingham says in an interview that at the time of the collision his vessel was going at the rate of about three knots an hour through a bank of fog. Suddenly he heard a foghorn. The next moment the liner crashed into the Robert Ingham's starboard quarter, which was almost cut clean away. The captain says that if the sea had not been calm the entire crew of his vessel would probably have perished.

MANUFACTURERS WILL TRY AGAIN TUESDAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 8.—The visit to this city of the committees representing the National Association of Manufacturers to confer with the presidents of the anthracite coal-carrying railroads, who last week met President Roosevelt and the officials of the Miners' union at Washington, appears to have been fruitless.

The committee arrived here early this morning and spent the greater part of the day at the Manufacturers' club, awaiting the appearance of the presidents, but none of the operators answered—in person, at least—the request of the committee for a conference. Tonight the committee issued the following vague statement:

The committee of the National Association of Manufacturers came to Philadelphia, after meeting John Mitchell and his associates at Buffalo on Tuesday, for the purpose of considering measures by which the coal strike could be ended and this committee will meet again October 14.

D. M. PARRY, Pres. Nat. Ass'n. of Mfrs.
GEORGE E. BARBOUR, Detroit.
RICHARD YOUNG, New York.
FRANK LEAKE, Philadelphia.

After the members of the committee had breakfasted they dispatched a messenger to the office of President Baer of the Reading Company, announcing that they were ready to meet the presidents. The nature of Mr. Baer's reply is not known, but in answer to a question, the railroad president said:

"I know nothing about a committee."

He declined to make any further statement.

President Parry said invitations to meet the committee had been sent to all of the presidents who had met President Roosevelt last week, and that favorable replies had been received from three of them. He would not, however, divulge their names.

During the afternoon President Parry, in an interview, said: "The strike has reached what we now believe is the crisis. We were in hopes of meeting the operators today, but owing to the short notice they received they were unable to be present."

The members of the committee, with the exception of Mr. Leake, at 6 o'clock departed for New York, where, it is said, their mission will be to induce the operators to listen to their plan of relieving conditions.

Visit of Generals to Kaiser Has Been Abandoned.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—The semi-official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung announces that the idea of Emperor William receiving the Boer generals has been abandoned.

Although the emperor had intimated his willingness to receive them in audience on condition that they would refrain from doing or saying anything anti-British and they be presented through the British ambassador to which the generals agreed, they subsequently seemed to have changed their opinions and appeared to expect an invitation from the emperor.

HEIR TO MILLIONS COMMITS SUICIDE

First Shoots His Young Wife, But She Is Not Dangerously Hurt.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PASADENA, CAL., Oct. 8.—James P. Treadwell, superintendent of the famous Treadwell mines, and heir to millions, killed himself this morning in Rubio Canyon, near Pasadena. After shooting his bride in the forehead, causing only a superficial wound, he pointed the revolver upon himself, firing a bullet through his brain and another in his left side. Death was instantaneous.

Treadwell is a member of a San Francisco family noted through the ownership of rich mines in Alaska and California. He married Abigail May Driver of Petaluma about a year ago, and with his girl wife and infant came to Pasadena two weeks ago. He had been traveling since his wedding, and came to this section from Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania cities.

No reason is known for his self-destruction and attempted murder. The wounded wife's statement is not given out. She is now writing it for publication in a day or two.

They were visiting in the Canyon, and at 11 o'clock he placed a revolver at her forehead and pulled the trigger. The bullet glanced on her skull and passed over her head under the scalp, coming out at the back. He evidently thought he had killed her.

Treadwell is about 30 years old, and his wife considerably younger. He had intended residing in Pasadena.

ONLY WASHERY COAL IS BEING SHIPPED

Run of Freshly Mined Anthracite Through Reading Has Practically Stopped.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

READING, PA., Oct. 8.—About 100 cars of coal have passed through Reading down the road to Philadelphia on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad since yesterday. Nearly all of it was coal from the washeries. For some reason fresh mined anthracite shipments have practically ceased. In the west end of Schuylkill county, where there are no troops, coal is being mined at Brookside, Good Spring and Lincoln collieries, say officials.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Statements made today by the heads of the various city bureaus indicate that there is no immediate danger of public inconvenience from the coal shortage. The superintendent of public school supplies said that he had on hand enough coal to run the schools for two months. The fire department has coal enough to last until January 1, while the water department has still on hand and in sight a sufficient quantity to obviate any danger.

PORT LAMBOY, N. J., Oct. 8.—Anthracite coal was shipped today over the Lehigh Valley railroad docks here, about 3,500 tons being handled. It is expected that shipments will continue. The docks have been idle for months. They handle no soft coal.

DIDN'T NEED REPAIRS.

Bicycle Dealer Killed While Examining an Italian's Revolver.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—While examining a revolver to determine what repairs were needed George Jacino of No. 297 East One Hundred and Eleventh street was accidentally shot in the abdomen this evening and died soon after in the Harlem hospital.

Jacino had a bicycle repair shop at the address mentioned and an Italian took the pistol there. Jacino did not know it was loaded and had the muzzle pointing toward himself. The police are now seeking the Italian who took the revolver to the shop.

Allentown was selected as the convention city for 1903.

Pennsy Eleven Scored On.

GREETED ALLEN AT STATION WITH HIS FUNERAL CORTEGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Toledo, O., Oct. 8.—George Allen, returning yesterday to his home in West Unity, O., after an absence of 12 years, was greeted at the station by a funeral cortege, hearse and pallbearers prepared for the reception of his corpse. The accident came about through a mistake in a Chicago hospital, where two George Allens were confined. One died, and the names being mixed the West Unity people were wired that their relative was dead.

A brother at once went to Chicago and discovered that the dead man was not his brother. The brother was found convalescent in another ward, and the two started for home. The brother simply wired: "Coming with George," and this did not undeceive the West Unity folks who prepared to receive the corpse with all proper ceremony. The funeral was indefinitely postponed and a family reunion instituted.

MACHINE IS UP AGAINST ITSELF

Accidentally Uncovers an Outrageous Jury System of Its Heelers.

TRAIL OF REPEATERS SEEN

Police for Once Learn Something and Boomerang Lands With Unpleasant Force—How John Jones Often Has Many Names.

The kind of jury system the machine has built up during the many years of its power has been shown up in the last few days through the efforts of the machine itself. It is charged that there have been repeaters on the jury for several years, and that many of the ward leaders must have been concerned in the shameful state of affairs.

The law is that one man cannot serve upon more than one jury during a term, yet it has been shown that men have served several times during one term, and under different names, too. The judges of the courts have often complained of the character of the juries they had to deal with, yet, despite frequent cleanings out of the jury wheel, the same kind of juries have bobbed up again and again.

This is how the disclosure came about: The machine city committee in looking over the names of juries drawn for several years past remarked the great frequency with which certain men served. It was thought that it might be advisable to secure these men for the service of the machine during the present campaign and so the policemen on whose beats the names of the jurymen appeared were ordered to look them up and tell them to come to the machine headquarters in Sixth avenue.

Police on Wild Goose Chases.

The policemen are tired of the job. In numerous cases they have found that nobody of the name given in the jury lists lives at the adresses stated, and it finally dawned on the machine men at headquarters that the names were fraudulent. Judicious questioning and quiet detective work revealed strange facts.

How the game was worked can be understood after the system of filling the jury wheel has been explained: The judges of the different courts of common pleas alternate with each other in selecting one-third of the names that go into the wheel every year. Each of the two jury commissioners has the right to select one-third. The court does not always avail itself of its rights, and when it does it may accept suggestions of the names of respectable citizens for jury duty. The jury commissioners often accept names from their friends and thereby ward leaders come to suggest names.

Everybody knows that there are professional jurymen—men who have no settled occupation and to whom the $25 paid for two weeks of jury service is acceptable.

John Jones Has Several Aliases.

So far as the investigation has gone, it shows that John Jones, for instance, after securing the connivance of friends, handed in the name of John Smith, and perhaps of James Robinson, and maybe himself, giving an address for each name. When the jury was drawn and any of the three names was drawn, John Jones read of it in the newspapers and thereupon hied himself to the house of the friend whose address he had given in with the name and secured the summons to jury duty left there by the officer of the court or sent by mail. Then he served on the jury, either as John Jones or John Smith or James Robinson, as the case might be, trusting to luck not to be detected.

That is the story that is going the rounds. It might be hard to prove the offense in any case, but the policeman on the beats are convinced that repeating is an offense not limited to the ballot box.

To Care for John Brown House.

Walters and Secretary Miss Frances Henry were selected to represent the society at the meeting of the American Humane society in Albany, N. Y., October 15-17. DAMS THROWN OPEN TO FLOAT OUT COAL.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—Temporary relief from the pressure of the coal scarcity in Cincinnati is in sight in a novel way. Eight towboats at Point Pleasant, at the mouth of the Kanawha river, are ready to start between midnight and daylight tonight with 1,000,000 bushels of coal. The rise in the Ohio is to be augmented by throwing down all the dams in the Kanawha.

This, it is understood, will produce a sufficient depth of water to bring the barges to this city, where they ought to arrive by Saturday.

THIRTY CORPSES IN COLD STORAGE

GHASTLY DISCOVERY IN ICE CREAM FACTORY.

The Bodies Found in Louisville, But Supposed To Come From Indianapolis.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 8.—Police of Louisville found 30 bodies in cold storage in a warehouse directly across an alley from Wathen's ice cream factory in Eighth street. The corpses were being kept cold by pipes run underground in the ice cream factory.

The discovery was made on a telegram from the chief of police of Indianapolis, saying that in a letter from Mrs. Mary Jane Smith of Louisville she had told him that all the bodies recently stolen from Indianapolis cemeteries could be found in the warehouse. Among the bodies stolen from Indianapolis was that of a relative of late President Harrison.

The Louisville police went to work, and after considerable difficulty found their way into the warehouse where the bodies were found. Thirty were counted. They were nude and were the corpses of men and women, a majority of them in a fair state of preservation.

The chief of police of Indianapolis was quickly notified of the discovery and he wired the authorities here that he would come to Louisville tomorrow morning, accompanied by relatives of the dead persons and photographs, and would make an effort to identify the bodies. Mrs. Smith says she knows the corpses were brought from Indianapolis.

Members of the faculties of medical colleges here deny any knowledge of the presence of the dead bodies and say there is no occasion for them to steal bodies, as the state turns over to them all bodies of persons who die in public institutions of the commonwealth.

The owners and attaches of the ice cream factory refuse to talk, except to say that the bodies were not stolen and that their presence in the ice house will be accounted for in a perfectly legal way.

READING'S PROFITS ARE ON INCREASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—The board of directors of the Reading Company met today and approved the report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, which will be submitted to the stockholders next Monday. The report, which embraces the operations of the Reading Company, the Philadelphia & Reading railway and the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, gives the joint operations of the three companies as compared with the previous fiscal year as follows:

Total gross receipts, $61,547,193; for 1901, $62,143,471; total gross expenses, $45,135,849; for last year, $46,621,008; total gross fixed charges and taxes, $13,832,817; 1901, $12,859,876.

Net earnings of the three companies before payment of Reading Company's dividends and general mortgage sinking fund, $2,378,826; for 1901, $2,662,087.

The surplus of the three companies amounted to $1,374,800, which, with the accumulated surplus, makes the total $4,680,614. The gross receipts of the railway company increased $1,171,364 over the previous year, notwithstanding the loss of anthracite tonnage in May and June, and the surplus for the year increased $659,791, but the payments on account of fixed charges and taxes, insurance fund, equipment renewals and improvements were $262,001 less than the previous year.

The tonnage of anthracite decreased from 10,523,891 tons in 1900-1901 to 9,465,553 tons this year, a loss of 1,057,938 tons, or 10.05 per cent, and the tonnage of bituminous coal increased from 5,018,491 tons to 6,087,088 tons, a gain of 1,068,597 tons, or 21.29 per cent. The revenue from coal traffic increased from $12,391,307 to $12,486,159, a gain of $44,851, or 36 per cent.

The total production of anthracite coal from lands owned and leased by the coal and iron company was 8,198,274 tons, a decrease of 1,055,699 from last year's production. The reduced production was the result principally of the miners' strike inaugurated May 12, from which date to the end of the fiscal year the collieries were idle.

The coal purchased aggregated 1,034,290 tons, an increase of 66,855 tons, and the sales amounted to 8,289,828, a decrease of 810,688 tons. The cost of coal mined and purchased was $2 02 8-10, which is 20 5-10 cents higher than the cost for the previous year, due to increased cost of labor, additional expenses resulting from freshets, the strike and colliery improvements.

Announcement is made that the management has decided in view of the steady increase in the consumption of anthracite coal to expend $3,500,000 in the sinking of seven new shafts and the construction of new breakers, machinery, etc.

graph, train and messenger, President Mitchell dictated an answer to the proposition by the president of the United States, that the strikers return to work and trust to have their condition improved through an investigating commission. What is the answer of the miners' chief, he refuses to divulge, but it is difficult to conceive, with the replies of the local unions piled around him, how he could do otherwise than respectfully decline the president's request.

Mr. Mitchell sent his letter to Washington before he had heard from all the locals, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon he packed his grip and, accompanied by the three district presidents, left for New York. His mission there also is a secret, and his sudden departure caused much speculation.

What the Resolutions Affirm.

It was a busy day for the miners, especially the officials about headquarters. From early this morning until late tonight, the returns came in constantly. This evening the corps of newspaper correspondents stationed here were invited to examine the reports, and not one was found that was not couched in firm language.

The resolutions affirm the confidence of the men in the integrity and judgment of their president, praise President Roosevelt for his efforts to end the strike, denounce the presidents of the coal carrying railroads for their alleged abuse of the chief executive at the conference in Washington, denounce the employment of coal and iron police, offer to assist the authorities in maintaining peace, thank all organizations and citizens throughout the country for the financial assistance given, regret the presence of troops, denounce Gov. Stone for sending them here, and some of the resolutions say the men will remain away from the mines all winter, or "until the bluebirds call again."

Excepting those from the Hazleton district, which were almost identical in phraseology, the resolutions were different from one another. Nearly every one, however, contained a sentence to the effect that the men are not afraid to return to work because of the alleged lack of protection, but will remain out "though all the troops in the United States were sent here," and until they are granted some concessions.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—A rumor was current here tonight that George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia & Reading railway had submitted his resignation to the board of directors. Inquiry at Mr. Baer's house here elicited the statement that he had retired for the night, leaving strict injunctions that he was not to be disturbed. New members of the board of directors emphatically denied the report.

METHODISTS IN THE WEST END

Pittsburgh Conference Began 79th Annual Session in This City Yesterday.

YOUNG MEN EXAMINED

Addresses of Welcome Made Last Night—Bishop Fitzgerald Spoke of the Power of the Ballot—Today's Program.

The Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opened its seventy-ninth annual session yesterday in the West End Methodist Episcopal church, of which the Rev. Dr. George W. Terbush is pastor. Little was done at the first session for the reason that only about half the ministers from the five districts embraced in the Pittsburgh conference were present.

A meeting of the conference board of examiners was held in the afternoon at which candidates for the ministry were listened to. The following young men were up for examination: Walter L. Cadman, Owen C. Hotle, Howard Lloyd, Davis D. Heelie, Walter R. Hunter, George E. Brennemen, James V. Wright, A. S. Blackmore, Henry L. Smith, John W. Hoffman, Mellyar H. Litchliter, Titus Lowe, Harmon S. Piper, Grant S. Pollack, Frank L. Teets, Thomas Charlesworth, Charles R. Ross, R. B. Cuthbert, George Grant, Henry P. Johnson and A. C. Elliott. The report of the examiners will be read at the executive session on Saturday.

The board has made recent examinations more severe than in the past, as it is the desire to discourage young men from entering into pastoral work before they have completed their studies.

Addresses of Welcome.

The conference was informally opened last night by the Rev. Dr. B. F. Beazell of the Blairsville conference, who offered up a prayer. Addresses of welcome were made by the Revs. E. R. Donehoo, W. R. Thompson, R. B. Davidson, T. J. Gaehr and by John Weaver. Responses were delivered by the Rev. Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald of St. Louis, the Revs. H. L. Chapman and J. W. Miles. Capt. John A. Wood presided at the meeting.

The Rev. Dr. Donehoo in his address spoke of the different ministers who have filled the pulpit of the West End church in the past 30 years, and of the powerful influence for good that they exerted in that section of the city. The Rev. Dr. Gaehr said it was his hope that some resolutions would be passed by this conference striking at the progress of the saloon and at the growing desecration of the Sabbath.

Bishop Fitzgerald, in his remarks, said that during the years he had been in the ministry he had seen Methodist conferences pass more resolutions than the governing bodies of any other denominations, but that the passing of resolutions was useless. "Saloonkeepers and breakers of the Sabbath," said Bishop Fitzgerald, "only laugh at resolutions, but let Christian ministers and laymen use the ballot as they should and a mighty change can be wrought."

Today's Conference Program.

There was special music by an augmented choir last night, as there will be all week. The first business session of the conference will be this morning at 9 o'clock. Following the communion a memorial service is to be held. The list of those who have died since the last conference includes the Revs. R. T. Miller, A. L. Kendall, W. C. Davis and E. R. Jones of the Blairsville district, and M. M. Sweeney, J. R. Stiffey and William Lynch of the Allegheny district.

At 2 o'clock today the annual missionary sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. D. L. Johnson and at 4 o'clock the Rev. Dr. T. J. Leak will conduct the pentecostal service. At this evening's session the Rev. Dr. W. P. Thirkield, secretary of the Anniversary Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education society will deliver an address on the work being done in the south.

The cabinet of the presiding elders is to be changed by the expiration of the terms of the Rev. Drs. E. J. Knox, W. P. Turner and J. A. Ballantyne. There is considerable speculation as to who will be appointed their successors by Bishop Fitzgerald.

The members of the West End church are entertaining the 266 ministers who are attending the conference.

BURNING CAR CAUSED PANIC ON THE TRAIN

Mansfield, O., Fire Department Was Called to Extinguish Blaze in a Ft. Wayne Car.

The fire department of Mansfield, O., yesterday afternoon saved train No. 32 on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railway from destruction. The train was crowded with passengers and was running east from Crestline bound for Pittsburgh. When approaching the station in Mansfield the roof of the smoking car was suddenly wrapped in flames and a panic ensued among the passengers in their efforts to escape from the burning coach.

An alarm was turned into the local fire department and the train was started down the track to prevent the station from catching fire. The firemen pursued the burning train and at the limits of the town turned a stream of water on the blaze in time to save the other cars. The roof of the car was almost totally destroyed. The fire was caused by an overheated stove. The passengers escaped without serious injury.

PAVED WAY FOR BIG EXTENSIONS

JONES & LAUGHLINS ANTICIPATING THINGS.

Stockholders Authorize Directors to Issue $10,000,000 in Bonds When Needed.

Stockholders of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company at a special meeting yesterday voted power to the directors of the company to issue $10,000,000 in bonds at such time as the proceeds may be required for enlargements of the company's operations. B. F. Jones, Jr., president of the company, says that there is no immediate intention to issue the bonds.

The plan to invest the authority in the directorate was a part of the program in connection with the reorganization of Jones & Laughlins, Limited, into the new company. At that time a sufficient amount of the stock of the company was not represented, and the 60-day notice required by the corporation law of Pennsylvania was given for the meeting yesterday.

Expenditure Anticipated.

The company has a fixed policy of anticipating heavy expenditures to enlarge its facilities. In vesting in its directorate the power to float a bond issue it contemplates extensive betterments, to be undertaken at some time in the future. While the company exists today as always in the past as a close corporation, the shareholders are much scattered, and when the time comes for some heavy improvement expenditures to be made no time will need to be lost in gathering the necessary representation of shares.

For some time the company has had under advisement the erection of two great new blast furnaces and has had plans drawn for them, but no decision to go ahead with this improvement and others contemplated has been reached.

More Furnaces Needed.

The finishing mill capacity of the company is now above its 2,400 tons daily production of pig iron, and recently it was necessary to go into the market for a supply of iron. Some of the foreign iron offered in this market was bought, but has not yet been used.

With proposed expansion of the finishing mill capacity of the company additional furnace output will be necessary to continue the company's working plan of keeping very nearly balanced its production in raw and finished lines.

President B. F. Jones, Jr., and other general officials of the company have recently returned from the ore fields owned in the northwest. Mines are being opened in Minnesota and the ore ownership of the company insures a supply for several decades to come.

OLD EMPLOYE KILLED.

Thomas Stewart, Veteran Flagman on Valley Road, Jumped from Engine in Front of Train.

Thomas Stewart, who for the past 21 years had been employed on the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was struck and instantly killed yesterday morning near Hilton station by a passenger train. Stewart, who was over 60 years old, was acting as flagman for a work train. After climbing into the engine cab of the work train to give the engineer his instructions about a train which was due to pass that point he jumped from the cab in front of the passenger train, which was running at high speed and was killed.

Stewart was a widower and lived with his sister, Mrs. Champion, at Watersonville. He has two daughters living at Bradford, Pa., and one son, a conductor on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

A man about 50 years old, supposed to be Frank Zugel of Braddock, was killed at Bessemer station on the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Letters were found on his person addressed to Frank Zugel of Braddock. He is of medium height and weighs about 140 pounds. He was crossing the tracks at Bessemer when the accident took place.

Quarantined the Doctor.

G. L. Speer, 23 years old, was removed from his boarding house, No. 1011 Wylie avenue, yesterday to the municipal hospital, suffering from smallpox. When the authorities went to quarantine the house they found all the boarders had departed. The only person left was a doctor who said he would have to take a vacation for a few weeks. Lena Hetzel, 25 years old, of No. 1650 Ann street, and Nellie Taylor, 33 years old, colored, were also removed to the hospital suffering from smallpox.

BRYAN ON STUMP.

Will Visit Nearly Every County in Nebraska to Aid Fusion Ticket.

FALLS CITY, NEB., Oct. 8.—William J. Bryan today began a campaign on behalf of the fusion ticket of Nebraska, which will continue with little interruption until November. It is Mr. Bryan's plan to visit nearly every county in the state.

He made three speeches today, at Pawnee City, Table Rock and Falls City, speaking to large crowds at each place. Trusts and imperialism were dwelt upon in his hour's speech at this place.

Monument to Confederates.

DANVILLE, KY., Oct. 8.—The state monument to the memory of the confederate soldiers, who fell during the battle of Perryville, and who are buried there, was unveiled at Perryville today, in the presence of a gathering estimated at nearly 10,000 people.

Here's a Hot One.

A gentleman came into our store to buy one hundred dollars' worth of chairs. Mr. Pickering asked him what price chairs he desired.

Said he: "Give me twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs, and the balance in three-dollar chairs."

Pickering's salesmen figured that the order could be filled in six different ways.

The gentleman was not satisfied. He wanted another way.

Now, Mr. Pickering wants a seventh way. The first person sending in seven different ways of solutions will receive a handsome parlor rocker. The next one will receive a parlor rocker.

It doesn't matter how many three-dollar chairs are in the order as long as he has twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs. But he must have some of each kind. Send your name, address and solution to Pickering's Adv. Dept., Tenth and Penn, Pittsburgh.

BURGLARS WORK IN ALLEGHENY

Safe Blowers Violate Their Agreement With Protecting Powers.

P. & W. STATION ROBBED

Following Bellevue Burglary and Murder and Robbery of Albert Mayer, It Indicates Bad Faith of the Gang.

The Allegheny police received a dose of their own medicine yesterday morning, when a gang of protected safe-blowers of that city blew open the safe of the Pittsburgh & Western railroad and robbed it of $800. Burglars and "potermen," who have been making Allegheny their home on the condition they would carry on their depredations elsewhere seem to have broken faith with the police department. Last week they carried on their operations in Bellevue and on Sunday they murdered and robbed Albert Mayer in East Robinson street. In spite of their apparent unfaithfulness the police officials are still making Allegheny a retreat for thieves of all kinds. The Allegheny police and detectives are angry over this bad faith and are working like Trojans to capture the safe blowers.

The burglary was committed early yesterday morning. The marks on the safe and in the manner in which the door was blown open, manifest beyond any doubt the robbers were most proficient in their profession. They gained an entrance by forcing the back door. The door was opened by a "jimmy." Once in the waiting room they soon opened the door leading into the ticket office.

Safe Was Blown.

The knob of the safe door was twisted off with a ratchet and glycerin was poured into the crevices of the lock. A fuse was attached and the door was soon blown open. The interior of the safe was wrecked. The burglars took what money they could find, which was about $800. The tickets and receipts were scattered about the floor. In addition to this about $2 in pennies was scattered about the ticket office.

Watchman George Neal heard the noise of the explosion, while he was in the freight station. We went to the passenger station about 10 minutes later and when he entered the ticket office, found everything in a state of disorder. The watchman hurried into the street, where he met Officer William Henry. He told the officer of the robbery and Supt. of Police Henry Muth was notified. He immediately detailed Detectives Morris Einstein and T. J. O'Brien to make an investigation of the case. They did so, but were unable to find anything that would lead to the identification of the robbers.

Confidence Was Betrayed.

Maddened by the fact that their confidence had been betrayed the detectives and police determined to arrest some one for the robbery. The unfortunate men who fell into the clutches of the angry detectives were J. P. Irwin and W. P. Keister, who were intoxicated and said they were from Altoona. They were brought before Supt. Muth and later discharged. Detective O'Brien said, after making the investigation, that the job was one of the best that he had ever seen. He thought there were probably three men in the robbery, but beyond that was unable to tell anything more about it.

When Recorder John R. Murphy was asked, some time ago, by The Gazette, if he intended to reform Allegheny and drive the pickpockets, safe blowers and burglars from its limits, said:

"To hell with reform!"

NEW TRUST COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED

The Potter Title and Trust Company Chartered Yesterday With $200,000 Capital.

The Potter Title and Trust Company is being organized by Pittsburghers with a capital investment of $200,000 and will take over the business of the Potter Abstract Company. President J. E. Porter of the abstract company, who will probably be president of the new company, announced last night that it will make its business specialty title insurance and abstracts.

The new company will complete its organization some time next week and on November 1 will occupy the entire first floor of the Bakewell building, Grant and Diamond streets. The Potter Abstract Company is an old established concern. Its capital investment is $50,000. The members of this concern will probably be in control of the new company, but other business interests will be represented. The directorate has not been fully determined. A Pennsylvania charter for the new company was secured at Harrisburg yesterday.

MANY GONE TO CAMP.

Few Spanish War Veterans at Home to Attend Smoker.

The Lieutenant Friend W. Jenkins camp, No. 16, service men of the Spanish war, held a smoker last night at the hall on West Diamond street, Allegheny. The attendance was small owing to the fact that over 40 of the members of the camp belong to the National Guard of Pennsylvania and went with the state troops to the anthracite coal regions.

F. D. Newman, a past commander of the camp, was presented with a handsome gold watch by the members. Addresses were made by ex-Mayor Charles Geyer and John Downey, chaplain of the camp.

Killed on Way from Wedding.

The body of the unknown man who was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad near Pitcairn station early yesterday morning was identified last night at the morgue as John Rush, 23 years old, a farmer who resided three miles from Pitcairn station. He had attended the wedding of his brother Herman Tuesday night as best man, and left the latter's house at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. While he was walking home he was killed.

Semi-Annual Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the Allegheny Presbyterian Missionary society will be held in the United Presbyterian church of Sewickley today. Mrs. M. Paden of Avalon will make her report as treasurer, delegates to the Women's General Missionary society will be elected, and addresses will be made by Miss N. J. Spencer of India and Mrs. H. G. Campbell, missionary among the Indians.

Four Workmen Injured.

By the premature explosion of a blast in the Mt. Washington Wabash railroad tunnel late Tuesday night, four negroes were injured. Leonard Barksdale, 24 years old, of No. 30 William street, South Side, was so badly crushed about the head and body that it is thought he will die. He is at the South Side hospital. The other men are John Williams, 26 years old; Samuel Jackson, 28 years old, and Henry Camp, 22 years old. The three men live at the Wabash camp and were injured about the head and body by flying rocks.

PROBABLE JURORS GET STRANGE LETTER

Officials at Court House Mystified by Attempt to Gain Information.

Within the past few days men whose names were in the jury wheel for the present year have been visiting the sheriffs' office and other offices at the court house, asking for an explanation of letters they have received. The letters read as follows:

"Dear sir—I am engaged in getting a corrected list of the jurors in the jury wheel for 1902, with their residence, occupation, etc. I find your name and occupation given as follows: ——. As a great many mistakes in spelling names, and in occupation and residence have been made, will you kindly fill up the inclosed postal card with your name, occupation, where employed, street and number, ward and city, and return it to me by first mail.

"Thanking you in advance for your favor, I am, very respectfully yours,

"EDWARD ALLEN.—G."

The postal card inclosed is in the form of a printed blank for the information desired, and upon the side for the address is printed, "P. O. Box 217, Pittsburgh, Pa."

When Judge J. A. Evans, who is filling the wheel for next year, was seen he denied knowing absolutely anything about the letter. The employes of the sheriff's office are at a loss to know its meaning, and the jury commissioners say they possess no knowledge of the purpose for which the communications are being sent out.

Owing to the similarity of names Edwin L. Allen, stenographer in common pleas court No. 2, has been bothered considerably about the letter. He is not the signer.

REUNION OF A FAMOUS REGIMENT NEXT WEEK

Survivors of the 140th Pennsylvania Volunteers to Meet at Washington, Pa.—Distinguished Speakers.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual reunion of the One Hundred and Fortieth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, which is to be held in the Lyric theater in Washington, Pa., next Wednesday. The program is an interesting one and contains the names of many men prominent in public life in Pennsylvania and elsewhere.

The reunion will open at 10:30 o'clock, after the assembly for registration and distribution of badges and meal tickets, the session will adjourn for dinner, at which the Rev. T. A. Hole will deliver the invocation. In the afternoon a prayer will be offered by the Rev. Pressly Thompson. Judge J. A. McIlvaine, presiding judge of the common pleas courts of Washington county, will deliver an address of welcome, and the Rev. George R. Murray of Thomas, Pa., will make the response. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Milligan of Allegheny will call the roll.

After the reports of the various committees are received officers will be elected and the next meeting place selected. Previous to adjournment for supper, at which the Rev. J. C. Burke will make the invocation, former Gov. General James A. Beaver of Bellefonte, Pa., will deliver an address.

The closing session will be in the evening, and the Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, will offer the invocation. The evening will be devoted to a campfire, at which the chief features will be speaking and music. Among those who will make addresses are the Rev. Dr. John A. Paxton of New York, the orator of the day; the Hon. W. S. Shallenberger, assistant postmaster general, Washington, D. C., and Gen. H. H. Bingham of Philadelphia. The Rev. H. W. Temple will pronounce the benediction.

Machine Meeting in Brushton.

A meeting under the auspices of the county machine was held last evening in the Brushton school. Only about 100 persons were present. The meeting was presided over by Select Councilman W. J. Rothweiler. Harry M. Scott, candidate for the legislature from the Eighth district, told of the importance of the coming election and urged voters to not only vote a straight ticket, but to ask their friends to do so. Archibald Mackrell, candidate for sheriff, spoke on state issues. Thomas J. Ford, candidate for the state senate from the Forty-fourth district, said that instead of the offices at the court house being burdened by an excessive number of clerks, they net the county about $50,000, when it was the intention of the makers of the law that the offices be merely self-supporting.

More Troops at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 8.—The first of the additional troops for this valley arrived tonight. They comprised the Second battalion of the Twelfth regiment, which has been stationed in the Panther Creek valley. After their arrival the men were marched to the Ninth regiment armory, where they will remain until tomorrow when Brig.-Gen. Gobin will select a camp for them.

Souvenir Badge for President.

CARBONDALE, ILL., Oct. 8.—A beautiful souvenir badge, elaborately worked in gold, has been forwarded to President Roosevelt from the Southern Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion association, which recently held its 20th annual reunion in this city. The badge was prepared for presentation to him on his expected visit to this city to attend the reunion.

FOR YOUR WIFE'S SAKE

And for Your Own Sake You Should Own an Angelus.

Probably your wife does not have time to play the piano nowadays as she did when she was a girl. No doubt her household and social duties do not permit of the practice necessary to the rendering of perfect music, and although she is very fond of music she is obliged to sacrifice this pleasure for the present. Chances are that she misses the music of her piano more than any other single thing associated with her early life.

This condition of affairs can be overcome very easily. Purchase an Angelus. Not only will it bring back the musical delights of her girlhood, but it will enable YOU to play the same pieces—and any others that may please your fancy. The significance of this is that the Angelus is the one piano player which enables the person operating it to play the piano with all the shading and coloring characteristic of the playing of the most accomplished pianists—and is playing, in fact, as ordinarily requires years of patient practice to attain. The musical compositions of the entire world can be played on your piano if you have an Angelus. These include the great orchestral pieces as well as those originally written for the piano. The Angelus is absolutely the only piano player capable of this, for it is the only one that has an orchestral attachment.

Briefly summed up, the Angelus is the music marvel of the age. It is simplicity itself, and as any person can play the Angelus there is no reason why one of these splendid devices should not be in every household where music is appreciated. We wish you would come in and hear the Angelus, or write for a catalogue descriptive of it.

BOTTLE MAKERS MAKE AGREEMENT

Manufacturers Combine and Will Advance Prices 20 Per Cent.

PRODUCING COSTS MORE

Scarcity of Coal and Failure of Gas Supply in Indiana, Combined With Higher Wages, Is Cause—Miners Get $3,000.

Representatives of 90 per cent of the production of flint glass bottles in the United States at a meeting yesterday at the Hotel Lincoln entered an ironclad price agreement, which is expected to put a quietus to the open condition of the market. It was voted to at once withdraw all quotations and to put into effect new base prices, which will be 20 per cent above those which have been ruling.

The price advances are nearly horizontal in scope. There will be some variation, but the average advance will be 20 per cent.

The project to consolidate the entire flint bottle industry of the country into the big company, with a capitalization of about $30,000,000, has been revived. The meeting yesterday discussed this matter, without taking specific action. The matter is in the hands of some of the leading manufacturers of the trade and is still in the preliminary stage. Several times before a flint bottle consolidation has fallen through when it was near completion.

Cost Has Increased.

It is understood that the new price agreement carries a forfeiture clause, which will insure its observance. In the past these manufacturers have entered into many an agreement, but nearly always something has developed which brought its abrogation and threw the market open and a general price war always followed.

There is excuse for the higher prices provided for in the new agreement, through the high price of coal in the east and the failure of the gas supply for factories in Indiana, which has forced the factories there to take up coal as fuel, thus increasing the cost of production. The new wage agreement with the American Flint Glass Workers' union also helps to swell the production cost.

In securing this agreement the workers undertook a new campaign to organize the few non-union plants, of which there are only two in Western Pennsylvania and a few in the Indiana gas belt. The manufacturers of the association rely on this to further strengthen the market.

While the trade outlook for the manufacturers is promising, the entrance of the Pittsburgh Seamless Bottle Company into machine-made small-necked bottles, under recent patents secured by the Arbogast brothers, presents a trade factor which will have to be met. The new officers of the American Flint Bottle Manufacturers' association are: F. L. Park of Wheeling, president; George Lewis of Alton, Ill., vice president; George W. Yost of Bellaire, O., secretary, and R. E. Breed of Marion, Ind., treasurer.

Miners Given $3,000.

A referendum vote taken by the American Flint Glass Workers was counted yesterday and showed a large majority in favor of the proposition to contribute $3,000 to the anthracite strike fund. Secretary John L. Dobbins accordingly put in the mail a check for the amount, which was sent to Secretary-Treasurer William B. Wilson of the miners at Indianapolis headquarters.

PURSUING OFFICERS MADE TARGET OF HIM

John Boden Wounded and Arrested After Long Chase Under Fire.

After an exciting chase in which many shots were fired, John Boden, who was wanted by the police for highway robbery, was struck by a bullet and arrested last night in the hill district by Officer John Doyle and locked up in the No. 2 police station. Boden was accused of robbing a man in Washington street Sunday.

He was seen by Officer John Reed last night standing at Bedford avenue and Washington street. Boden saw the officer at the same time and started to run. Officer Reed pursued him. The policeman drew his revolver and fired at him. The shots only increased Boden's speed and attracted a large crowd who took up the chase.

Several other officers came to Policeman Reed's assistance and emptied their revolvers at Boden. At Hickory and Poplar alleys the chase was brought to an end. Officer Doyle deliberately took aim at the fleeing man and fired. Boden was seen nto grab his head and plunged forward on the pavement. He pretended he was fatally hurt. On inspection it was discovered that the bullet had grazed his head, inflicting a slight scalp wound. He was locked up as a suspicious person.

M'KEES ROCKS GETS PUBLIC HOSPITAL

Dr. Black Sells His Institution to Medical Association of the Town.

The McKees Rocks hospital was last night purchased by the McKees Rocks Medical association from Dr. S. M. Black, the proprietor. The consideration was withheld from the public. The purchase of the hospital, which was organized three years ago as a private institution by Dr. Black, will make it a public institution, controlled by the medical association, which will appoint the hospital staff from among its own members quarterly.

For about a year the physicians of McKees Rocks have been endeavoring to secure the management of the hospital and Dr. Black as a member. The association and Dr. Black could not agree on the scale of prices established by the association. At a meeting of the association last night the matter again came up for discussion and Dr. Black was requested to attend and name a consideration for which he would give over the hospital to the association.

After the terms of sale were agreed upon Dr. Black joined the association, and it was decided to capitalize the institution at $30,000. The stock will first be sold to the physicians and the remainder will be given to the public. The details of the transaction were placed in the hands of a committee composed of Drs. J. A. Barr, William Campbell and Z. Walter Beane. Dr. Black said he parted with the hospital because his practice has become so large that he cannot divide his time between it and the hospital.

For Cutting His Children.

Mike Haney, a laborer, 35 years of age, residing at Fifty-fifth and Harrison streets, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of felonious cutting. It is said that on August 21 Haney went home in an intoxicated condition and cut his two children, one on the stomach, and one on the leg. The child cut on the stomach was under a doctor's care for about a month. The police have been looking for him ever since.

Officer Held for Court.

W. W. Davis, a special officer in the employ of Kennebeck & Co., Wabash railroad contractors at Greentree borough, and also a special officer of the borough, was held in $500 bail for trial at court last night by Alderman Walsh of the West End, on a charge of assault and battery. Wilson Peters, a farmer of Greentree, allegas that Davis arrested and lodged him in jail for seven days, without a warrant.

ASTHMA AND CONSUMPTION CURED

Professor Koch's New Discovery for the Treatment of These Diseases.

The German Government indorse his treatment and make the "Tuberculine" medicine that cures Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption in its own laboratories under the supervision of Prof. Koch. It is sent to the Koch Lung Cure at 403 Penn avenue, corner Fourth street, Pittsburgh.

By the use of the Koch Inhalation Apparatus the healing oils, in combination with the wonderful "Tuberculine," which kills the germs, are thrown into oily vapors so they can be breathed into the air tubes of the lungs. The effect is wonderful; they heal up the sore places and give new life to patients having lung diseases.

Consumption steals upon its victim like a thief in the night, and before he is aware of his true condition his catarrhal discharge has so poisoned the air tubes of the lungs that they begin to break away and decay, and he becomes an unwilling slave to its ruinous consequences. It generally begins as an ordinary catarrh in the nose and throat.

All thinking persons know that medicines taken into the stomach do not cure Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis or Catarrh. Besides, lung medicines are always hard on the stomach.

For several years the institutions of the Koch Lung Cure, which are located in all the principal cities, have treated thousands of cases, and their success can be told by their results. They number on their staff specialists who have for a lifetime made a deep and searching study of all lung diseases. Many patients who had been given up as incurable are today living monuments of their success.

The Doctors invite sharp criticism. Patients calling at this institution for treatment receive consultation, examination and one treatment free, after which, if curable, they will so inform you; if incurable they will tell you that.

The Pittsburgh office is at 403 Penn avenue. If you cannot call, the Koch Home Treatment, with specially prepared apparatus, can be sent to your residence. Write for descriptive and illustrated booklet containing symptom blank.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1902.

TWENTY PAGES.

There continues to be considerable clamor in the east for the calling of an extra session of the Pennsylvania legislature to deal with the coal strike. Compulsory arbitration is the measure most persistently agitated for, though the leaders of the miners have declared they want no law that "will compel a miner to work like a slave." Where there is such wide divergence of opinion concerning what is just and so much excitement in the public mind, it is doubtful whether the legislature could act either speedily or wisely. To do anything it would need to act quickly, and unwise legislation would be worse than none.

The life of the present legislature of Pennsylvania is short. Because of the provision of section 4 of article II. of the state constitution, that "the general assembly shall meet at 12 o'clock, noon, on the first Tuesday of January, every second year," but principally because the legislature has always, since the adoption of the constitution now in force, met, in obedience to mandate, in regular session at the time specified, it is frequently assumed that the terms of office of the members begin either with the date of the regular legislative session, or with the first day of January. But it is provided in section 2 of article II of the constitution that the term of service of members of the general assembly "shall begin on the first day of December next after their election." Members of the general assembly are to be chosen at the election next month. Their terms of office begin on December 1 of the present year. The term of the present general assembly ends with that date. This is not taken account of in the demands now being made that the legislature be assembled in extra session to deal with the emergency presented by conditions in the anthracite coal region. There is less than two months in which the legislature can be assembled and do business, and an important state election will be held during the time.

The next regular session of the general assembly will convene on the first Tuesday in January. That will be early enough for the consideration of general measures for the public welfare, including any that may be deemed necessary to govern the relations between employer and employe. There will be ample time during the winter for thought and discussion. The result is far more likely to be satisfactory to the whole people than anything that might be perpetrated by the expiring general assembly in haste to act before the first of December. At the best legislation is too slow a remedy for an emergency case, and hasty legislation is apt to be as dangerous as inexpert surgery. No doubt the anthracite region struggle will have a strong influence upon the regular session. A flood of bills will surely flow from it. But these may be carefully threshed out at that time as they could not be during an extraordinary session, limited by expiration of the terms of its members and affected by the bitter prejudices incident to active continuance of the conflict. It will be better to wait. It will be more practical.

While the Democratic candidates go about traducing the fair name of the state, over the destinies of which they aspire to preside, their newspaper organs are active in disseminating every libel that is uttered anywhere against Pennsylvania. Naturally enough, the campaign of villification is taken up by sensational papers in other states, which have even less regard for the truth. One of the most villainous slanders has been printed by the Chicago Chronicle, and it is approvingly republished by the Post. Among other things, it says: "Most of the courts of Pennsylvania are corrupt or cowardly, many of them making no attempt to conceal the fact that they get their orders from the men who are masters of the industry and the politics of the state." That sentiment is a flagrant falsehood to the personal knowledge of every citizen of Pennsylvania and one to be resented by the manhood of the commonwealth. The courts of Pennsylvania will compare very favorably with those of Illinois, or any other state in the union, in the matter of integrity.

From the same Chicago source comes the allegation that "Labor in Pennsylvania is the most impoverished, degraded and brutalized to be found anywhere on this hemisphere." Worse than the peons in Mexico or the caoutchoue gatherers in South America. To such an extent does the campaign of libel go. "Nothing that America has ever known," continues the defamer, "equals the hopelessness and misery of a large percentage of the labor of Pennsylvania." This is leaping from one lie to another, and it is all reprinted, with approving comment, by a Pattison organ in Pittsburgh, coupled with an attack upon Judge Pennypacker, who is pictured as the representative of the power that has inflicted these imaginary ills upon the second state in the union. It is susceptible of proof that wages and the conditions of labor are as good in Pennsylvania as in Illinois or New York. There is nowhere in this great industrial commonwealth such degradation of labor as is exemplified by the toil of children in the cotton mills of the democratic states, south. There is no nearer approach to slavery in the coal mines of Pennsylvania than in those of Illinois, recently the scene of rioting, disorder and carnage.

More workingmen own and enjoy their own homes in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh than in Chicago. They have more money in the savings banks and building and loan associations. Republican rule in Pennsylvania has led to the appropriation of more than twice as much money by the state to the education of the workingmen's children than is appropriated by any other state. If these things indicate the degradation of labor in Pennsylvania, then the people of this state do not understand what degradation means. Judge Pennypacker is right in defending his native state against the malicious slanders heaped upon it by irresponsible outsiders and by political orators and organs at home, which defame their own neighbors to avoid a discussion of party policies which they support in secret, but are ashamed to acknowledge in public.

MR. GUTHRIE AND THE RIPPER.

A number of gentlemen, members of the executive committee of the Citizens Municipal League, and of the city charter committee of the chamber of commerce, have issued a statement contradicting Judge Pennypacker's remark that Mr. Guthrie favored the passage of the ripper bill. Judge Pennypacker did not make the assertion of his own knowledge, but said that he was reliably informed that such was the case. It is in reply flatly declared that "Mr. Guthrie never favored, but always opposed, any ripper legislation," and, furthermore, that "no one can truthfully charge Mr. Guthrie with being the originator, advocate or friend" of the ripper clause.

While it may be true that Mr. Guthrie was personally opposed to ripper legislation, he accepted the bill, ripper and all, and urged its passage. On February 6, 1901, when there was a hearing on the bill before the senate committee on municipal affairs, Mr. Guthrie sent a telegram to the chairman advocating the adoption of the measure. This telegram, which was read to the committee and was published in the Pittsburgh papers of February 9, 1901, said in part: "In my opinion the form of government for cities of the second class provided by your bill, with the amendments suggested by the committee of the chamber of commerce, will be satisfactory." The amendments suggested did not touch the ripper clause of the bill, which was expressly approved by the chamber of commerce committee. At a meeting of the chamber of commerce on the evening of February 8, 1901, the charter committee submitted a detailed report, describing the charter amendments which it had proposed. In this report special consideration was given to the ripper clause, and express approval was given to it for reasons stated at length. Among other things the report said:

> Nor could your committee come to the conclusion that it would be wise or prudent to intrust the inauguration of the new system to the hands of people who are and have been unfriendly to it, and whose business and political interests are hostile to its successful operation.
> Nor can anyone doubt that if those in power were left in control until the first election, under the new system, they would, as they have in the past, use all their power and patronage in their hands to perpetuate their power. It is their open boast that through the payrolls and public patronage they can control at least 18,000 votes.

Whether or not Mr. Guthrie personally favored the ripper clause, it is a fact that he accepted it as a part of the bill and labored for the passage of the measure, ripper and all. The Gazette became very much dissatisfied with the measure after it had been deformed by the amendments, and declared editorially that it could not be accepted as a fulfillment of reform pledges. Finally on February 26, 1901, The Gazette editorially declared that "the amendments which have been made to the new charter have so deteriorated its character that it is questionable whether in its ordinary operations it would be any improvement upon the present charter." The Gazette was upon the point of rejecting the amended bill altogether and advocating its defeat, when Mr. Guthrie personally appealed to the editor of The Gazette to accept the bill as the best that could be gotten under the circumstances.

Such being the facts of the case, we submit that it is misleading to use language calculated to produce the impression that Mr. Guthrie did not help to pass the ripper bill. Judge Pennypacker was not misinformed and he has nothing to take back.

NO POLITICS IN A PLAIN DUTY.

A foolish attempt is being made to mix up the situation produced by the anthracite coal strike with politics. It falls very flat, as the circumstances are well understood. In calling out the National Guard Gov. Stone has done his duty. The constitution and the laws not only justify but require the action taken by him. There has been violence and defiance of the law over a considerable territory. The ordinary civil machinery for the preservation of order is unable to cope with it. The civil power in its extremity had to be reinforced by the military, and the governor, the chief executive of the state, and as such commander-in-chief of the state troops, took the action that was made necessary. He accepts full responsibility for it.

The effort to give a political twist to present conditions comes with bad grace from supporters of former Gov. Pattison. How he can be expected to benefit from the calling out of the entire guard to preserve the peace is not easy to see. For Pattison, when governor of Pennsylvania, did the very same thing, with this difference, that he ordered out the whole guard of the state to suppress a purely local disturbance, while Gov. Stone before issuing his call was confronted with acts of violence and threatening conditions extending over half a dozen counties. Can anyone doubt, in the light of what Pattison did, that he would do as Stone has done in the present instance if he were in Stone's place? There is no politics in the preservation of peace. There might be politics in refusal or failure to do so.

ROUMANIAN ATROCITIES.

Secretary Hay's note on the persecutions to which the Roumanian Jews are subjected has resounded through Europe and will probably have some effect, although the Roumanians say they will not alter their policy. A good deal of irresponsible talk has been evoked everywhere about American interference. Some diplomatists point out that the United States did not sign the treaty of Berlin, and hence is not in a position to appeal to its provisions, although the logic of the conclusion is not clear. When this country suffers by practices for whose continuance the powers which did not sign the treaty of Berlin are in a measure responsible, our government certainly has a right to remind them of their obligations. Flings are made at the Monroe doctrine, together with suggestions that if America must meddle in outside affairs there are matters nearer home that deserve attention, such as the civil war in Haiti and the anarchy in Columbia and Venezuela.

If the note should do nothing more it would direct attention to the Roumanian laws against the Jews. Those laws are so monstrous that they can hardly endure the contemplation of the civilized world, and the moral effect of public opinion must exert an ameliorating influence. Secretary Hay's note has directed inquiry in that direction and has caused a general publication of the anti-Jewish measures adopted by Roumania. They possess a mediævalism that would be incredible, if not perfectly well authenticated. In 1864 a law was passed debarring Jews from the legal profession. By a clause of the constitution adopted in 1866 all Jews are declared to be aliens, their actual nativity as Roumanians for hundreds of years being arbitrarily denied. Since then the following series of measures, aimed at the Jews, have been enacted:

April 6, 1881—Law giving police rights of domiciliary visitation and expulsion.

February 28, 1887—Law confirming previous ministerial circulars excluding Jews from the tobacco trade, from the public service and public works and penalizing Roumanians employing Jews in retail trade.

February 6, 1889—Law prohibiting Jews from being employed in important posts on railway works.

March 28, 1889—Law limiting Jewish workingmen to 40 per cent of those employed in private railway works.

January 14, 1893—Law prohibiting Jews from being employed in any manner whatsoever in the public sanitary service and health department.

June 6, 1896—Law limiting free education to Roumanians.

March 23, 1898—Law excluding Jews from secondary and upper schools.

March 31, 1899—Law excluding Jews from agricultural and professional schools.

December, 1901—Law prohibiting Jews keeping public houses, beer houses, grocery stores, coffee houses, bakers' shops, etc., in the rural districts.

March, 1902—Law prohibiting employment of Jewish workingmen in any trade or calling.

Such an atrocious series of enactments, expressly contrived to impoverish and degrade a whole people, can hardly be paralleled even in the legislation of the middle ages. In effect it means the thrusting out of this unhappy people upon the charity of other nations by making starvation or flight the only alternative. The enforced migration of a large population confronts the countries into which they pour with something like an industrial revolution, to avoid which the general program of European action appears to be "pass them on to America." America does not fail in charity to all the oppressed who seek our shores, but we have a right to complain and if need be do more than complain of the action of the Roumanian government in forcing a proscribed class of its citizens upon us.

A WORD FOR THE CITIZEN-SOLDIER

Employers ought to be not only just but even generous to the members of the Pennsylvania National Guard, who have been torn from their homes and occupations, at great sacrifice and inconvenience to themselves, to do the business of the state. It is not a holiday occasion with them. They must do real soldiering and bear with the usual privations of a soldier's life, and their compensation is not such as to reimburse them for loss of wages and salaries. Employers should take it into consideration that the men suddenly called from their ordinary employment by order of the commonwealth to suppress disorder and preserve the peace were unable to use their own pleasure as to whether they should do so. Their call to duty is imperative, and in donning their uniforms in answer to it they act as the substitutes and agents of the people of the state, their immediate employer no less than others. The obligation that rests upon the whole people is being met by the men who marched away on Tuesday night, and the man the guardsman works for in the ways of peace is being served by him at the moment in a no less important way than before the order of the state was issued. Most employers are sensible of all this and fully appreciate the necessities of the situation and the requirements of each individual case. Therefore, when the atmosphere clears in the anthracite coal region and the citizen-soldier returns with duty well performed there ought to be no question but that his former employment will be waiting for him. We do not think there will be any question of it. The time has gone by for employers to resent the presence of their employes in the state guard. Membership therein is no longer regarded as a mere personal indulgence, but is looked on by all right thinking persons as a serious occupation. Besides, no employer knows when it may be his turn, or the turn of his community, which amounts to the same thing, to require the protection that only a body of trained and disciplined men can give. Bearing all this in mind, it would be well to be generous where possible. It often happens when a man is temporarily absent from his employment that his work can be divided temporarily among his associates. Where this can be done it would be a graceful thing to do it now and let the salary or wages go on to the credit of the absentee. He will need the money, and his family, if he has one, will need it more. The citizen-soldier should be encouraged in the discharge of his duty to the people. Vast responsibilities often rest on him, and he should be made to feel that he is appreciated and honored for his service to the commonwealth.

Upon a second survey the committee of councils, on procuring a site for the technical school, has discovered offsets to the debt incurred by exclusive action of councils which reduce the net debt on that account approximately $1,700,000 below the 2 per cent limit. According to the legal advice of Attorney Carnahan the councils have power to vote that much debt without referring the issue to the voters. The sum named is about sufficient to purchase the site preferred by the friends of Mr. Carnegie, who represent his wishes, so there appears to be no bar to prompt acquisition of the land and beginning of the work of construction.

In its review the Iron Age notes continued restriction of the pig iron output by reason of shortage of fuel. Yet the production for September was close to 1,500,000 tons, which will likely be about the monthly average for the year. A total of 16,000,000 to 17,000,000 tons for a year is more than the furnace masters dreamed of a score of years ago.

An astonishing evidence of the phenomenal growth of business in the United States within the past year is given in the annual report of the auditor of the postoffice department at Washington for the year ending June 30, 1902. The gross receipts on postal revenues exceed those of the previous year by $10,216,854.

France will have its coal famine also. The miners' federation decided yesterday to call a general strike, in which at least 70,000 men are expected to participate. Meantime the English miners have contributed $5,000 to the striking anthracite miners in Pennsylvania.

THE COAL FAMINE HURTS LANDLORDS

Families Store Their Goods and Rush to Hotels and Boarding Houses.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

Trouble from the coal famine is taking all kinds of unexpected turns. Among other things it has thrown a great number of flats empty. People are storing their furniture and taking to single rooms in hotels and boarding houses because they are afraid they could not keep warm in flats or have gas for cooking. In a hotel the heating business is in the hands of the management, and cooking does not concern the guest either, so long as it is properly done. One woman who keeps a high class boarding house on the upper West Side advertised for boarders. She got 50 answers in a day. All she had to offer was a small hall bedroom, which usually is not in great demand; but there is such a rush to get away from housekeeping in this city just now that she was fairly overwhelmed with applicants. At a large storage warehouse the manager said today that he could not take care of all the household goods which were brought to him, and although his place is one of the largest on Manhattan island he has had to engage another big storeroom in which to put the overflow. In one day this week he had 300 loads brought to him, and people who wanted to get into the building to arrange for taking out furniture could not work their way through the aisles for the chairs, tables, pianos, sofas and other things crowded in. It would be a harvest for storage houses if they had the accommodations; but they have not, and the time will soon come when people either must sell their goods or remain in flats and take chances. Landlords of apartment houses have been rather strict about lesses hitherto, generally demanding that the tenant shall sign a lease for a year. If the coal famine continues much longer they may be glad to get tenants on any terms.

Hotel Schenley Banquet to Mascagni.

Two well-known Pittsburghers, William B. Clayton, business manager of the spring tours of the Pittsburgh orchestra, and Mariano Cancelliere, publisher of La Trinacria, were callers at The Gazette bureau this afternoon. They attended the opening of the Mascagni season at the Metropolitan opera house tonight. Victor Herbert was there, too. They have considerable business to transact here. The Italian residents of Pittsburgh intend to give a banquet to Signor Mascagni at the Hotel Schenley when he comes to play in the Duquesne garden on the 22d and 23d insts. Some details have to be settled with the distinguished composer, and Mr. Clayton and Mr. Cancelliere have that to look after. Mr. Chancelliere is secretary of the committee of arrangements of the banquet, and M. S. Roceretero chairman. There will be from 150 to 200 persons at the dinner. Judge Shafer will be toastmaster. Mr. Clayton is manager of Mascagni for the Pittsburgh engagement.

Repertoire for Pittsburgh.

Mascagni's repertoire in Pittsburgh at the Duquesne garden has been arranged. On Wednesday evening, the 22d, he will give "Cavaleria Rusticana" and "Zanetto." Thursday matinee "Iris," Thursday evening "Ratcliff."

Woman's Car Privilege Protected.

A jury of gallant New Yorkers today decided that when a woman gets off a car facing backward she is not thereby debarred from compensation from the trolley company when she is injured. A school teacher named Miss Louise Winthrop Keues was the complainant. She was thrown from a car in Eighth avenue by its starting prematurely and fractured her hip. In spite of the contention of the defense that the young woman got off "woman fashion," facing backward, the jury awarded her $4,000. She sued for $25,000.

No Escaping This Doctor.

Dr. Louis Peiser of East Eightieth street is a determined M. D. A car crushed into his carriage today and he was thrown out and hurt. He managed to climb aboard the car that had wrecked his carriage, however, and, paying his fare, he sat down and rode 40 blocks before he could get a policeman to arrest the motorman. He got him under lock and key when he reached Thirty-fourth street. The doctor says it is a habit of some motormen to run away on their cars when they have had smashups, but he was determined that this one should not get away.

Pittsburgh Comedian Buys an Auto.

Charles Bigelow, the Weber & Fields comedian, who is a Pittsburgher—Mr. Bigelow having been born in Pittsburgh—has a new automobile. He was making a fine appearance as he bowled down Broadway this afternoon, and people who know all about autos say that the jolly funmaker is an ideal chauffeur.

Tunnel Orphan to Get $19,000.

Little Ada Woodward, whose father was killed in the tunnel accident on the New York Central last January, and who is known as the "Tunnel Orphan," has obtained $19,000 from the railroad company. She had a suit against the company for $100,000. Rather than go into prolonged litigation, the defendant today, in the supreme court, agreed to pay $19,000 and the costs of the proceedings. Last May the child was awarded $15,000 for the death of her mother. Her parents were killed together in the wreck, as they sat side by side. The "Tunnel Orphan" will be well cared for and educated. She is living with her uncle, Capt. Woodward, who is warden of the jail at Washington, D. C.

The Big Wedding of the Week.

New York is always interested in fashionable weddings, even in the strain of a coal famine; so gossips tonight are talking earnestly about the nuptials of Miss Eleanor N. Thomas, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Samuel Thomas, and Robert Livingston Beekman, at Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, this afternoon. It was the big wedding of the week.

Feminine Police on Patrol.

There are women policemen at the woman's exhibition in Madison square, and very cute they look in their blue uniforms and helmets. Their coats reach the floor, so that the fact of their wearing skirts is not made obtrusive. They swing their clubs and walk with the slow, stately step of the regular patrolmen. They also cultivate as gruff a voice as they can assume, and are never unfamiliar with the public. Altogether, they have studied their parts with great intelligence; but it is noticed that when there is any actual police duty to be performed, such as quelling some too exuberant college man, for instance, then a policeman of the unmistakable Tammany type steps up with a real "G'wan there! G'wan!" The feminine imitation is not equal to that kind of thing, try as she may.

Where Woman Is Strong.

Here is a warning to married men. A kind husband on the East Side was lifting a wash boiler from the stove in his home this afternoon, when he slipped and fell. He was so badly scalded that he is in the hospital. His wife could not lift the boiler, and he rushed to the rescue, with the result of a bad accident. The handles of the thing were too hot for a man, although his wife had not found them so. It suggests once more the extraordinary but well-known fact, that a woman's soft hand can stand three times more heat in a kitchen utensil than a man's horny palm.

The Fall Divorce Crop.

The divorce mill opened today in the supreme court for the fall term, and there were 130 undefended cases on the calendar which must be tried before the end of November. The court room and corridors were jammed today with complainants, witnesses, attorneys, private detectives and other characters in the unsuccessful matrimonial drama. The court was in fine fettle for business after its summer recess, and went through half the total number of cases on the first day. Of course, that is not the end of them. The court got them on the griddle, as it were, and will do them up brown later. There is nothing unusual in the number of divorce cases. In fact, some old habitues of the court say the crop this year is rather below the average.

Sage Said to Be Out of Danger.

Russell Sage is said today to be out of danger. He was threatened with pneumonia, and it was not until this morning that his physicians seemed to be quite at ease, although they say there never was any real danger. The expectation is that the patient will be able to go down to his office next week. That the illness of Uncle Russell was not taken seriously in Wall street, seems to be pretty well established, although probably there is no other man of his prominence and wealth in the business world whose death would have a less disturbing influence on values. Russell Sage is not a speculator, but a capitalist, and it is a popular saying that he could command more actual money at short notice than any other man in the world.

Driftwood for Fuel.

Permission has been granted by the commissioner of parks in Brooklyn to anyone that desires to gather driftwood on the Shore road, which is under the supervision of the park department. This is on account of the coal famine. He announced that on account of the nuisance attending the gathering of wood he had decided to revoke all permits, but, at the present price of coal, decided that it would be a hardship to poor people. So each person applying for a permit will be allowed to gather one load of wood. Indications are that many families will have to depend on this wood for heat and cooking this winter. Every scrap of wood, on the street or anywhere, is snapped up eagerly, for fuel is the great problem of the hour.

Fighting for Rail Birds.

Maurice Grau is still fighting in the courts for the right to let some of his patrons stand in the great space at the back of the parquette in the Metropolitan opera house. He says the space is not an aisle or passageway, but was built especially for standees. The "rail-birds," as they are called, have always been a picturesque feature of the Metropolitan on grand opera nights, and Maurice Grau is determined that they shall not be banished if he can help it. The specific case on trial relates to the night of April 21 last, when 311 persons were standing at the back of the parquette. Fire Commissioner Sturgis proceeded against Grau, but Municipal Court Justice Bolte decided in favor of Grau. The proceedings today were on an appeal in the supreme court against Justice Bolte's decision. The case is an important one as a precedent.

Family Seaside Park Wanted.

Park Commissioner Young of Brooklyn has long had a pet plan to make a seaside park at Coney Island. He wants the entire ocean front of Coney from Seaside park to Sea Gate, a distance of a mile and a quarter, to be made into a park. The board of estimate and apportionment will be asked to give him permission to buy the property, and work on it will begin immediately thereafter. The commissioner says that when a question of such good to the whole people is involved expense does not matter. It is well known that Coney Island is more of a place for the rough-and-ready merry-maker than the family party, and the park commissioner wants to improve conditions, no matter what it may cost. It is pretty well understood that the park will be laid out some time, but, at the same time, the Bowery and the shows thereon must last if the lover of Old Coney is to continue to enjoy his old place of summer recreation.

A Rising Pittsburgh Actor.

Edward Locke, the Pittsburgh actor, is making a name for himself in Harlem. He is in the Proctor stock company and is playing a line of parts which indicate that his stage manager thinks well of him. This week he is doing Duval Pere in "Camille" and is giving a dignified, impressive performance. While, of course, he has the tradition of the part to guide him, he is throwing enough originality into the reading to make Pittsburghers proud of his work.

From the Old Tombs to the New.

The new Tombs prison came into use as a place of confinement today. Twenty-five men were removed from the old Tombs and placed in cells in the new building. They did not express any rapturous joy over the transfer. The new cells are well ventilated and have more conveniences than the old, but they are cells, nevertheless, and about as gloomy as they can be made. The part of the prison to which they were removed is already in the hands of laborers who have begun to tear it down. Officers of the Tombs have been in the new edifice for a week or two, but today was the first in which prisoners were taken over. It is expected that the whole number of prisoners will get out of the dark old Tombs within a week.

The Party of Expediency.

From the Bradford Star.

Senator Foraker's declaration that the Democratic party lacks stability, sincerity and principle seems to hit the nail on the head. The Democracy is a party of expediency and it nearly always displays bad judgment in determining what is expedient.

Dalzell for Speaker.

From the Sharon Telegraph.

Pennsylvania will be for John Dalzell for speaker of the next house. The Pittsburgh member is an able and efficient presiding officer and by right of his long service has a right to aspire to this important office.

PERSONALS.

Gen. A. J. Warner of Marietta, O., one of the pioneer advocates of free silver, and one of Bryan's chosen apostles in 1896, came up from the south yesterday, and after spending the day here, continued his way eastward. "The currency question has been settled, not by the laws of man, but by the laws of God," declared Gen. Warner. "The increased production of gold within the last four years, which has been made possible largely through the application of science, makes two metals for coinage no longer necessary. This year the output of gold will approximate $400,000,000, and the remedy sought by the free coinage of silver is provided without the application of laws fixing coinage ratio of 16 to 1. The level of prices is a little high, but without any material change in other conditions, I look for the present season of prosperity to continue at least 15 years longer. In the south the outlook is most auspicious. Water power is being used as a means of developing industries which had never been attempted on account of the lack or cheap fuel. Georgia and the Carolinas will get much of the cotton manufacturing from New England, except that requiring the most skilled labor."

Senor N. Santini, a wealthy planter of Ponce, Porto Rico, and Albert N. Volk, his New York agent, were at the Hotel Anderson last night. "Porto Rico is becoming a thoroughly patriotic American province," said Senor Santini, "and we thank three elements for our good American feeling. These are American prosperity, American roads and the American system of popular education."

The executive officers and directors of the Westmoreland Coal Company yesterday completed a two days' tour of the company's mines in Western Pennsylvania and returned last night to Philadelphia on the private car Colonial, attached to the Pittsburgh limited. The party included E. H. McCullough, president; Louis A. Riley, secretary, and Directors George T. Bisphan, Edward S. Welsh and W. Carpenter.

THE DEATH ROLL.

James Calvin Rayburn.

James Calvin Rayburn, one of the veteran employes of the Pennsylvania railroad, died at the home of his son-in-law, James M. Atcheson, No. 412 Homewood avenue, yesterday morning. Mr. Rayburn was 81 years old and his death resulted from a stroke of paralysis received the day after his birthday, seven weeks ago yesterday. Previous to this stroke he was one of the most hale and hearty men living in the East End. Mr. Rayburn was born in Pulaski, Lawrence county, Pa., August 20, 1821. He was a carpenter and cabinet maker by trade, and entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad in 1852. During Andrew Carnegie's early service with the Pennsylvania as a telegraph operator Mr. Rayburn first became acquainted with the Pittsburgh multi-millionaire philanthropist, and a sincere friendship arose between the two which lasted a lifetime. Mr. Rayburn was connected with the Pennsylvania for over 40 years. The last 20 years of his service he was wreck master on the Pittsburgh division of the road. He retired from the service after the death of his wife about 10 years ago, and had since made his home with his son-in-law. He was a member of Duquesne lodge, I. O. O. F., No. 32, for over 45 years, and for several years had been a regular attendant of the Homewood Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. He is survived by a son, James Calvin Rayburn, Jr., who is connected with the National Lead and Oil Company, and one daughter, Mrs. James M. Atcheson. The funeral services will be held from the home of his son-in-law, James M. Atcheson, No. 412 Homewood avenue, tonight at 8 o'clock. The services will be in charge of the Rev. W. W. Hall, pastor of the Homewood Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

His death removes the last of the detachment of French soldiers that bore the body of Napoleon Bonaparte to its last resting place after its disinterment at St. Helena. He was breveted a captain of infantry during the Napoleonic wars and presented with a decoration for bravery in action on the disastrous march through Russia. A widow survives him.

Samuel Plumer.

Samuel Plumer, 72 years old, of Franklin, Pa., died yesterday morning at the home of his son, Attorney Lewis M. Plumer, No. 308 South Highland avenue, East End. When it was found that his restoration to health was impossible, he was removed to the home of his son. Mr. Plumer was a son of the Hon. A. A. Plumer, and is survived by his wife and two sons, Lewis M., of this city, and Arnold Plumer of London, England. The remains will be taken to Franklin for interment tomorrow afternoon.

HORSE TRADERS MADE A MISTAKE

A Sunday Morning Experience That Shocked a Minister of the Gospel.

A well known minister from New Wilmington had a remarkable experience one Sabbath morning several weeks ago, the facts of which have just come to light, says the South Sharon News. The divine, who, by the way, does not occupy a pulpit regularly, had been invited to expound the gospel in a United Presbyterian church in the vicinity, and as trains do not run from the place on the Sabbath he was obliged to hire a rig for the occasion. The liveryman, knowing the social and financial importance of his patron, turned out his very best, and thereby surrounded him with a complication of circumstances which were, to say the least, not to the preacher's liking.

The minister left New Wilmington filled with the thoughts of his discourse, and was almost at his journey's end, when he was accosted by two ordinary looking individuals, who inquired the time of day.

GUTHRIE IS TO TALK HERE AGAIN

Democrats Also Have Partial Promise That Pattison Will Come Again.

CITIZENS' RALLY TONIGHT

Big Demonstration in Lawrenceville—Citizens' Meetings to Be Numerous This Week—Commissioner Mercer Issues Denial.

The Democratic county campaign committee has been desirous of having George W. Guthrie and R. E. Pattison make more speeches in the county before the close of the campaign. The chairman of the committee, S. J. Graham, recently wrote to John S. Rilling, the Democratic state chairman, with reference to this, and a reply was received from Rilling yesterday.

In his letter Chairman Rilling states that it will be possible to send Mr. Guthrie here during part of the last week of the campaign. Graham is well pleased with this concession, but he will try to have Mr. Guthrie here all of the last week.

It has been decided that on the Saturday night preceding election day a big meeting shall be held in Old City hall. At this meeing Judge J. G. Gordon of Philadelphia and Mr. Guthrie will make addresses. Judge Gordon was Pattison's rival for the Democratic nomination for governor. He is a fine orator and will, it is predicted, pack the house. The state chairman thinks it may be possible to send Mr. Pattison here on some night in the last week of the campaign, and if the Democratic standard bearer can be brought into Allegheny county the meeting at which he will speak will be held in McKeesport.

County Commissioner Mercer issued a statement yesterday denying the charge of extravagance in the administration of county affairs as made by the Citizens party. Mr. Mercer says that laws have been passed by the legislature increasing the cost of administering several county offices, and that the increased pay roll is due to those laws and not to the commissioners' extravagance.

The Citizens party will hold a ratification meeting in Kean's auditorium, at Forty-fourth and Butler streets, tomorrow. Among the ward organizations that will take part are those of the Twelfth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth wards. All of these will turn out marching clubs, and there will be a street parade previous to the meeting. The parade will form at Penn avenue and Main street, will march down Penn avenue to the "forks of the road," and will then move out Butler street to the auditorium. Hugh Ferguson will preside and speeches will be made by W. B. Rodgers, W. J. Brennen, Thomas M. Brown, J. R. Dunn, D. J. Boit, Jere Doherty, R. T. McElroy, H. Kirke Porter and W. S. Woods.

A Citizens party mass meeting will be held tonight in the Moorhead school, Eleventh ward, at which H. Kirke Porter will be the principal speaker. Meetings will also be held tonight in the Carnegie auditorium in Braddock, and in Bank hall in Glassport. Among the other Citizens meetings scheduled for tonight is one at the Fifteenth ward Citizens headquarters, at No. 3615 Butler street and in Schwerd's hall, Allegheny. A meeting of colored voters will be held in Turner hall, in Forbes street, to ratify the Citizens ticket. A street parade will precede the meeting. Another Allegheny meeting tonight will be held at the First ward school.

Tomorrow night meetings will be held at the Third ward school and in the East street school of the Twelfth ward, Allegheny. On Saturday a meeting will be held in the East street school of the Fourteenth ward, Allegheny.

Numerous Democratic mass meetings will be held tomorrow night in various sections of the county. The Democrats will open their campaign in Sharpsburg with a big meeting in the town hall. At the same time a mass meeting will be held in Carnegie. A meeting will also be held tomorrow night in Y. M. I. hall, McKeesport. On Saturday night the Democrats will hold a mass meeting at the Riverside public school, in the Thirty-fourth ward.

Citizens party mass meetings were held last night in Dickson's hall, Swissvale, and Bryan's hall, Homestead.

The Sixth Ward Independent Republican association held a meeting last night at No. 18 Austin street. The gathering was presided over by James Bishop and was followed by a banquet. The following officers were elected: President, Edward Reed; vice president, Charles Keebler; secretary, Robert L. Moffatt; treasurer, James Knox. Another meeting will be held at the same place Friday evening at 8 o'clock, and all the voters of the ward are asked to attend.

ENGLISH AGITATOR DEAD.

John Kensit Succumbs from Attack Made Upon Him During a Public Meeting.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 8.—John Kensit, the anti-ritualistic crusader, who was grievously injured September 25 at Birkenhead, near Liverpool, by being struck with a chisel thrown at him after he had addressed a meeting, died today of pneumonia, supervening from the wound. His son, who is participating in the anti-ritualistic campaign, and who was recently imprisoned for refusing to find bail to keep the peace by abandoning holding meetings, was permitted by the home secretary to visit his father yesterday.

Young Kensit was escorted by police to the hospital here, where the elder Kensit had been under treatment since the day he was injured. After an affecting meeting the son returned to prison.

The elder Kensit's protests against the confirmation of ritualistic bishops on several occasions caused sensational scenes. Among the most prominent incidents of the deceased's career was the disturbance which he created at St. Cuthbert's church, Kensington, on Good Friday, 1898, by his protest against "the adoration of the cross" according to the Roman Catholic missal.

STREET CAR RIOTS BREAK OUT IN EARNEST.

More Than One Hundred Shots Fired in Battle With Policemen.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—The attempt this morning of the New Orleans Railways Company to start cars on its lines, which have been completely tied up for 11 days, precipitated a long impending conflict between the strikers and those who attempted to fill their places.

Although 100 shots were fired, nobody was killed. Among those more seriously injured were six policemen, a dozen non-union men and one striker.

Mayor Capdevielle, who requested Gov. Heard to order out the militia, has been advised that Maj.-Gen. Glynn, in command of the First military district, will report to the mayor tomorrow morning. The street railways company announces its determination to run its cars tomorrow.

One car was started from the Canal street barn this morning with 10 Chicago strike breakers and 10 policemen aboard. Two blocks from the barn, strikers pulled up the wooden crossings and made a barricade on the track. The car stopped and Robert D. Koontz, one of the non-union men, got off to remove the obstructions. He succeeded, though set upon by the crowd.

The strikers then made a rush for the car, and a lively fight ensued. There was a regular fusilade, fully 100 shots being exchanged. At the first volley from the car the strikers ran. Then the police arrested the non-union men for carrying concealed weapons.

Three non-union men were put in a patrol wagon and on the way to the station the wagon was overturned and all the occupants were injured.

THE PLAYS NEXT WEEK.

An Unusually Attractive Assortment of Theatrical Items In Store for the Coming Week.

The production of H. V. Esmond's comedy, "The Wilderness," by Charles Frohman's Empire theater company at the Alvin theater next week will be the same in every respect as during the original production of the Empire theater, New York city. The company carries all the furniture and every other accessory to give a perfect representation of a play depicting fashionable society in England today.

Beginning next Monday matinee the Grand opera house stock company will put on a revival of Brandon Thomas' delightful comedy, "Charley's Aunt," which was so much in vogue at this theater last year. It affords unusual opportunities to several of the company who shine in comedy. Particularly is this true of Mr. Abbe, who impersonates the title role.

The attraction at the Bijou next week is William A. Brady's production of the big bright musical success, "Foxy Grandpa." Since the New York run much humor has been written in and many songs have been added. Mr. Brady has furnished pretty girls to sing the chorus of these ditties, and pretty costumes for the pretty girls. Joseph Hart and Carrie De Mar head the company.

Gill & Fitzhugh's production of "A Little Outcast" is a melodrama of the cleanliest type, having every essence of human interest, and is said to be the best thing of its kind produced. The play abounds in sensations, but withal it is a love story pure and simple. It comes to the Empire next week.

Next week brings Jessie Bartlett Davis, the famous contralto, and late prima donna of the Bostonians, to the Duquesne theater. A big company surrounds her, including Miss Lillian Burkhart, the Pittsburgh actress; the opera comedians, Carleton and Terre; Zazel and Vernon, comedians, presenting "The Tourist and the Valet," and Murphy and Nichols.

Next week's attractions at the Avenue theater and annex include the following: La Neva, the wonderful toe dancer in her spectacular act, "The Maid of the Moon;" the Beaux and Belles octette; the Nudo's in novelty gymnastics; the Kellys in a rural skit and Charles Hartley.

One of the best shows that visit the Academy each season is the famous Cracker Jacks burlesquers. This attraction will be at this theater next week with the strongest show that Mr. Manchester has ever presented.

RESCUER DROWNS WITH SAILORS

Schooner Goes Aground in Lake Off Kisscardine, Out, and Five Are Lost.

LIFE BOAT IS SWAMPED

Five Persons Succeed in Getting Back to Schooner and Are Saved. While Others Go Down. Ship Carried Cargo of Coal.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Kincardine, Ont., Oct. 8.—The schooner Ann Marie of Alpena, Mich., loaded with coal for the Kincardine water works, was wrecked here last night. Capt. Gordon and three of the crew, with a member of a rescue party, were drowned.

The drowned are: Capt. Gordon, Mrs. Kennedy, cook; Perry Bold, sailor; Stephen Bond, sailor; William Ferguson, volunteer lifesaver.

It was about 10 o'clock last night when noises began which were heard for a long time before it was ascertained that they were the cries of sailors in distress. A large schooner was then noticed a few hundred yards from the shore, south of the south pier, apparently aground and with heavy seas breaking over her.

A rescue party was at once formed and with much difficulty succeeded in reaching the boat, which proved to be the schooner Ann Maria.

The rescuers got the crew off and were about to start for the shore when a huge wave swept over the schooner and upset the lifeboat, throwing the occupants into the water.

Two sailors and three townsmen succeeded in regaining the schooner. Five were lost.

The lost vessel was built in 1864, and measured 256 tons. She was owned by George S. Eastman of Milwaukee and was valued at $5,000.

Woman Hit by Beer Keg.

Sephronia Sabruna, 48 years old, is in a critical condition at her home, No. 115 Independence street, West End, as a result of being struck on the head yesterday morning by a beer keg. During the morning the woman went to the yard in the rear of her home for water, and was struck on the head by the empty keg, which suddenly came crashing over the cliff back of her home. It is thought the keg was started down the hill by boys.

DEMOCRATS TRY TO HURT DEEMER

Pattison's Party Invades Republican Congressman's District.

THE MISSION WILL FAIL

Alliance With Prohibitionists There Not to the Taste of Old Regulars—Orators Pass Homes of Several Former Governors.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 8.—Except in Center, Pattison was in Democratic counties today. He will carry Clinton and Lycoming, but will have a hard fight to get away with Center. Even here in Lycoming his majority will be held down to a point far below his estimates.

The main reason of the Democratic invasion of Clinton and Lycoming is to make trouble for Congressman Elias Deemer, who is a candidate to succeed himself on the Republican ticket. Pattison was brought here to stir up the Democrats and get them into the election. W. U. Hensel of Lancaster, attorney general under Pattison, the best Democratic orator in the state, was brought here.

Deemer will be elected. Fitted against him is James Mansel of this city. He is a Prohibitionist and has been indorsed by the Democrats. The rank and file of Democrats are balking on this deal. Democracy and Prohibition do not mix. There are many Democrats who feel that as their party is without a candidate they are privileged to vote for Deemer. Mansel is strong in this city, but he is unknown outside of Lycoming county.

Home of a Miners' Leader.

The district is composed of Lycoming, Clinton, Potter and Tioga counties. William B. Wilson, the national secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, lives in Tioga. He said he would take the Democratic congressional nomination if it came to him without a contest. The only avowed candidate in the district was Seth J. Foresman of this city, a business partner of Mansel. When Tioga came here ready to nominate Wilson, they found that Foresman had put up a job to indorse Mansel. The scheme went through and the Tioga Democrats are sore. John L. Sexton, one of the leading Tioga Democrats, is working hard against Mansel.

The Republican majority in this district is about 5,000. Two years ago Deemer had a slight majority in Clinton, and is hopeful of repeating the victory. In this county Mansel will be held down to 600. Potter will give Deemer 600, and Tioga is good for from 2,500 to 4,000 for the Republican congressional ticket.

This is the home of Senator J. Henry Cochran, Democratic leader of this section. He is so strong that he does not even have an opponent in his senatorial district this year. Tonight Pattison and his party hoped to see the senator, but found that he was in Salt Lake City and had timed his home coming to reach here Saturday. Cochran is not a Pattison enthusiast. Congressman J. K. P. Hall was sent here to urge upon Cochran the necessity of taking his coat off, but his mission was a failure.

Legislative Gain Probable.

Republicans are hopeful of electing one member of the legislature here this fall. They are making a good fight for three, but one of their candidates is stronger than his party. Since the death of Henry Clay McCormick a few months ago, the independent Republicans of the county are without a leader.

At Bellefonte this morning the train stopped for a few minutes and Pattison made a brief speech. Mrs. Daniel H. Hastings and Mrs. James A. Beaver, wives of ex-governors, happened to be at the station and shook hands with Pattison and Guthrie.

On the route to Lock Haven, the birthplaces of Gov. Andrew G. Curtin and William F. Packer were passed. The Packer homestead is at Howard and is now the home of Col. J. A. Hovard, one of the Democratic spellbinders. The colonel says the house has sheltered seven governors. There was a good-sized crowd at Howard to greet the candidates.

The Lock Haven court house was well filled with Clinton county Democrats today. Last year the Democratic majority in this county was 63, and it will not be a great deal more this fall. Pattison and Guthrie made the same old speeches. For more than 100 times the burden of Pattison's talk has been that the people have the right to alter, amend or abolish their government.

Meeting at Jersey Shore.

This afternoon Jersey Shore was given a matinee. It was in this town that Manager P. Eyer Spyker gave J. Venton Nolan and W. Hayes Grier a trial on the stump. Nolan is a son of the candidate for secretary of internal affairs. The burden of Mr. Grier's trouble was that he was turned out of office when Hastings succeeded Pattison.

There was a big demonstration here tonight. Two meetings were held, and both were large ones. Hensel, Pattison and Guthrie were the principal speakers. The former attorney general compared the administrations of Pattison and Stone.

Tomorrow half a dozen towns will be visited, with night meetings in Bloomsburg and Danville.

WILL MEET ON MONDAY.

Gans and McPartland in Fine Trim for Their Fight.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(Special)—Joe Gans and Kid McPartland are again training for their 20-round contest, which will now take place on Monday evening before the International Athletic club. The bout was to have been decided last Monday, but Gans insisted on a postponement for one week on account of injuring one of his hands in training for the match. In order to get this postponement Gans forfeited $200 which he had posted with the club to guarantee appearance on the above date. He has posted another $200 for next Monday night, and the bout will take place on the original terms signed by the men. The change of date has evidently brightened McPartland's chances of winning, in the minds of his backers, for they are now offering 5 to 7, where 1 to 2 was the ruling price before the postponement. The main preliminary remains the same, it being between Herman Miller of Baltimore and Warren Zurbrick of Buffalo.

M'CLELLAND AND CORBETT.

Pittsburgher Likely to Meet the Champion Soon.

Jack McClelland, the crack local feather weight fighter, is likely to get a chance to show what he can do with Champion Corbett in the near future.

Word was received from the manager of the Athletic club at Toronto, Canada, yesterday, that the club proposes winding up the year with a big bout, and would like to match him against Young Corbett, Dave Sullivan or Tim Callahan. Word was at once sent that McClelland will meet either one of the men named, and to make things more interesting, a good-sized side bet will be put up. It is now up to the club to make the match.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF ATTACHING WAGES

The Railroad Employes' Suit Against Altoona Merchant Is Heard.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Oct. 8.—John H. Miller, an Altoona merchant, was acquitted in the Blair county court today in a prosecution against him alleging conspiracy with W. W. Rogers of Wheeling, W. Va., to attach the wages of his debtors in violation of the laws of Pennsylvania.

Miller had assigned his store accounts against Pennsylvania railroad workmen to Mr. Rogers, who began attachment proceedings against the railroad in the West Virginia courts.

Sixty other merchants are being prosecuted on similar charges. This is the first trial of this character in the state. Almost 1,000 attachment cases, involving claims $125,000, have been brought against railroad workmen who reside in this vicinity.

TIRED OF HONEYMOON.

Zanesville Man Took His Bride to Wilds of Alabama and She Wants a Divorce.

ZANESVILLE, O., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—A story with few parallels was revealed by the filing of a suit for divorce and alimony in the common pleas court here yesterday. In her petition Mrs. Elmer Cochran says when they were married in June, 1900, her husband proposed a trip to Alabama to spend their honeymoon. They brought up in the woods of that state and he took her to a log cabin at the foot of the mountains in a wild and desolate spot to begin housekeeping. Within a week he took her far into the mountains, where they lived on cornmeal and bacon and slept on straw and cotton, wholly without bed clothing.

At last she begged for money to bring her home. He gave her $30 and she returned and brought suit for alimony, but service could not be secured on Cochran. She withdrew the suit and waited for him to return, which he has just done.

D., of Washington, Pa., the Rev. A. F. Alexander of Florence, the Rev. J. C. Bruce of Pittsburgh.

WANDERERS

Travel Thousands of Miles and Find It at Home.

We go about from one place to another in search of something we desire, without success, and finally find it right at home awaiting us. A mining engineer out in Mansfield, Mo., tells of his experience with coffee.

He says: "Up to the year 1898 I had always been accustomed to drinking coffee with my breakfast each morning. In the summer of that year I developed a severe case of nervous prostration and I took several courses of treatment for it in Toronto, Buffalo and New York city without obtaining any permanent benefit.

One of the most trying manifestations of the malady was a condition of nervous excitement in which I found myself every day during the forenoon. It never occurred to me to attribute this to coffee until I read an advertisement of yours last fall describing a case similar to my own which had received benefit from the use of Postum Cereal Food Coffee. I at once changed my breakfast beverage from Java and Mocha to Postum and the effect was nothing short of marvelous. After using it less than a week I was free from morning attacks and in six months all my nervous symptoms had disappeared.

"I have demonstrated the fact that by following your directions in making Postum Food Coffee any one can obtain as rich a cup of coffee from Postum as from any of the imported brands, and may rest assured that they will escape the injurious effects of coffee and experience much benefit from the use of Postum." MUCH CITY PROPERTY IS BEING OPTIONED

It Is Believed the Wabash Is Back of Deals In New Castle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 8.—Options have been secured by T. J. McVey of Youngstown on many properties located between Oakland avenue, and the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania lines in this city, which are believed to be taken for the Wabash interests.

The holders of the options refuse to tell anything concerning them, but it is believed that the Wabash will not only enter New Castle from the south by way of the extension now being made from Lisbon, O., to this place, but will also reach Youngstown by way of the Mahoning Valley Electric Railway Company.

All the options are for 60 days and embrace the territory between the Black Bridge and Cedar avenue, in Mahoningtown, which would allow connections between the Wabash and the Mahoning Valley.

TWO MEN ARE KILLED AND BUILDINGS WRECKED

Nitro-Glycerin Factory Is Blown to Fragments in Ohio.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LIMA, O., Oct. 8.—With a jar that broke hundreds of windows in business and residence houses, the nitro-glycerin factory and magazine of the Producers Explosive Company, containing 10,000 quarts of the fluid, exploded this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In the factory, two miles southwest of the city, were Frank Alspach, aged 25, of Findlay, and Earl Bush, 30, of North Baltimore. Bush was blown into fragments and only a handful of his remains were found. The body of Alspach was found slightly mutilated. They were factory employes. Bush leaves a widow.

The loss to the company is estimated at $5,000, while damages to residence properties will reach several hundred. Two horses, a wagon and the factory and magazine structures are but pieces of flesh and splinters.

BLAIR FACTIONS WORK TOGETHER

Past Struggles Leave No Sores to Lessen Majority for Next November.

LOYAL SPEECH BY ELKIN

Pennypacker at Altoona Shows That the Rain of Republican Prosperity Falls Even Upon Democrats.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 8.—With factional lines eliminated, with the old Quay and insurgent leaders pulling together, the sturdy Republicans of prosperous Blair county today and tonight extended a hearty welcome to the next governor of Pennsylvania, ex-Judge Pennypacker, and emphasized their loyalty to the Republican ticket by a big reception in the afternoon and a rousing meeting in the evening in the opera house.

Any disaffection which may have existed among the supporters of Attorney General Elkin, through whom the Democrats are hoping to reduce the Republican majority in the county, has been almost, if not entirely, dissipated by the earnest appeal of the attorney general to all Blair county Republicans to stand shoulder to shoulder for the success of the party. The strong appeal also of ex-District Attorney Robert S. Murphy of Johnstown, who made the speech placing Elkin's name in nomination at the Harrisburg convention, to stand by the party that had made the workshops hum, and the lucid comparison by Judge Pennypacker of the great work of the Republican party and the shortcomings of the Democratic party, were received with demonstrations of approval that removed all doubt of the result.

Prominent Men Receive Party.

Blair county is expected, by a conservative estimate, to give the Republican ticket anywhere from 2,500 to 3,500 majority.

Owing to a wreck in Philadelphia last night the gubernatorial party was two hours late in getting here, but the reception was none the less hearty on that account. The reception committee was composed of representative men of the old factions. Quay leaders, old anti-Quay or insurgent leaders, and Elkin leaders united in cordially welcoming the candidate for governor.

On the committee, in addition to the county chairman, ex-Congressman J. D. Hicks, were Dr. J. A. Rohrer, chairman of the Altoona reception committee and of the Union War Veterans' association; W. D. Ward, chairman of the Elkin club committee; J. D. Blair, chairman of the Hollidaysburg committee; James Foust, one of the leaders of the old insurgent or anti-Quay committee; Col. W. A. McDermott, Col. Theodore Burchfield, ex-Mayor N. J. Brett, ex-Mayor H. C. Barr, also a prominent anti-Quay or old insurgent leader; J. L. Hartman, Hollidaysburg; J. H. Burleigh, H. C. Burleigh, W. D. McDowell, Col. H. A. Gripp, Tyrone; ex-Representative Edward Gamble, James S. Robb, S. C. Calhoun, J. S. Alexander, George Fox, E. W. Cavender, W. H. Orr, John Griffith, Joseph Crawford, W. K. Ramey, the largest individual property owner in Altoona, who celebrated his 81st birthday by riding to Hollidaysburg with ex-Judge Pennypacker, and the following prominent ex-insurgent leaders: James H. Craig, Edwin M. Ames, H. E. Deshong and P. W. Snyder.

A Trip to the County-Seat.

After an informal reception at the Logan house the gubernatorial candidate was taken over to Hollidaysburg by the committee, where he was given a reception at the American house and subsequently visited Justice Dean of the supreme court. An interesting feature of the Hollidaysburg reception was the voluntary rush of the school children to see and shake hands with the Republican candidate. There was a formal reception at the Logan house later in the afternoon, at which many prominent citizens shook hands with the next governor.

The candidate and speakers, followed by a great throng, marched with the committee to the opera house amid the plaudits of the crowds which lined the sidewalks. W. H. Schwartz, editor of the Altoona Tribune, presided and introduced Judge Pennypacker, who, in referring to the croakings of the Democratic speakers, said that if they could only visit Altoona and see the busy shops and the prosperous condition of affairs, they probably would cheer up a little.

Great applause greeted his reference to the late president McKinley, as the "advance agent of prosperity." He drew a picture of the great business depression preceding the election of Mr. McKinley and the wonderful prosperity which had followed the elevation of the Republican party to power, and said that as Mr. McKinley could be called the "advance agent of prosperity," Mr. Pattison could well be called the "advance agent of business depression."

Democrats Enjoy Some Prosperity.

Continuing, he said the benefits caused by the Republican party, like the rains of heaven, fell upon the just and the unjust alike, and referred to Col. Guffey as a Democrat who had become prosperous under the beneficent rule of the Republican party; to another prominent Democrat, George F. Baer, who is president of the Reading Railroad Company, which, through the prosperous times accompanying the Republican administration, had been able to get on its feet, and to Mr. Nolan, the Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, who has prospered as a contractor as he never did under the Cleveland administrations, as notable examples of Democrats benefiting equally with Republicans under the present prosperous conditions. He said he could not believe that those men were really earnest in a desire to upset the present conditions of affairs.

In his reference to Mr. Baer, ex-Judge Pennypacker said:

"Mr. Baer is one of the most distinguished Democrats in the commonwealth. He is a man whose name is now in everybody's mouth. We hear of him everywhere. He is president of that great corporation, the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company. Well, all through Democratic times, as you can remember very well, that corporation was financially embarrassed and went into the hands of receivers; but now it is accumulating vast sums of money and is able to do the work it is called upon to do, and sometimes, perhaps, even more."

Attorney General Elkin, the next speaker, was given a splendid ovation. He said in part:

"Every interest in Pennsylvania is dependent upon the continuance of the Republican party in power. In my judgment, there is no business man, no professional or laboring man in the entire state who would want to disturb the prosperous conditions throughout the country by elevating the Democratic party to power. At the present time our people are enjoying more of the elements which go to make up the sum total of human happiness than at any other period in our national history. What we need is to be let alone so that the policy of the national administration can be carried out along the lines of the past and present administrations.

"The defeat of the Republican party in Pennsylvania this year would be far-reaching in its results. It would encourage the Democratic party throughout the nation, and would be accepted by the people as a verdict against the administration of President Roosevelt. It might not be so intended, but the verdict would be read that way throughout the whole country. We cannot afford to do this.

"It is time to forget factional differences and personal feelings and to join together as a united party against the old enemy of the common good of the great masses of the American people. It is my purpose to support the whole Republican ticket, and I trust my friends will take the same view of the situation."

Conclusion of the Meeting.

Congressman Alvin Evans and Robert S. Murphy made strong speeches urging the necessity at this time of upholding the administration of President Roosevelt and electing a Republican congress. Mr. Murphy urged the necessity of all Republicans standing together for the ticket.

The meeting closed with an address by ex-District Attorney W. I. Shaffer of Delaware county, general handshaking and three cheers.

The party will leave for Clearfield tomorrow, where a meeting will be held in the evening.

SIR THOMAS FEELS SURE OF WINNER

YACHT NOT YET BUILT, BUT PLANS ARE READY.

Challenge Starts on Oceanic and When Accepted Work Will Be Started on Challenger.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Sir Thomas Lipton has challenged for a third time the ability of the New York Yacht club to retain the America's cup on the other side of the Atlantic. The official document left on the Oceanic today. With its departure Sir Thomas abandoned to some extent the reserve that has cloaked his words during weeks of rumors and reports. When I called upon him at his city office today he said:

"A challenge has been sent, but I am not free to say anything about its provisions until it has been received by the New York Yacht club, nor will any actual work be begun upon the challenger until the challenge has been officially accepted by that club.

"What I can say is, that the prospects for lifting the cup appear brighter than was the case before sending either of the two previous challenges. I believe we can win next year, and I did not issue the challenge until I had very good reasons for thinking so.

"The Shamrock III. will be the product of the combined genius of Mr. William Fife and Mr. George L. Watson. Both of these gentlemen know what to expect from Mr. Herreshoff in the way of improvement on the Columbia and the Constitution. They are working with the lessons and experiences of two cup contests fresh in their memories. The boat they turn out will be sailed so as to get every inch out of her, in order that the challenger shall be as fit as a fiddle when the races are held."

GREAT SPEED SHOWN BY DAN PATCH IN TEST

Track Was Three Seconds Slow, But He Went the Mile in 2.01 Flat.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Oct. 8.—On a track between two and three seconds slow, Dan Patch went an exhibition mile over the four-cornered course this afternoon in 2:01 flat. The track had not had time to dry thoroughly after recent heavy rains, and the hoofs of the pacer sank into the clay an inch and a half in many places. Driver McHenry said he was well pleased with the mile, which he considered the best ever made by the pacer. The time by quarters was 30, 30¼, 30 and 30¾, mile 2:01. The weather was ideal, and with a good track there is little doubt that a new pacing record would have been established.

FRENCH MINERS DECLARE STRIKE

Federation Orders General Suspension of Coal Production.

IT AFFECTS 60,000 MEN

Appeal for Aid Is Made to Unions in the United States and Other Countries—Fuel Expected to Advance in Price.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, Oct. 8.—The national committee of the French Miners' Federation has decided to declare a general strike, to begin tomorrow. It is estimated that 42,000 men have already struck in the northern coal fields and that 5,000 men have struck around St. Etienne.

The committee has issued a manifesto addressed to the miners' comrades in the United States, England, Germany, Belgium and Australia, which declares in part:

"The cause we are defending is common to all. We are pushed to the last extremity in fighting to obtain a slight improvement in our miserable condition; more equitable remuneration, with regulation of our work for the present and legislation sheltering us against the strict needs of old age. We are sure you understand your duty; we leave to you the initiative in such measures as are most convenient to you in aiding us in this struggle."

The manifesto then appeals to the troops mobilized against the miners to remember the conduct of Col. St. Remy in refusing to obey orders during the Brittany school troubles, which were contrary to his conscience.

The decision of the committee to declare a general strike throws the responsibility upon the mine owners, because the latter have declined to discuss the claims of the miners. The mine owners took this attitude on the ground that the questions of the regulation of work and old age pensions were now before parliamentary committees and the strike had already broken out without warning and without motives.

The Temps calculates that the French miners number 162,000 men, of whom only 60,000 belong to the Federation.

The probability of a rise in the price of domestic and factory coal is beginning to be seriously discussed. The secretary of the mine owners' committee, in an interview, predicts dear coal in Paris this winter. He says the Pennsylvania strike will be partly responsible for this, as orders have been given in England to reduce the available stocks there and to increase the price of coal exported to France, which imports considerable from the English coal fields. This factor and the rise in French coal, owing to the strike, are certain to result in high retail prices.

Here's a Hot One.

A gentleman came into our store to buy one hundred dollars' worth of chairs.

Mr. Pickering asked him what price chairs he desired.

Said he: "Give me twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs, and the balance in three-dollar chairs."

Pickering's salesmen figured that the order could be filled in six different ways. The gentleman was not satisfied. He wanted another way.

Now, Mr. Pickering wants a seventh way. The first person sending in seven different ways or solutions will receive a handsome parlor rocker. The next four will receive a parlor rocker.

It doesn't matter how many three-dollar chairs are in the order as long as he has twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs. But he must have some of each kind. Send your name, address and solution to Pickering's Adv. Dept., Tenth and Penn, Pittsburgh.

Charming Silk Waists.

New ideas constantly springing up. Fagoting, for example—a new criss-cross stitch — appears on many of the newest waists; an unending variety of beautiful effects in lace insertion and hemstitching and various pleats—all contributing to effectively set off the new waists.

Two of the popular silk waists:

At $5 Waists of Louisine or Faille Silk, or Taffeta—black and colors. Six styles, such as full front, with stitched stripes and stitched pleats to yoke; others with fine pleats and inlaid vest of silk or lace; pleats or French back.

At $6.50—Waists of Louisine or Peau de Soie in plain colors, or Taffeta in changeable effects. Six styles, including stitched pleated fronts, trimmed with crocheted buttons; pleated front with inlaid vest; others with fine pleats between pleats; fagot stitching; pleated backs.

And in the Flannel and Cotton Waists, the variety is just as great. Space only for a brief mention.

Flannel tailor-stitched Waist with 8 rows of hemstitching and 8 pleats in front; pleated back; bishop sleeves with narrow one-buttoned cuff; stock with silk stitched tie and buckle; pearl buttons. White or light blue. $3.50.

White, black or green serge Waist, made with box-pleated front and back; stock with turn-over of same; two-buttoned cuffs. $3.50.

A new Vest of white mercerized Vesting; pleated front and plain back; fancy stock and tie. $5.00.

Taking our general lines of Cotton and Wool Waists the range of prices is quite a broad one—for cotton $1.50 to $6; for wool, $1.75 to $8.

A Study in Black.

English Pierolas, fine black Dress Goods, at 85c a yard—imported to retail for $1.50.

A case of the cleverest buying that ever came under our notice.

One thousand yards of these rich and lustrous Black English Pierolas, on which we save the customer 65c on each yard. Nothing better for good serviceable wear.

Wrist Bags.

A year ago a fad—today an absolute necessity. No article of leather goods in recent years has had such universal demand.

We have these Wrist Bags in such exclusive leathers as walrus, sea bear, antelope, dull seal, lizard, alligator and suede with beautiful art mountings in rose gold, gun metal, oxidized and French gray finishes, lined with fine ooze or silk. Some of the finer ones are fitted with card case, purse and cologne bottle. Prices range from $1 to $16.

Great Cutting of Velvets.

Because this is a pronounced velvet season, and because, further, our prices are so very unusual.

As an example—

65c a yard for $1.50 value in plain silk-faced colored velvets. Good colorings, suitable for waists and dress garniture.

68c and 75c a yard for $1 and $1.25 values of fancy Velutina and fancy Panne Velvets, the correct novelty this season for waists, as well as for various other uses.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets, 50c and $1.

And it is well known the regular prices are $1.00 to $2.50.

But these are samples, and as you have been told quite often, samples always get the extra touches.

The sizes in this lot are from 18 to 28.

Smart Wraps for Women

Ask for any priced garment you wish, from the lowest to the highest in this stock of women's wraps—then see what you can duplicate the garment for elsewhere. That is the fairest of all ways to judge a store.

We'll help you: Here are several Coats, in the handsomest and newest of this season's styles—which will stand all comparisons. They but faintly represent the entire gathering.

At $7.50—Short jaunty Jackets of black montagnac; well shaped, double breasted, hip pockets; seams outlined with stitching; lining of satin. These coats were made for us during dull times last summer; in Fall styles, and as the manufacturing cost was small, they cannot be equaled at the present price.

At $10—Coats of black kersey, 27 inches long; double breasted, half fitted back, turn-over cuffs; wide band of stitching around bottom; lining of satin.

At $15—Blouse Jackets of black montagnac cheviot; double-breasted; velvet collar; double stitched seams front and back; seams and peplum piped with velvet; velvet collar and belt.

At $25, $35, $40 and $50—Our collection is replete with every novelty produced up to within the last week. Paon broadcloths, panne zibelines, dull broadcloths, velvets, etc.; every style of collar and sleeves; all lengths from 19 to 58 inches.

By the way, we are selling a fine full length half-lined Coat in several cloths, for $12.50. After this lot is gone anyone will consider the same jacket good value at $20.

33 Cents a Yard for Challis.

A 50c Grade.

Three thousand yards to sell for the lower price. All wool. Prettiest of printed patterns.

And at 48c a yard, although it usually retails for 75c, 4,000 yards of French Challis, in beautiful designs and colorings.

25 Cents Each.

Hemstitched Dresser Scarfs and Covers. Cambric.

And they are fully worth 50c.

Women's Percale Wrappers 85c.

But they are worth $1.25, and we daresay there isn't one woman out of twenty that would undertake to shop for the material, and plan and stitch to get out a wrapper, when she could buy such good ones for $1.25.

How much stronger is the argument when we sell these for 85c?

Medium and dark shades of percale, skirt with deep ruffle, waist with ruffles or fancy braid.

And this is a very good place to recite that our special importation of Paris Negligee and Lounging Robes is ready. Newest models, newest materials, newest effects. Plain or elaborate—the inexpensive as well as those that cost quite a neat sum.

In the American makes of these garments, choice is from all the favorite materials, beginning at $1.25 and running easily to $25.

Some Little Prices for Silks.

Perhaps you wonder why we are so constantly referring to silks. The same old reason: When one is doing a rushing business one likes to talk of the goods and the prices that contribute to it.

For today—

65c a yard for $1 and $1.25 values in open-work stripes interspersed with small pin stripes of iridescent colorings; Cannele Bayadere stripe Taffeta in solid colorings—every color desired for waists.

85c a yard for $1 values in a popular novelty — blue and green check Louisine, various sizes of checks, and a choice line of plaids and printed warps.

$1 a yard for $1.35 values in broche printed warp on a combined ground of Louisine and Taffeta; Lace Striped Taffeta interspersed with printed warp stripes in color combinations. Fine for the separate waist.

68c a yard for an 85c quality of Brocaded Taffeta, guaranteed to wear.

Our Great $1 Kid Gloves.

Women's.

There are many $1 kid gloves around the city, but of such inferiority as to preclude any idea of comparison with these:

Our first special Glove for $1 is a 2-clasp overseam medium weight kid glove, with embroidered back. Made specially for us in France. All the new Autumn shades, besides white and black.

Our second special Kid Glove for $1 is a heavy mannish Glove expressly for women's street wear. It is of a fine quality and of a beautiful shape. It is one-clasp.

The third special Glove for $1 is a strap-seamed mocha with a soft velvet finish. It, also, is a one-clasp glove.

Embroideries.

News of them is always relished.

Cambric—2 to 12 inches wide—5c to 25c a yard—worth 10c to 50c.

Nainsook—broken sets—8c to 50c a yard—were 15c to 75c.

Tuckings, all this season's designs and styles, are marked ONE-THIRD OFF old prices.

Laces—Little to Pay.

Just the kind needed.

English Torchon Laces, 3c to 10c a yard.

Black Chantilly Lace and Galloons, 5c to 10c a yard—worth 10c to 25c a yard.

Some short pieces of Laces, Chiffons and All-Overs will be out on tables today, marked ONE-HALF of former prices.

The New Furs Are Ready.

Everything from the finest of seal and sable coats down to least expensive scarfs.

And if you will take a suggestion from us in good part, we offer the advice that of all times for buying a fur coat the present is the best. This suggestion is meant for those women who have been discussing the matter, and it has been settled that they are to have something fine.

The selection of an elegant coat should have some considerable of your time, and as you know you are to have one, the best of all times is now, when lines are complete.

Nothing would give us greater pleasure than to talk the matter over with you.

As for small furs, we never had such a complete stock, for we are quite sure this is going to be the greatest fur season that Pittsburg has seen for some winters.

Take the following as some examples of prices:

Today at $5, $10 and $20 we place on sale quite a collection of Fur Scarfs and Boas, comprising the fur of the mink, the marten, the 'possum, the sable and other furs. All the various new shapes are represented. For the most part there is only one of a kind, though that is an advantage rather than a detriment, and we cannot under any circumstances reproduce them for a like price later.

Something very unusual is a real mink two-striped Scarf, dark, large winter catch of skins, with 8 full bushy tails and chain fastener, at $20.

Another offer, quite as remarkable, is a genuine Black Marten Scarf, extra wide and long and heavily furred northern skins, with 8 real marten tails to match. The real value of this scarf is $20, but our price is $15.

Scissors 50c a Pair.

Regular prices 75c, $1, $1.25 and $1.50.

Today on table under the dome we will have on sale 1,800 pairs of Shears and Scissors, odd lots from the best Solingen makers, picked up by our buyer while on a visit to that foreign town.

Sizes run from 3 to 8½ inches.

Special Sale of Untrimmed Hats, 50c Each.

These are new shapes in scratched felt, plain felt and beaver. For women who like to employ their time in planning and suggesting new ideas in trimming, this offer will readily commend itself.

The millinery of this store enjoys broad fame—no less for its exclusive variety and perfection of style than for its being the least expensive of all fashionable millinery.

Some examples:

New Broad Brim Hats in all the new Autumn shades, and the always popular black, $1.00 each.

Children's School Hats or stitched cloths, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

Children's Trimmed Hats, pretty effects in wings and ribbons, $3.50, $5 and $8.

For ladies every pretty style that famous milliners have disclosed for the Autumn season, including a host of dainty conceptions from our own workrooms.

Tailored Hats for the promenade and for general wear where they will likely be put to the test, $3.50, $5 and $7.50.

Special tables full of ladies' Trimmed Hats and Toques, $5 and $7.50—worth double. These are trimmed with bird wings and quills and are made from the frame.

For the refined and the ornate, for everything that is beautiful in the high art of millinery, ladies are respectfully referred to our French Model Hats. Each hat was carefully selected in Paris by our representative, who from long experience, is perfectly familiar with the tastes of Pittsburg ladies. The collection embodies Theater Hats, Hats for calling, Hats for church, Shopping Hats and Carriage Hats. Severally and collectively the styles are exclusive. The price range is from $22 to $65.

PENN AND FIFTH.

SHERMAN LAW TRUST REMEDY

Secretary of Treasury Shaw Believes Its Enforcement Will Solve Problem.

FREE TRADE MONOPOLY

Standard Oil Company Has No Protection, but Leads Them All—Figures Show Good Points of U. S. Steel Corporation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Oct. 8.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw addressed the Massachusetts Republican club this evening on trusts. After a general discussion of the subject, Secretary Shaw said:

"There may be, I believe there is, statesmanship now in congress that can improve the Sherman anti-trust law. I am not here to say it cannot be done, but I am here to declare to you, gentlemen, that if it can be done it will be done, and that right early. I only insist that the time has arrived to relax a little and begin looking at the thing through calm, dispassionate and non-partisan eyes.

"There are now pending in the federal courts several cases based upon alleged violations of th Sherman act (I do not recall any brought under any Democratic administration), and I insist that if evidence can be found to establish the facts alleged in the declaration, there will be no difficulty about the decisions.

"The charge against the beef packers is that they have advanced prices in pursuance of an unlawful combination and have restrained trade for the purpose of making this possible. That is exactly what the Sherman law forbids.

"If the packers have combined or conspired, and this fact can be proven, then woe to the packers. The contest, as I understand it, is to be fair and manly and to a finish; but it is evidence that will deal the death blow, if it is dealt.

Some Remedies Suggested.

"I now desire to look at some remedies that have been suggested. Prominent is that of publicity. And yet I think no one expects this to be a complete remedy for every phase of the trust problem. It is expected to be a protection against fictitious capitalization, and to disclose, in many instances at least, the real character and inside operations of the concern, and to invite competition. It ought to do these things at least. If corporations are compelled to make public the details of their business, the actual money cost of their plants, prices paid for material, operating expenses, including wages, prices obtained for product, both gross and net profits, it will be a constant invitation to enterprise and capital, of which we have an abundance, to engage in competition. This is the remedy so earnestly recommended by our wise and conscientious president.

"Of course the opposition party comes forward with its time-honored panacea for all financial and industrial ills. It charges all evils to the protective tariff, and as a remedy for all evils it demands the removal of all protective tariffs. The trust being an admitted evil, must necessarily, from a Democratic standpoint, be occasioned by protection, and the remedy must, of course, be the removal of protection.

Free Trade Does Not Work.

"The best way to determine the wisdom of a remedy is to make application thereof to specific instances. If there is a monopoly of any kind in the United States it probably is the Standard Oil Company, and yet its success has been in no manner dependent upon the tariff. Protection, then, is not the cause of this monopoly, and if not the cause of all monopolies then its removal would not cure all monopolies.

"Neither are trusts confined to countries that pursue the protective policy. Only 30 days ago at a trades union congress in London, resolutions were passed deprecating the 'growth of gigantic capitalistic trusts, with their enormous power of controlling production,' in more vigorous language and suggesting more drastic and revolutionary remedies than I have seen anywhere on this side of the Atlantic.

Chance of Overproduction.

"We are frequently threatened with overproduction, and against this we must always protect by increasing our markets as far as possible. But other countries also have overproduction, and from this source our industries are sure to be crushed unless protected. Does any one suppose any iron industry in the United States could have survived an inundation from Europe occasioned by recent business stagnation in some localities on the continent but for the tariff?

"The Republican party watches primarily that the American laborer shall have employment. It is probable that during the last year or two free trade in iron would have cheapened the product to the American consumer, but a million and a half people, fed and clothed directly by wages paid by the various iron and steel manufacturers, would have been again begging bread. Unreasonable prices are always objectionable, but prices unreasonably low are more objectionable and fraught with greater hardships primarily to the wage-earner, and, secondly, to all those who supply the wage-earner's necessities than prices unreasonably high.

Prevented by Democrats.

"Another remedy is a constitutional amendment which will give congress authority to deal with trusts, combinations and monopolies, wherever located, regardless of state lines. Indeed, Republicans in congress voted for such a measure once, but it failed to pass. And why? It takes a two-thirds vote in both houses to pass a measure for a constitutional amendment, and the Republican party was not that strong.

"Now, a suggestion with reference to natural and evolutionary remedies. I suppose more objection has been made and more anti-trust sentiment created by reason of the United States Steel Corporation than any other one concern. I confess its organization staggered me. I happened to be at the time the governor of a great state, and I wondered if I could originate some law that would protect two and one-half millions of the best men and women in the world. But I was unable to formulate one satisfactory even to myself. Therefore I appealed to my Democratic friends throughout the state in something like 100 campaign speeches. I had no difficulty in finding plenty of these brethren who could formulate an anti-trust resolution, so I asked them to formulate an anti-trust law. I promised if they would submit one to recommend it to the legislature of my state. But none was presented.

"Since then I have investigated somewhat, and I have discovered a few facts which are quite a consolation at least to me. One is that the United States Steel Corporation produced only 43.9 per cent of the iron ore mined in this country during the year 1901. It produced 63.9 per cent of the pig iron, 66.3 per cent of the steel ingots and castings, 50.1 per cent of the rolled products, such as steel rails, structural shapes, plates, etc., and wire, and 65.8 per cent of the wire nails. This proportion is less than it was a year ago.

Publicity Shows Honesty.

"In this connection I might add that this particular corporation on its own motion makes public many and perhaps all the important details of its business, including gross and net profits. Its receipts for the year ending June 30, 1902, derived from the sale of iron and steel and the gross earnings of its transportation companies, were in round numbers $550,000,000, and the net profits of the concern were something like $130,000,000. It therefore made a net profit of 26 per cent, not upon its capital, but upon its business from the ore bed to the finished product at the doors of its factories.

"I can recognize that there are some people who will insist that steel products are from 100 to 150 per cent too high; but if these published reports can be relied upon, a reduction of 26 per cent would exhaust all the profits of the concern. But conceding this is high, there is some consolation to be drawn from this enormous amount of business. The corporation owns its own ore, and it therefore pays out for labor, directly or indirectly, every dollar except what it pays in interest and dividends. It follows, then, that this one concern paid during the year ending June 30, 1902, directly or indirectly, over $400,000,000 for labor.

"And what became of this money? Most of it was spent primarily for food and raiment and material to build homes. This food came from the wheat fields of Minnesota and the Dakotas and from the grazing fields of the mountain states, and from the farmers' stalls in the corn belt. The material for raiment came from the cotton fields of the south and from the sheep ranches of the far west, but it all came thence by way of the factories of New England and the Atlantic states.

Thousands Receive Profits.

"Nor is this all. The farmers who received this money for food products, for cotton and for wool, spent it in turn for labor or for building material, for carpets, or clothing, or barbed wire, or nails, or other articles of consumption. The mills which ground the wheat, the packers who killed the beeves and the hogs, and the factory men who produced the cloth, paid at least 9% per cent of their gross receipts for labor. And so these millions went on and on and on, and are going still. They have cheered many homes. They have brought food to those who were starving six years ago, and they have helped, in a measure, to make us all rich.

"But I believe competition is in sight. Last year the entire rolled iron and steel products of the United States was 12,000,000 tons, of which the United States Steel Corporation produced less than 51 per cent. The Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company is building a plant near Buffalo, costing $20,000,000, and they propose to be able to produce 1,250,000 tons per annum. The independent concern with which Mr. Frick is connected is being increased to a $20,000,000 plant. I have a letter from Mr. James Swank, secretary of the American Iron and Steel association, in which he says that when the plants now in process of construction are completed the capacity of this country will be fully 24,000,000 tons per annum; you can draw your own conclusions. In my judgment we are to have competition, and it will be the kind the American people have learned to appreciate. It will be American competition, and our own artisans will not be forced upon the street again to beg while foreign workmen supply the limited needs of a paralyzed country."

SOCIETY

ONE of the earliest of the fall weddings was that of Miss Matilda Batelle Ewing, third daughter of Col. and Mrs. John Ewing, and Ralph Grant Kennedy, formerly of Chicago, but now living in Pittsburgh, which took place last evening at the home of the Ewings in Center avenue, Shadyside. It was attended by nearly 150 relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. The bride is a representative of an old family prominent in Western Pennsylvania.

The marriage was solemnized in the large parlors, the Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D., performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. W. MacMiller, as matron of honor, and Walter Kennedy, a brother of the bridegroom, came on from Philadelphia to be the best man. The brothers of the bride, Marshall Ewing and John Ewing, Jr., were the ushers. The house was prettily decorated. Palms were grouped in the parlors, where the mantels were banked with small ferns. A few white flowers furnished the only contrasting color. The bride wore a beautiful wedding gown, a white lace robe trimmed with some beautiful pointe and duchess lace which has been in the possession of the family for many years. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The matron of honor wore a gown of white silk and lace and also carried roses. During the supper the bride and bridegroom went away. After a short wedding trip they will be at home after November 1 at the home of Col. and Mrs. Ewing, No. 4041 Center avenue, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Kennedy, who recently came to Pittsburgh, has been living at the Hotel Schenley.

Among the guests at the wedding last evening was Mrs. J. E. Hays of New York, the eldest daughter of Col. and Mrs. Ewing, who has visited Pittsburgh but rarely since her wedding, a few years ago. She came on for a few days last year, when her sister, Mrs. MacMiller, was married. Mrs. Robert Carson, Jr., gave a luncheon on Monday afternoon in honor of the bride of last evening and her sister.

Wedding Invitations Received.

Invitations reached Pittsburgh yesterday for the wedding of Miss Lena Alberta Fyan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Fyan of Bedford, Pa., and Harry James Daschbach, son of Joseph Daschbach of this city. The marriage will be solemnized in St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church, Bedford, Pa., on Wednesday, October 22, at 9 o'clock in the morning, the ceremony being followed by the celebration of high mass. The Rev. Father Cashman, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Father George Kim Bigley of Altoona. A quartet will sing, Miss Grace Daschbach being the soprano.

There will be a large bridal party, including Miss M. Louise Fyan, maid of honor; Miss Mary Daschbach, Miss Etta Bradley, Miss Kate H. Murphy and Miss May Rogers of Pittsburgh; Miss Gussie Alsip and Miss Margaret Metzgar of Bedford; Miss Bessie Burns, Baltimore, and Miss Venie Hartzell of Somerset, the bridesmaids; Albert C. Daschbach, a brother of the bridegroom, the best man; J. Perry Daschbach, page, and six ushers, Frank C. Rogers, Frank T. Page, Robert C. Greth, Albert E. Murphy and J. Rogers Flannery of Pittsburgh, and J. C. Malloy of Wilmington, Del.

A house party will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fyan. Tuesday afternoon the bridegroom will give a tally-ho party for the members of the bridal party, which will be followed by the wedding rehearsal. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Fyan will give a dinner. The young couple will take a wedding trip south, but will return to spend the holidays in Pittsburgh and Bedford, going in January to Chicago for a month. In the spring they will locate in Pittsburgh.

Bray—Wuth.

Miss Mary Frances Bray and William Barclay Wuth were married last evening at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wright, in Woodlawn avenue. The bride was given away by Mr. Wright and was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Bray, who was maid of honor. Freeman Mould was the best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lemuel Call Barnes, D. D., pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. The bride wore a wedding gown of white crepe de chine, and carried a shower bouquet of white Bridesmaid roses. Her maid of honor also appeared in a gown of white, trimmed with lace. Mr. and Mrs. Wuth left for New York last evening. They will return in a few weeks and will be at home after December 1 in their new home, Elm street, Edgewood park.

Felver—Stonecipher.

In the First Presbyterian church of Easton, Pa., last evening Miss Lela Hays Felver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Felver of that place, and Frank Whitmore Stonecipher of Pittsburgh were married. The ceremony was followed by a reception and wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, who has a number of friends in Pittsburgh, was attended by a bevy of young girls. Mrs. J. R. Mitchell of Philadelphia was the matron of honor and Miss Agnes Stonecipher of Easton the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Owens of Philadelphia, Miss Helen Bull, Easton; Miss Helen Stonecipher, Easton; Miss Margaret Thorpe, Woodbury, N. J.; Miss Jean Thomas, Baltimore, and Miss Edna Sansom, Indiana, Pa. The best man was J. Burton Felver of Easton, and the ushers, T. J. Grayson, Wayne, Pa.; A. P. Reid, West Chester; S. C. Fixler, Easton; C. B. Downs, Philadelphia; D. R. Brown, Springfield, S. D., and R. W. Fuller, Scranton.

After a wedding trip Mr. Stonecipher and his bride will be at home at No. 5109 Hays street, East End, at home day being after November 10. Mr. Stonecipher is one of the younger lawyers in Pittsburgh.

Krepps—Holding.

The wedding of Miss Laura May Krepps, daughter of Mrs. James T. Krepps, and James Clarke Carlisle Holding, took place last evening at the home of the bride's mother in Bellefonte street, Shadyside. Because of the death of the bride's father, Dr. James Krepps, a few months ago, the wedding was quietly conducted and only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The bride was attended by her little cousin, Lenore McCormick, of Uniontown, Pa., who was flower girl. A sister of the bride, Miss Elma Krepps, and Miss Anna Holding, the bridegroom's sister, preceded the bride into the parlors and held the ribbons forming the aisle through which the bridal party passed. After the wedding supper the bride and bridegroom left for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Holding is a graduate of the Pennsylvania College for Women. Since her graduation she has taken up library work and lately has been connected with the staff of the Carnegie library. Mr. Holding was graduated from the Rose Polytechnic of Terre Haute, Ind. Both he and the bride have been identified with the circle of young people in Christ Methodist Episcopal church.

Gray—Boyd.

The Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D., pastor of the Bellefield Presbyterian church, officiated last evening at the wedding of Miss Carrie Gray and William Stanley Boyd, of Monessen, Pa. The ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives, was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Gray, in Forbes street, at 8:30 o'clock. The bride is a very pretty girl. She was attended last evening by her cousin, Miss Mary Gray, of Alder street, East End. Frank Boyd of Adrian, Mich., a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. It was a green and white wedding, and the house was prettily decorated with plams, ferns and a profusion of white flowers. The bride wore a white gown of Persian lawn, trimmed with lace, and her flowers were white carnations. Her maid of honor wore white and carried malden hair ferns. After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Boyd left for the west and will visit the home of Mr. Boyd's parents, in Adrian. After their return they will spend a week in Pittsburgh before going to their new home in Monessen, where they will be at home after December 1.

In Honor of a Baltimore Guest.

Mrs. Joseph Jones and her sister, Mrs. Harry Wilson Gleffer, gave a reception yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jones in South Negley avenue, East End. Their guest of honor was Miss Eichheitz of Baltimore, who is visiting Mrs. Gleffer. Miss Eichholtz visited in Pittsburgh three years ago and made many friends here. The reception was from 2 o'clock until 5. It was followed by an informal dinner for the ladies who assisted, and in the evening a card party was given for the married friends of the two hostesses, the festivities all being conducted at the residence of Mrs. Jones.

The two hostesses and their guest of honor received together during the afternoon and a number of friends assisted. The house was handsomely decorated with palms and ferns and the mantels were banked with small tropical plants. In the parlors were masses of pink roses arranged unconventionally. Yellow appeared in the reception hall and the dining room was decorated in scarlet. The lights were covered with pretty shades formed of flowers.

Tallon—Jarvons.

A pretty home wedding was celebrated last evening in Beaver at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Tallon, the contracting parties being their daughter, Miss Nellie M., and Cyrus D. Javens, of Rochester. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Appleton Bash, of the Beaver Methodist Episcopal church. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a gown of white organdie, over white silk. The guests were from Beaver, Rochester, Steubenville and Pittsburgh. The house was beautifully decorated with tropical plants and cut flowers. The couple left for an eastern wedding trip, and on their return will reside in Rochester.

Carnegie Women Active.

The Woman's club of Carnegie, Mrs. William J. Glenn, president, will hold its next meeting tomorrow afternoon in the library building. The chairman of the meeting will be Miss Susie McNall, and the program will include a parliamentary drill by Miss J. Hyndman; a discussion of current events, by Mrs. W. D. Happer, and sketches of American poets, by Mrs. Add Clark. Miss Hyndman will also deliver a lecture on the work of the Consumers' league and the principles upon which it is founded. The club is shaping its work largely along civic lines. The beautifying of the town will be the main object and an effort will be made to have the borough council fix up the streets, keep them clean and improve the sanitary conditions of the town. The school yards will also receive attention. In order to provide funds for the work the club will give a piano and song recital on Tuesday evening, October 21, in the Music hall of the Carnegie library, and Madame Kate Ockleston-Lipps and Miss Henrietta Keil will be on the program.

Dinner for a Bridal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Montgomery gave a very handsome dinner at their home, "Idle Hours," in Bank street, Sewickley, last night, the guests including the bridal party which will be in attendance this evening at the wedding of their daughter, Miss Sophia E. Montgomery, and Frank Davenport. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock, after which the rehearsal took place. The house was handsomely decorated, the same color scheme of pink and white being in evidence last night as will be used for the wedding this evening. In the dining room great masses of pink roses were used as decorations. The bridegroom presented the ushers with handsome pearl stick pins, and Miss Montgomery gave the maid of honor an elaborate ring, and to each of her bridesmaids neck ribbon pins. Last evening's party was made up of Frank M. Davenport and Miss Estelle Montgomery; Miss Frances G. Montgomery, a sister of the bride, who will act as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Julia Davenport, sister of the groom; Miss Lu Holden, Miss Mary Darragh and Miss Mabel Linginger, of Greenville, Pa. George Kepler, Dan Buck, Guy Bartlett, of Buffalo; George Steele, Chester Baltzel and Charles Fowler, the ushers, with Robert Caldwell, who will act as best man. E. Crocker. Pretty decorations of carnations, the club flower, prevailed throughout the parlors and the dining room, where tea was served. In addition to the members of the club the guests included presidents of other women's clubs in Pittsburgh. HIGH PILE CARPETINGS.

ORIENTAL RUGS — We have already proven that in the selling of these goods we are far in advance, in both selections and in the manner in which we price them—bases all prices, as we do on commercial values—and not on the Eastern romance. We cannot describe as large a stock—nor specialize as to prices—they mean nothing unless you see the Rugs—therefore see them.

OUR FINE CARPETS — Appeal to the cultivated taste at once—representing as they do the highest development of the art as applied to loom products—Our selections here have been made with a thorough knowledge of what a Carpet must be, as to colors, to give the service demanded, in the locality as well as the interior decorative effects or a floor covering—

Our windows mildly suggest the wealth of rich beauty you may expect to see inside—and the display in them simply seconds our invitation to come in—and inspect the line.

THE SAW THAT SEES.

"Ho, Ho!" said the Regal Saw, as it cut through the painted finish of a tricky shoe in the window test.

"I'm somewhat of an X-ray myself—don't you think?

"You're a deep one Mr. Shoe, and a Slick one,—but I'll let daylight through your deceptions whether you need it or not!

"Dyed in the sole, is your glossy black disguise; but explain away this red badge of brittle Hemlock I've opened up, or I'll disgrace you quick!

"Cousin to that other chameleon, 'Yankee Oak,' are you?

"He whose hard, unbending sole has been chemically bleached and softened, soaked and whitened, till all that was good and honest in him changed to all that looked like Oak leather, and wore like paper!

"Off with your coat, and show us what cute apology you've got for an insole—what cheapened fraud for a toe cap—what covered treachery for upper leather!

"Ninety per cent of the shoes I've dissected were like you—made to sell only—and sold on their looks.

"Every Regal shoe has the Oak leather sole of a $6.00 shoe, and 'The Window of the Sole' on every pair proves it before purchase."

R·I·PANS

I had been troubled with sick headache and biliousness, chiefly after arising in the morning, and also with constipation, and had suffered much with each of these troubles until some months ago, when I happened to be advised by a friend to try Ripans Tabules, which I am now glad I did. They did me great good.

Regarding Sideboards

The Sideboard is ever a congenial topic of conversation because of the beauty and utility of this particular piece of furniture when it is selected with discrimination.

In every instance it is important to remember that such furniture need not be expensive. It is one thing to pay an extravagant price and quite another to secure something that will cause one's friends to talk about the rare beauty of one's dining room equipment.

The Sideboard pictured above is of such attractiveness as to win a place in the affections at first glance.

And if you require new chairs for the dining room, or a new table, it will pay you well to come to

REPEALER IS UP AS A PROTECTOR

City Solicitor Carnahan Explains Diamond Street Widening Situation.

FEAR THE CONTESTANTS

City Government Takes Position That Abutting Property and Not the City Generally Should Pay for Improvement.

According to those who are at present at the head of the city government, there is no intention just now of pushing the passage of the ordinance that has been introduced to repeal the ordinance authorizing the opening and widening of Diamond street from Smithfield street to the Diamond market. City Solicitor Thomas D. Carnahan, who prepared and had introduced the repealing ordinance, and to whom all questions about it are referred, said yesterday that he does not advocate the passage of the ordinance, unless it is found that it is necessary to pass it in order to protect the city. Speaking of the matter yesterday, he said:

"I am not to be understood as recommending anything in connection with the ordinance. I simply prepared that ordinance so that councils and the city government would be in a position to protect the city in case there is danger of the great part of the cost of this needed improvement being placed on the city. The people along that street have been talking for several years about wanting this improvement. I think it a good thing, but I think the abutting property which is benefited ought to pay for it, or rather I do not think that the city in general ought to be compelled to pay the cost.

Guarding Against Exceptants.

"There were a number of exceptions filed to the report of the board of viewers. The inference is that the exceptants are going to appeal whenever the report is filed. I received the report from the bureau of viewers, but I sent it back with instructions to hold it. If the property owners are disposed to bear their share of the improvement it ought to be made. But if the cost is going to be put on the city at large, it ought not to be made. The ordinance ought not to be passed at this time. If conditions justify it, it need never be passed. The ordinance for the opening and widening can be repealed at any time within 30 days after the report of the board of viewers is filed in court."

Real estate men are taking a lively interest in the fate of the Diamond street widening measure and express themselves very forcibly in favor of steps being taken to bring about the proposed improvement at once. Setting aside the question of higher values on nearby properties, which are almost sure to result from the improvement, the need of another street is sufficient, in the minds of brokers, to justify the widening now.

Real Estate Men Want Improvements.

"The idea of repealing the widening ordinance should not be entertained for a moment," said Samuel W. Black. "The widening will be a splendid thing for the city in every way, and we hope to see it brought about at once. It is really a necessity in order to relieve the congestion in the downtown section."

A strong argument in favor of the widening was advanced by J. C. Ewing of the United Realty Trust Company. "Downtown Pittsburgh needs another retail street," he said. "There is a constant and increasing demand for more store space. We have on our books many inquiries from merchants in other large cities who wish to locate in Pittsburgh. To find them rooms within their means or sites that are desirable to build upon is next to impossible. With Diamond street widened, both sides of the thoroughfare would soon be built up with good store rooms."

F. T. Lauinger of Haas & Lauinger is a strong advocate of the improvement. "It must come soon," he said, "to give Pittsburgh's business center more room. The present high rents are now driving many merchants out to localities that are not the best suited for their business and are keeping many prospective local investors out of the mercantile business. The whole downtown section would be greatly benefited by the improvement."

Should Go Through to Liberty.

Another prominent broker said: "The improvement is just what is needed so far as it goes, but it should go further at the earliest possible moment. Diamond street, if it stops at Market street, really begins nowhere and ends nowhere. Persons who wish to go down to Liberty or Penn avenue will still go through Fifth or Fourth avenue in order to obviate the need of going through or around the market houses. If the street were widened through to Liberty avenue it would be a much greater benefit to the city and should be paid for in part by the city."

BUTCHERS ARRESTED.

Government Thinks They Were Trying to Defraud United States on Contract for Army Supplies.

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 8.—Aaron Marx, Louis Vasserman and J. A. Codd, prominent butchers of this city, were arrested today, on complaints filed in the United States court charging them with conspiracy to defraud the government by jointly operating fictitious bids for supplying the Norfolk navy yards with 100,000 pounds of fresh meat and 100,000 pounds of fresh vegetables.

Richard Eastwood of the firm of Eastwood & Jordan is charged with the same offense, but is in Washington and has not been apprehended.

The bonds submitted by the accused were as follows: Eastwood, $10,250; Codd, $18,000; Wasserman, $16,000, and Marx, $15,400.

The arrests grow out of a recent conference between Attorney Miller and the authorities in Washington. The accused were released on bail.

Jury Disbelieves Fit Story.

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH., Oct. 8.—After being out 22½ hours a jury today found John A. Hargraves guilty of manslaughter. Hargraves last April choked his invalid wife and beat her to death. His defense was that if he killed the woman it was while he was having a fit, to which he was subject.

Here's a Hot One.

A gentleman came into our store to buy one hundred dollars' worth of chairs. Mr. Pickering asked him what price chairs he desired.

Said he: "Give me twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs, and the balance in three-dollar chairs."

Pickering's salesmen figured that the order could be filled in six different ways.

The gentleman was not satisfied. He wanted another way.

Now, Mr. Pickering wants a seventh way. The first person sending in seven different ways or solutions will receive a handsome parlor rocker. The next four will receive a parlor rocker.

It doesn't matter how many three-dollar chairs are in the order as long as he has twice as many two-dollar chairs as one-dollar chairs. But he must have some of each kind. Send your name, address and solution to Pickering's Adv. Dept., Tenth and Penn, Pittsburgh.

TURTLE CREEK VALLEY OPPOSED TO DAM SITE.

The residents of the Turtle Creek valley are thoroughly aroused over the announcement made in The Gazette last week that the new dam, No. 3, which the government will build, is to be located a short distance below the mouth of Turtle creek, where it empties into the Monongahela river.

The Gazette explained to what extent the various towns in the valley would be damaged, owing to the creek being slack-watered. Work has been taken up in earnest against the proposed location, and some of the most influential residents of the district have enlisted in the fight against the proposed location.

The matter will be placed in the hands of Congressman John Dalzell, and it is hoped that the government will be induced to locate the new dam above the mouth of the creek, and thus prevent damages to several thousand property holders.

PREJUDICE FELT EVEN IN COURTS

VREELAND ON STANDING OF STREET RAILWAYS.

Seven Hundred Attend Annual Meeting of Association at Detroit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DETROIT MICH., Oct. 8.—Over 700 street railway men were present in Light Guard armory when the twenty-first annual meeting of the American Street Railway association was called to order today. President Herbert H. Vreeland, who is the head of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company of New York, briefly replied to Mayor William C. Maybury's address of welcome to the delegates, after which he severely arraigned the present day attitude of the public, of municipal assemblies and of state legislatures toward street railway interests. He charged that notwithstanding the fact that inviolability of contract was one of the very fundamental principles of American government, contracts between municipalities and street railway companies were apparently held to be binding only upon the companies, the contracts being infringed constantly by new taxes and new regulations.

"Even in the courts the standing of the corporation is prejudiced," said Mr. Vreeland, "and before a jury sworn to render an impartial verdict upon the facts, its first and constant care is to remove from the minds of the jurymen a frankly admitted antagonism. Although the supreme court of the United States held that the income tax law was unconstitutional, many states discriminate against railways by requiring them to pay additional taxes upon their gross earnings.

"I look forward eagerly to the day when street railway men will stand up for the right of their corporations as firmly as they do for their individual rights."

President Vreeland declared that one of the points street railway men would have to gain in the near future was the free interchange of freight cars between electric and steam railroads.

President Vreeland showed that during the year 1901 capital invested in street railways in the United States had been increased by $477,605,002 and the mileage by 2,594 miles.

The report of Secretary-Treasurer T. C. Penington showed that of the present membership of 191 companies one is in Porto Rico, one in Mexico and five in Canada. The receipts of the association during the past year were $8,878 and the expenditures $8,559, the cash balance on hand being $9,948.

This afternoon Secretary L. C. Penington announced that applications received today had increased the association's membership to 210 companies. Mr. Penington made a rough estimate of 2,200 as the number of people attracted to Detroit by the convention.

MEDITATED FOR HOUR THEN TOOK HIS LIFE

John Berger, an Old Salesman, Sent Revolver Bullet Into His Brain.

After sitting along the banks of the Ohio river and meditating over the events of his life for an hour, John Berger, salesman for Wolfe, Walker & Co., of No. 511 Wood street, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a 44-caliber revolver just under the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad bridge at Saw Mill run, West End, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Berger died instantly. Frank McMahon of No. 901 Steuben street saw the man commit the rash act. He hurried to the water's edge, where Berger was lying, but he was dead.

Ill health is supposed to have been the motive Berger had for taking his life. He went to West End at noon yesterday and took dinner at Carlin's hotel. He visited several barber shops in that section soliciting trade, and at 2 o'clock he walked to the Point bridge. He returned in a short time and sat on a barrel on the bank of the river. Berger seemed to be in deep thought. While he was sitting there he was siezed with a coughing spell. Frank McMahon saw him trying to suppress his cough, but paid no more attention to him.

Suddenly he seemed to have taken a desperate resolve and pulling a large revolver from his coat pocket, shot himself in the left temple. The bullet pierced his brain, killing him instantly. McMahon saw the man place the weapon to his head. The report of the shot followed and McMahon ran to his side. Berger fell from the barrel and rolled to the river's edge. His right arm went into the water. Officers Thomas O'Brien and Thomas Richardson were summoned and they searched the man's clothing and notified the morgue.

Several peddlers' licenses were found on his person, and a letter of identification from Wolfe, Walker & Co., together with $35.45 and a razor. Berger's appearance showed that he had been accustomed to better conditions in life. His features were refined and intellectual. He was about 50 years old. It was learned from Wolfe, Walker & Co. yesterday that Berger had been working for that firm for several years.

STRIKE AFFECTS INSURANCE.

New Yorkers Want to Know How Much Oil They May Use.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The great demand for substitutes for coal for heating purposes has caused applications to be made to the New York board of fire underwriters for a change in policy with respect to the amount of fuel oil allowed by the insurance companies to be stored in buildings.

Inspectors for the board of underwriters have examined several full oil heating systems and have made reports. Some action will be taken at a meeting next Wednesday. Tests of the system of one of the fuel oil heating company's burners are to be made tomorrow in five of the schools in Greater New York.

DESERTER THREW OFF WAR TRAPS

Strange Scene as Eighteenth Marched Down Fifth Avenue.

JEERS AFFECTED HIM

He Tore Off Knapsack and Blanket Roll, Threw Away His Rifle and Left the Ranks—Act May Cost Him Dearly.

The jeers of the people lining the sidewalks of Fifth avenue, while the Eighteenth regiment was passing Smithfield street Tuesday night, led one rash youth in the ranks of the regiment to show his sympathy for the strikers. Tearing off his knapsack and blanket roll and throwing away his rifle, he darted from the lines and up Fifth avenue past the Hotel Henry, crying out that he would not lend himself to the opponents of union labor.

Fully a hundred men and boys, who had hissed the soldiers during the march down the avenue, surrounded the young man, and shook hands with him. He seemed proud of his desertion, and although everybody looked for a detail to follow him, it was evident the officers of the regiment did not know that a desertion had taken place, his comrades in arms suppressing the fact and carrying his kit until they reached the train.

He Was a Mere Boy.

Although the men, who were in sympathy with the strikers and hissed the soldiers to show their disapproval of the governor's order, complimented the youth, many pitied the young fellow. Several men followed the boy to tell him to return to the ranks, and that his duty to the state was greater than mere sympathy for any movement.

The man's name could not be learned, but will be discovered on roll call. He was heavily built, had very light hair and was boyish in appearance. He ran up Fifth avenue, turning from side to side with a bravado air, as though he thought he had done what was right in deserting. A thousand persons must have witnessed this act, yet in all the crowd no person seemed to know his name.

The boy stopped for a minute outside of William Walker's pool room and gave his reasons for deserting. Employes of the room saw his actions and he was followed by a reporter for The Gazette, but he turned down an alley and disappeared before he could be reached.

Penalty Is Heavy.

Line officers of the Eighteenth regiment denied any knowledge of a desertion, but it is probable they did not discover who had left the ranks before the train departed for the east. An investigation will be ordered and the young man arrested, as soon as he can be found.

According to the state laws governing the discipline of the national guard, a man who refuses to turn out, when ordered to do so, for active service, shall be subject to such penalty as a general court-martial may impose, if convicted, in accordance with the military code of the United States. This code gives the court-martial the power of life and death, and the latter penalty can be inflicted by the court-martial, if it so deems best. The military code prescribes the death penalty for desertion.

Although it is not likely that the court-martial would impose any such sentence, the extent of his punishment would be in its hands, and he could be sent to prison for a long term.

EVANS WILL BE REQUISITIONED

Man Arrested in Youngstown Will Be Brought Here for Trial.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY

County Detective G. Robinson Makes Information Alleging He Took $40,000 from Keystone Copper & Gold Mining Co.

Requisition papers were prepared yesterday for John M. Evans, who was taken into custody at Youngstown last Tuesday night, and forwarded to Harrisburg. They will then be sent to Columbus, O., for the signature of the Ohio governor.

Two informations, one for larceny and the other for false pretense, were made before Justice of the Peace H. C. Robinson by County Detective Robinson Tuesday afternoon.

The one charging larceny against Evans alleges he took personal property and valuables to the amount of $40,000 on September 1, 1901, from the Keystone Copper and Gold Mining Company.

The information for false pretenses charges him with obtaining by "sundry and divers false pretenses on September 1, 1901, $1,000 in cash and 4,000 shares of the capital stock of the corporation, of a par value of $10 each, amounting to $40,000, with intent to cheat and defraud.

Charles B. McLean, president of the Keystone Copper and Gold Mining Company, formed chiefly by Pittsburghers, says that the way Dr. John M. Evans, the vice president and general manager of the company, manipulated things, means that the Pittsburgh shareholders are out an investment of $86,000, and Evans has possession of the mines in Arizona.

The company was launched about two years ago, and its property has excellent promise in the field near Phoenix, Ariz., but the Pittsburgh shareholders gave up an effort to fight their case in the Arizona court and now propose to have Evans tried for misappropriating $86,000. Mr. McLean said last night:

"The stockholders of this company arranged to purchase, through Dr. Evans, certain mining claims for $86,000, and the money was forwarded from here. It developed afterwards that Evans only paid $45,000 for the property, and must have retained or diverted the rest from the purpose for which it was intended to be expended.

"In buying the property Evans had deeds made out in his own name. He has had possession from September 1, 1901, till the present time.

"It is true that Evans won a suit in the case in Arizona, but under circumstances which do not affect our criminal proceedings against him now. He brought suit to establish his title to the property and we, instead of filing an answer filed a demurrer, which the court overruled, and subsequently this court decided the case for him through our default in filing no answer."

At Youngstown yesterday Dr. Evans made a determined fight to secure his liberty and his attorneys secured his release on habeas corpus proceedings, but he was at once re-arrested on a warrant issued by Common Pleas Judge Rodgers. At a hearing in the afternoon his attorneys raised the point that the information was not properly certified to. Judge Rogers admitted this, but decided to hold him until papers will be had.

VETERAN'S PECULIAR WILL.

Suber Gives What Is Left After His Funeral to Theresa Wolf.

The will of Frederick Suber of Pittsburgh was filed for probate yesterday. It reads as follows: "In the year of our Lord that the said Frederick Suber gives all right, title whatsoever is left of my funeral to Theresa Wolf, and direct a mark over my grave not to exceed $200, with my name and Company C, One Hundredth Pennsylvania Volunteers. This is my last will." The estate is valued at $2,400.

The will of Martha J. Cook of Natrona was filed. The decedent's sons, William R. and Harry W. Cook, are bequeathed $5 each, and the balance of a $1,000 estate goes to the husband of the testatrix.

By the will of Olive A. Guy of Oakmont an estate worth $5,100 goes to her children. Attorney E. E. Fulmer represents the estate.

Upon petition of the Monongahela Trust Company a citation was issued upon the father of John Lesnak to show cause why he should not take out letters of administration on the estate of his son.

The wills of Simon P. Lessig and Amanda M. Lessig were filed for probate, leaving an estate of $3,000 to their children. Attorney W. L. McConegly represents the executors.

TOOK FRIEND'S HORSE.

Colored Man Disposed of an Animal Left With Him—Other Criminal Court Cases.

In criminal court yesterday Harry Jackson was convicted of larceny by bailee. He was accused by Van Reynolds of disposing of a horse valued at $50 which the latter had intrusted to him. All the parties are colored.

George Murray, colored, was convicted of unlawful wounding. He became involved in a disturbance in a Hill district house on May 24, in which Rosa Welkins was slightly cut. He was sentenced to 10 months in the workhouse.

Other convictions were: Schowick Wasser, assault and battery, Joseph Kopas prosecutor; Thomas H. Lester, larceny of a seal press valued at $7 from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; Nick Manus, pointing firearms at Peter Tutulis; Jacob Walker, assault and battery on Charles Kraus.

William Hill, a boy, was acquitted of a charge of entering a dwelling with intent to commit a felony. Samuel Black of No. 1236 Clark street was prosecutor.

Frank Wolf and John Spohr were acquitted on a charge of the larceny of some shoes and tobacco valued at $15 from the Pennsylvania railroad yards.

Joseph Hantman, accused of the larceny of some cigars from the Pittsburgh Tobacco Company June 7, proved his innocence and was acquitted. He was represented by Attorney A. C. Stein.

Frank H. Dabbs, who was convicted on Tuesday of assault and battery on Mary S. McMullan, was fined 6¼ cents and costs.

John Huckenstein and Edward Aul, two boys, who were charged with taking some goods from the Pennsylvania railroad yards, had sentence suspended by paying the costs and entering into a recognizance in the sum of $600 each for their good behavior.

The case against Charles G. Howard, charged with the larceny of a stove from Frank Spangler of Braddock, was nolle prossed on the payment of costs by defendant.

COULD NOT FIND COURT.

Italian's Novel Excuse for Not Appearing at a Trial—Paul H. Hacke's Trouble.

It was necessary to send a deputy sheriff after Comelga Dianarelli, a defendant in an assault and battery case, when it was called for trial yesterday morning. When Dianarelli was brought before Judge Collier he was asked what excuse he had, and replied that he could not find the court house.

"You must have very bad eyesight," said Judge Collier, "to be unable to see a big building like the court house. You had better sit down there and try and see your case." The case was not tried, as the prosecutor, John Yak, failed to appear.

Paul H. Hacke, for whom a process was issued on Tuesday, appeared in court and explained his absence by stating he had been at a funeral in Greensburg, and that he had understood the case, which he said amounted to little, was to come up on Wednesday. He will be sentenced during the latter part of the week.

GAVE STATE'S EVIDENCE.

Former Partner in an Alleged Swindling Scheme Tells His Story.

In the United States district court the case charging use of the United States mails for fraudulent purposes against Jacob Green, Charles W. Tammany and Joseph Rubinsky occupied the day. The most important witness heard was Morris Levy, who testified to having been one of the original offenders, and explained how transactions with various firms had been conducted under the name of "A. Levy."

A quarrel with the defendants caused a disruption, and Levy decided to give state's evidence. He told of one trip to Boston, made by the defendants, with goods valued at $1,500 to be sold, and the close shave they had from exposure at that time by being arrested by the police.

SAYS CONTRACT IS VOID.

Weber & Fields File Answer to Suit of Harry Williams Asking $1,000 Damages.

Weber & Fields, defendants in the suit of W. H. Walker, known as Harry Williams, yesterday filed an answer in common pleas court No. 3. Walker seeks $1,000 for an alleged breach of contract for the failure of defendants to give a performance at one of his theaters.

The defendants state that the action is not legal. It is denied the agreement was in force at the time suit was brought, having previously been cancelled, it is alleged. It is also alleged that at the time the agreement or contract was made, there were also made three others for performances of different companies. After signing them in July, 1896, it is said, the defendants notified the plaintiff of their desire to play the Russell Bros.' combination in Pittsburgh, and the plaintiff wrote that if they did, he would regard all contracts cancelled, and later notified them he had done so. The affidavit is signed by Joseph M. Weber.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Suit was entered by the Knob Coal Company against the McKinley Coal Company to recover $2,500 on a note.

Application was made for a charter for the First Bavarian Union Beneficial Society, South Side, Pittsburgh. Attorney Henry Meyer represents the society.

The master in the divorce proceedings of Katherine Leinbach against Berthold Leinbach, filed his report recommending that a decree be granted. Desertion is charged.

S. P. Kennedy was awarded $750 damages against R. M. Gulick & Co. The plaintiff had some trouble at the box office of the Bijou theater, which resulted in his arrest.

Henry Deniston filed exceptions to the bond of the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad Company. The company desires to take 11 acres of his land and he claims the bond for $60,000 is inadequate. Deniston alleges the property is worth $200,000.

Judge B. S. Frazer dismissed the equity case of John Wagner against Louis Reich and others. It was alleged the defendants allowed water to run on the plaintiff's premises. As the nuisance has recently been remedied the court put the costs on Reich.

The following executions were issued: W. F. Nine, use, vs. Adam I. Wood, $1,092 50; William S. Murray, use, vs. George A. West, $155 17; W. W. Whitesell vs. George H. French, $110 70; Pennsylvania Company, etc., trustees, vs. Francis Martin, administratrix, $6,578.

Two attachments were issued against J. H. Meyers upon the claim that he has absconded from the county with the intent to defraud his creditors. The Whitmore & Co. allege Meyers owes them $1,036 87 for lumber, and the claim of Harry Hall & Co. amounts to $168 25.

When the case of Mary B. Hartman against the City of Pittsburgh was called yesterday, Owen Kelly, a juror, mistaking a remark made by Judge J. A. Evans, left the jury box and went to the rear of the room and sat down. Kelly, when taken before the judge, said he thought the court remarked that any juror who did not want to sit on the case could retire. He was sent back to the jury box. The case is to recover damages to property.

Saved by His Voice.

Harry Smith, 14 years old, of Jackson, Mich., yesterday sang himself out of jail, by captivating the police magistrate and other officials, with his voice. The boy's travels with Hugh Gannon, at one time a popular song writer, were told in yesterday's Gazette. Gannon was yesterday sent to Marshalsea suffering from delirium tremens. Inspector Frederick Will did not desire to keep Smith in prison and communicated with a theatrical manager. If Smith can be used in a local theater his expenses will be paid until his parents can be communicated with.

Heavy Bridge Lowered.

The new railroad bridge at Liberty avenue and Eleventh street was lowered 18 inches, to its permanent foundation yesterday. The bridge was built on a temporary foundation of wooden blocks, because of the need for allowing ample clearance for street traffic. Recently the grade of Liberty avenue at Eleventh street was lowered and yesterday the new steel bridge was dropped into place, being held suspended by hydraulic jacks while the wooden blocks were removed from under the structure.

CARNEGIE IS BUSY GIVING AWAY MONEY

Begins to Attend Series of Public Library Functions.

HE MUST SEE BUILDING PLANS

Insists on Examining the Material Used in the Structures.

RETURN HOME DELAYED

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Oct. 8.—Andrew Carnegie, who had expected to go to America in October, will not be able to get away before New Years. The rate at which he is disposing of his wealth is keeping him unexpectedly busy, and now he has taken on the additional duty of attending public functions, from the entertainment of royalty to the laying of foundation stones.

Hitherto he had contented himself with merely giving money for public libraries, but in future he will give more attention to the actual construction of the buildings, insisting on seeing the plans and examining the materials.

EDINBURGH, Oct. 8.—Mr. Carnegie was presented with the freedom of Perth today in recognition of his benefactions to Scotland.

With today's ceremonies at Perth, Mr. Carnegie began a round of functions, embracing the bestowal on him of the freedom of five cities and the opening of several libraries. The tour will close with the delivery of his annual address as lord rector of St. Andrews university, October 25, on which occasion Ambassador Choate and Ambassador White will receive honorary degrees.

Replying to the provost's presentation speech at Perth, Mr. Carnegie dilated on the horrors of so-called "civilized war" and the benefits to be derived from arbitration.

"A great good has recently come to the world," said Mr. Carnegie. "A king in disguise and not yet recognized. But, through the efforts of the czar, ably seconded by one whose memory I revere, your late ambassador, Lord Pauncefote, there now exists for the first time among men a permanent tribunal of arbitration, which is now sitting to determine a dispute between the republics of the United States and Mexico. Not a drop of blood will be shed through this dispute. It is to bring a victory which will cause no tears. In my opinion the grandest achievement of the twentieth century was the creation of this tribunal. Shame to the nation which refuses to submit its differences to the arbitrament of this high court of humanity."

Dealing with the colonies, Mr. Carnegie declared that there was no legal bond between them and the mother country that could hold the connection for a year, adding:

"Besides, you would scorn the use of force if those communities wished to set up for themselves. The motherland is not reduced to that. On the contrary, union with her is a boon so precious that the new settlements of our race should humbly sue for admission. The will of the people is the only enduring bond of union between the separate parts of the empire."

MEYER DENIES REMOVAL.

Italian Ambassador Has Heard Nothing of Change at Rome.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The correspondent of the Associated Press saw Ambassador Meyer here this morning and showed him the Washington dispatch announcing that Secretary White, of the United States embassy in London, was to succeed Mr. Meyer at Rome, he said:

"I saw President Roosevelt during the summer, stayed a day with him at Oyster Bay and he gave me no intimation of any change in the Italian mission. I have not sent in my resignation. I leave Paris next Sunday in order to be at my post October 13, the date my leave expires."

CAPT. FORD LOST.

Lighthouse Keeper Disappears from Boat While His Assistant Is Asleep.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—Capt. John Ford of the Bar Point lightship No. 59 came up to Detroit for provisions yesterday in a small sailboat. He left in the afternoon and had with him an assistant named Hansten. Hansten fell asleep and about 6 o'clock in the evening woke up to find the boat aground on Fighting island and Capt. Ford nowhere to be seen. Hansten returned to Wyandotte today and reported the loss.

Capt. Ford has been in the lightship service more than 30 years, and was mate of the Amaranth from the time she came out last spring, when he was detailed to duty as master of the lightship. He was 65 years old.

The only explanation for his disappearance is that he was suddenly taken ill or suffered a stroke of paralysis, which is not considered improbable by those who know him.

IRRIGATION AID TO COLONIZATION

PAPER BY BOOTH TUCKER ON SUBJECT.

Return of Small Farmers Will Add to Prosperity of Nation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, Oct. 8.—Col. Thomas Holland, national colonization secretary of the Salvation Army, appeared before the irrigation congress today and read a paper prepared by Commander Booth-Tucker. After referring to the success of the efforts of the Salvation Army in moving worthy but poor families, furnishing them with the necessary capital and settling them as home owners upon the land, the commander said:

"The fact that the present irrigation congress has included in its deliberations this great question of colonization and has set its imprimatur upon its possibility—nay, necessity—undoubtedly will place the subject in an entirely new light before the country, and will give to colonization an impetus, the influence of which will leave its mark upon the generations to come.

"Thus, colonization, as the handmaid of irrigation, will bring within the reach of the latter new confluence and possibilities, and irrigation will prepare new realms for colonization, while these combined sciences will open before the working classes of this country new vistas of help and hope; will recreate that bulwark of national prosperity, the small farmer, and will provide an immense home market for our productions, making it easier for the masses of our population to be and do good, and to fulfill the obligations of citizenship and the dictates of God and conscience."

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN ARBITRATION

Wright Declares If Capitalists Treated Men Right, Would Be No Labor Problem.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 8.—At the meeting of the Unitarian club tonight Carroll D. Wright was the leading speaker. He concluded his remarks with this on arbitration:

"Compulsory arbitration would be tyranny. Arbitration, anyway, is impracticable as providing a solution of the labor difficulty. If capitalists would treat laborers as they ought to, there would be no labor problem. Capitalists should take their men into their confidence and should treat them squarely. We do not want the questions settled by arbitration.

"This labor question represents the constant struggles of the human for a higher standard of living. This struggle of the working classes is not to be discouraged or crushed out. It is only justice to give the workman opportunities, but arbitration would crush out the endeavor on his part. It would bind man to his sphere and put a stop to his efforts toward progress.

"It is absurd to think of compulsory arbitration for a moment. I admit it seems to have worked well in New Zealand, but wait until the courts there make a decision against the labor men; then the pinch will come. You cannot expect capitalists to pay higher wages than they can afford to pay, any more than the workingmen to work for less than they can afford. The capitalists should take the men into their confidence and settle matters among themselves."

FIVE MET DEATH BY A COLLISION

Two Trains Clashed on the Chartiers Branch of the Panhandle.

SEVERAL ALSO INJURED

Special Coal Train Sideswiped a Construction Locomotive and Cars in Which Was a Force of Italian Laborers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Pa., Oct. 8.—One of the most destructive wrecks in the history of the Washington branch of the Panhandle occurred at 5:50 this evening at Van Emans station, two miles east of Canonsburg. The wreck resulted in five deaths and a number of persons were injured, one so badly that he may die. Those killed were all foreigners and their names could not be ascertained. The dead were all taken to Canonsburg, where they will await identification. The bodies were horribly mangled.

The wreck occurred at a siding about 20 yards from the station. An eastbound coal train sideswiped a gravel or construction train at the opening of the switch. Both trains were specials, running under special orders. The gravel train, which was on the siding, had orders to remain there, but the crew thinking they could get away ahead of any other train that might be following, started to pull out onto the main track. The coal train came thundering along and sideswiped the engine and one car that had just moved onto the main track.

In an instant all was confusion. Above the noise of the cracking timbers could be heard the cries of the terrified foreigners. Engineer Robert Ramsey of the coal train seeing that he could not avoid crashing into the construction train, reversed his engine and jumped for his life. His fireman followed him. The engine of the coal train was turned over and completely wrecked. The engine of the gravel train was turned completely around, and after the collision was facing directly east. The car immediately behind the construction engine was loaded with Italian laborers. These were knocked down like tenpins.

The collision resulted in 20 cars being derailed, and in the opinion of railroad men it will take 18 hours to put the tracks in condition to be used. Trains were sent out from Washington and Carnegie to the scene of the wreck, so passengers could be transferred and taken to Washington and Pittsburgh. The wreck train was called from Carnegie and was soon at Van Emans. Four doctors accompanied the special train from Carnegie, and a number of physicians were also summoned from Canonsburg. One body was discovered under an engine and cannot be taken out until the locomotive is moved.

WESTERN UNION IS PROSPEROUS

Net Surplus for Year Exceeds That of 1901 by 42 Per Cent.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The annual meeting of the Western Union Telegraph Company was held here today, and was exceptionally interesting because it was the first meeting since the change of administration. Col. R. C. Clowry, the new president, made his report, showing an entire reorganization of the service of the company in the eastern and southern divisions since he took charge in April.

By rearrangement of the operating force and through the substitution of direct working circuits for repeating or relay offices, a reduction of $588,748 a year in operating expenses has been effected, and the service greatly improved. There has been added to the system during the year 57,218 miles of wire.

The total revenues for the year were $28,073,095; total expenses, $20,780,766, showing an increase of net revenue over the year 1901 of $697,080. The net surplus earnings of 1902 exceed those of 1901 by 42 per cent.

Since President Clowry's accession in April, contracts have been closed with railroad companies covering over 16,800 miles.

The board of directors was re-elected with the exception of Stuyvesant Fish, who resigned, and whose place was filled by the election of John J. Mitchell of Chicago. Howard Gould was elected to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Perkins.

Women's Strong Testimony.

Antiquated eggs, a garbage can and a number of pretty women figured prominently in a case before Burgess James Horner of Wilkinsburg yesterday. S. A. McCullough, a butter and egg dealer of Wood street, Wilkinsburg, was charged with maintaining a nuisance. It was in evidence that Mr. McCullough's garbage can annoyed his neighbors, one of the lady witnesses testifying reluctantly that the odor emanating from it caused her to become ill. Many witnesses swore that windows and doors had to be closed in order to enable them to partake of their meals without suffering from nausea. McCullough disclaimed the responsibility for the offense and was let off on payment of the costs.

Decided Against Registration.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Judge W. W. Hole, of the common pleas court at Lisbon, today rendered his decision which invalidates the act passed by the legislature last winter extending the state registration laws to East Liverpool. Citizens petitioned the court that the deputy supervisors of elections of the county be enjoined from carrying out the provision of the act on the ground that it was special legislation, and therefore unconstitutional.

Hasten to be Court-Martialed.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Oct. 8.—Gen. Hughes has ordered Lieutenant Colonel Joseph E. Hasten, of the Nineteenth infantry, to appear before a general court-martial next Friday to answer a charge of being derelict in his duty as an army officer during the recent riots near the Lombard street entrance to the presidio, where two saloons were wrecked by attacks of soldiers stationed at the post.

State Henry Must Hang.

WHEELING, W. VA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The state pardon board today refused to make a recommendation in the case of State Henry, under sentence of death for the murder of John Richardson on the Port Line railroad. The board recommended a respite until November 28 for Edward Phillips of McDowell county, sentenced to be hanged October 20, for murder.

EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA ACCUSED OF TRICKERY

Hungarian Parliament in an Uproar Over Thrust at Joint Ruler.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, Oct. 8.—The lower house of the Hungarian parliament reassembled today with a repetition of the tumultuous scenes which marked the last session. Vice President Barabas, a Kossuthist, declared that the recent negotiations looking to the further renewal of the agreement fixing the proportionate cost of the administration of the common affairs of Austria-Hungary, had been unavailing and asserted that Austria was trying to despoil and ruin Hungary with the connivance of the emperor-king. Amid a tremendous uproar which his remarks created, Herr Barabas shouted that while he bowed respectfully before the king he must adhere to his opinion regarding the emperor.

Herr Barabas was thereupon called to order and was informed that if he used such expressions he would not be allowed to speak. This led the Leftists to declare that all steps to arrive at an agreement with Austria would be blocked. Premier De Szell rose then and, speaking at first amid an indescribable uproar, said:

"It has been insinuated that it is his majesty's intention to ruin the destiny of Hungary. This statement I must solemnly and categorically repel. I declare that in these delicate and difficult negotiations with Austria his majesty has not exerted any influence upon me. I have the right to ask you to believe this, not as politicians swayed by party passion, but as serious men. I assure you his majesty has always preserved the most strict neutrality."

The premier explained that while recognizing the undying merits of Kossuth the latter had placed himself at variance with the whole nation in maintaining that the emperor of Austria could never be king of Hungary, hence it was impossible for the government to attend the festivities in Kossuth's honor.

QUICK BRIDGE WORK.

National Guard Officers are Shown How It Is Done By Regulars at Fort Riley Maneuvers.

FORT RILEY, KAS., Oct. 8.—Nearly all the National Guard officers remaining at the maneuver camp left for their homes today, only six of them remaining to witness the program arranged for today.

The engineer battalion gave an exhibition of bridge building by running a spar bridge across the Kansas river. The construction of the bridge and the method of building were carefully explained to the visitors.

In the afternoon a discussion of all the maneuvers that have taken place was held in the mess tent.

Camp will be broken tomorrow morning, and all the troops, with the exception of those who are to march back, will be on the cars by 10:30 o'clock.

Memorial to McKinley Unveiled.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A bronze tablet bearing the address delivered by President McKinley to the colored people of Chicago was unveiled tonight in Quinn chapel during McKinley memorial service. United States Senator William E. Mason delivered the oration. A star has been placed in the floor on the spot where the president stood.

School Board in Deadlock.

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Bellaire board of education is deadlocked on choosing a successor to Prof. Charles Fulton, who resigned as high school teacher to enter a theological seminary. The board has ordered Supt. Anderson to do the professor's work until they can elect a new man.

THREE COUNCILMEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Arraigned on Bribery Charge in St. Louis, Then Sent Back to Jail.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—Delegates Emil Hartmann, Louis Decker and John Sheridan were arraigned in Judge Douglas' court today on charges of bribery and pleaded not guilty. They were remanded to jail.

Delegate Charles F. Kelly, fugitive from justice, did not appear when his case was called in the criminal court, and his trial was postponed. Delegate Charles L. Geraghty and Councilman Louis Schnell answered in person.

Judge Clark said that eventually he would quash the indictments in the cases of Schnell and Geraghty, but he believed the city had sufficient evidence upon which to base a new indictment and he would continue their cases to October 24.

TRAIN TELESCOPED ON PENNSYLVANIA

One Man Is Killed and Man from Beaver Falls Is Among Injured.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—One man was killed and 12 persons injured in a rear-end collision of passenger trains on the Pennsylvania railroad near Menlo Park, N. J., today. The western express, known as No. 6, eastbound, made up of four Pullmans, three coaches and a postal and baggage car, was run into by a local passenger train from Philadelphia.

Aid was immediately summoned from the surrounding towns, and as quickly as possible physicians who responded dressed the wounds of the injured, who were placed in a car and hurried through to Jersey City.

The dead man was Courtney Silpath, a bridge tender.

When the train bearing the injured reached Jersey City a few of those hurt were sent to hospitals. None received serious injury. Among those injured were Joseph Browseky of Austin, Pa., and T. R. Edwards of Beaver Falls.

The mail car was on the end of the express and received the full force of the collision. The engine plowed half way through it and the front of the mail car was forced on top of the coach ahead. An instant's panic ensued, but those of the passengers who had alighted immediately began the work of rescuing the injured.

A peculiar feature was the fact that except the mail car the only car on the express which was wrecked was in the middle of the train fourth removed from the end, and all of the injured as well as the man who was killed were among its occupants.

The Rev. Father A. F. Bruder of Pittsburgh, who was on No. 6, said he learned after the accident that No. 6 had received orders to go on a sidetrack and give No. 26 the right of way. This could not be confirmed at the offices of the road.

To Improve Coal Plant.

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Empire Coal Company has begun the erection of a mammoth steel tipple at its No. 6 mine, west of this city. It will cost $10,000 and have a capacity of 1,200 tons daily. Engineers are laying out 10 acres of land on which the company will build 20 double houses, containing eight rooms each. The houses and other improvements will cost about $100,000.

KEYSTONE VETS IN GREAT PARADE

Pennsylvanians Occupy Fully One Fifth of the Line of March.

MANY UNIQUE FEATURES

President and Mrs. Roosevelt Drive Up and Down the Blue-Coated Pageant — Confederate General on Reviewing Stand.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
502 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.

Again has the Pennsylvania division carried off the honors at a G. A. R. parade, Commander-in-Chief Scott having nearly 6,000 men in line today, requiring one hour and 10 minutes to pass the reviewing stand. The Pennsylvanians were easily one-fifth of the parade; the entire department made a splendid showing, and the various posts were accorded frequent and hearty applause.

The president of the United States and Mrs. Roosevelt lent their energies to the entertainment of the capital's guests. Unable to endure the strain of reviewing the colmn from a stand, the president rose from his reclining chair and had himself and Mrs. Roosevelt driven up and down the line. The unusual interest thus manifested was appreciated by the old soldiers and the couple were everywhere received by them with loud applause.

There were at least 25,000 men in line and the estimate of Commander-in-Chief Torrance ran as high as 30,000 men.

Confederate General on Stand.

The procession was reviewed from the stand immediately in front of the White House by Commander-in-Chief Torrance, who was assisted by the members of the president's cabinet and by Adjt.-Gen. Towler of the G. A. R. Sitting in the midst of these distinguished ex-union soldiers was the ex-Confederate Lieut.-Gen. Longstreet. He was escorted to the front together with Gen. Sickles and when the two appeared side by side they were greeted with hearty cheers. It is said to be the first time that an ex-confederate officer had appeared on a Grand Army reviewing stand.

Commander-in-Chief Scott and Gen. T. J. Stewart were singled out for ovations, while the fine marching of the posts from Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Wilkinsburg, McKeesport, Philadelphia and Lancaster county were heartily cheered all along the line. The 18 Lancaster county posts united as one organization of 300 men. A score of bands appeared at intervals in the department and there were many unique and interesting features distributed through the line.

Westmoreland County Giant.

Dan Burns, a giant more than seven feet high, carried the flag of the post from Westmoreland county, Pa. After having been enlisted, it is said, Dan lined up in the rear rank. The commanding officer ordered him to come off the stump on which it was supposed he was standing. When Dan declined to "come down" an irate officer rushed to the rear to see that the first case of insubordination was properly punished. He was amazed beyond all measure, and could hardly believe his eyes when he saw that the towering "high private" was really standing on the ground.

Maj.-Gen. Miller, commanding officer of the national guard of Pennsylvania, which has just been called out by Gov. Stone for duty in the strike region, came over to Washington and rode at the head of a division of the Grand Army. Gen. Miller was applauded as he passed in review. He returns to Pennsylvania at once.

Post 140 of Shamokin, Pa., composed almost entirely of miners, came in for a share of attention. "The frosty sons of thunder" of Somerset made their presence in line felt. Post 88 of Allegheny made a fine showing. Representative William H. Graham of the Twenty-third Pennsylvania district accompanied the post and after it had passed in review Mr. Graham came into the stand. Representative Mahon marched with the Chambersburg post.

Soldiers' Orphans Make Music.

The Sois band, made up of young boys from the soldiers' orphan and industrial school of Scotland, Pa., was in the van of the Keystone state division.

At the front of the column were the past department commanders, and then appeared George E. Meade post No. 1 of Philadelphia, displaying half a hundred battle flags. Gen. Grant was a member of Meade post, and President Roosevelt is an honorary member.

Gen. Alexander Hay post No. 3 of Pittsburgh, next in line, also carried several battle flags of historic interest. Among the Western Pennsylvania posts represented were Walker post No. 28 of Indiana, Post 89 of McKeesport, Post 67 of Erie, Post 117 of Pittsburgh, Post 331 of Sandy Lake, Post 88 of Allegheny, Cumming post 210 of Somerset, Post 220 of Franklin, Post 254 of Sharon, Post 548 of Wilkinsburg, Post 480 of Pittsburgh, and Post 128 of Allegheny.

Color Sergt. David W. Young of the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Pennsylvania was one of the three color bearers of the Army of the Potomac who received a congratulatory letter from Gen. Grant as being "most conspicuous for gallantry in the final assault" on Petersburg. The regiment was raised in Pittsburgh and joined McClellan's army by a journey via Washington.

Allegheny Cannon in Runaway.

Two black ponies attached to a small gun carriage and drawing a three-pound cannon belonging to the James L. Lysle post No. 128 of Allegheny became frightened this morning about 9:30 o'clock, while proceeding along Pennsylvania avenue near Twelfth street, and ran away. The animals kept a straight course down the avenue to Sixth street, where they collided with the rear end of a Capital traction car. In the collision the driver, who said his name was Crabtree, was thrown from the carriage and the horses were brought to a standstill. No one was injured.

Following the Pennsylvania contingent came Ohio, with about 3,000 men in line. Commander-in-chief Weber, Gen. J. Warren Keefer and Gen. Charles Dick were singled out for special ovations by the crowd. The members of Buckeye post No. 12 from Akron carried white umbrellas.

The West Virginia department was near the end of the parade, but its 700 sturdy old veterans were given general recognition all along the line.

The Eleventh Pennsylvania cavalry regiment held its reunion in Concordia hall this evening. Maj. D. C. Orcutt of Pittsburgh, president of the association, occupied the chair, and George W. Coles, the secretary's desk. All the old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. Maj. Orcutt was one of the chief witnesses in the trial of Capt. Wirtz, keeper of Andersonville prison, which occurred in 1865.

Later a banquet was held at Bresnahan's, in Ninth street. Col. Samuel R. Strattan, the former adjutant of the regiment, acted as master of ceremonies.

At a reunion of the Fourth Ohio volunteers, held at the American house this morning, it developed that out of some 1,200 members who answered to roll call in 1861, less than 100 now survive, and of these 100, scattered as they are throughout the country, some 20 comrades got together and fraternized.

Interest in the contest for commander-in-chief is intense, and it is difficult to estimate the comparative standing of the candidates. Only three of the four are seriously considered as contestants, Gen. Sickles being regarded solely as a receptive candidate and a possible "dark horse" in case the encampment cannot agree upon one of the others. The whole number of votes to be cast probably will be about 1,000. This is an allowance of 400 delegates as absentees, a proportion which the campaign managers seem to think very reasonable. Over 500 votes for one man thus will be necessary to elect, and at present none of the managers, whether for Col. McElroy, Col. Stewart or Gen. Black, claims more than 350 votes.

McElroy is regarded as the most growling candidate of the three. He is the youngest of the four contestants.

May Elect West Virginia Woman.

The ladies of the G. A. R. are taking a lively interest in the race for the office of national president. The election takes place tomorrow night in the Lutheran church. Indications today point to the election of Mrs. M. Anna Hall of West Virginia. Mrs. Hall is the past department president and also past circle president. Her candidacy is strongly indorsed by Senator Scott and Representative Dovener of West Virginia.

Representatives of cities which are after the next encampment are in conspicuous evidence among the delegates to the encampment, and the contest is growing very keen. On Monday there were five candidates for the place, but yesterday two of them suffered partial eclipse. The two which have practically quit the race are Los Angeles and Pittsburgh. Los Angeles is expected to abdicate in favor of San Francisco, and Pittsburgh, because the chamber of commerce there has made no recommendation for it, will withdraw unconditionally. It is also hinted that the candidacy of Gen. Stewart for commander-in-chief has played a part in cutting Pittsburgh out of consideration. This leaves the field to San Francisco, Saratoga Springs and Atlantic City.

Allegheny Detective's Work.

Detective Johnson of Allegheny participated with Detective Farham of this city in the arrest of two suspicious characters. The men who were arrested gave their names as Joseph Stevens and Joseph Wolff, and said they had just come here from Philadelphia. Each man had a big revolver. Stevens retreated to a store near Twentieth and P streets when Detective Johnson started after him and attempted to draw his revolver. The officer was too quick for him, and Stevens surrendered when he saw the officer's weapon. A third member of the party escaped.

It is the belief of the police that the prisoners were in the northwestern section of the city picking out houses to visit at night.

The 17th annual convention of the National Association of Naval Veterans, '61 to '65, adjourned today. The following national officers were elected: Commodore commanding, W. S. Smith, Washington; fleet captain, George McNeil, Chicago; commander, Robert A. McLean, Brooklyn; lieutenant commander, John W. Prout, Newark, N. J.; lieutenant, Edward Hubbell, New Haven; master, James E. Luther, Providence; ensign, Edward F. Carrigan, New Haven; fleet surgeon, William E. Atwell, Zanesville; fleet paymaster, I. D. Baker, Boston; fleet engineer, C. F. Briggs, Rockford, Ill.; fleet chaplain, Alexander McWilliams, Detroit.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

KILLED IN A WAGON.

One Is Dead and Three Are Injured by a Fast Train Near Johnstown.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—A fast mail train on the Pennsylvania railroad this evening ran into a wagon at Seward on which a number of children had climbed, killing Joseph Epp Lamas Seward, aged 11, and mortally injuring Hugh Greenwood Seward, driver, aged 40; Frank McCoy Seward, aged 11, and Samuel Caldwell Seward, aged 12.

The train was running 50 miles an hour when the accident occurred. Greenwood had been delivering at houses, and just before he reached the railroad he allowed the lads to climb on his wagon. It is said that he could have got off the track had not one of the horses balked.

TRAINER SAVED FROM A LIONESS

Cat-Like, Vicious Brute Was Playing With Him Before Eating Him.

BRUTE HAS BAD RECORD

Killed Two Showmen in Europe and a Grizzly Bear in San Francisco, Besides Maiming Spectators—Showman Warned.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8.—By the use of red-hot irons, showmen at the Lemps park carnival rescued Trainer James Dyer yesterday afternoon from a vicious lioness which had thrown him upon the floor of the caged arena, and, catlike, was playing roughly with him before her expected meal of human flesh.

Spitfire, the lioness, has slain two former trainers and one grizzly bear, and has a bad record for maiming spectators who have wandered too near the bars of her cage. Because of her bad reputation she was given a few hours to leave Germany, and her present owners, the Gaskill-Mundy Carnival Company, secured her almost as a gift.

That Trainer Dyer was not added to the list of Spitfire's victims is due to the promptness and courage of P. J. Mundy, manager of the wild animal exhibition, and Trainer Bobby Mack. Mundy entered the cage and drove the animal back to its corner, aided by Mack, who applied a red-hot iron from the outside.

Trainer Dyer had long been ambitious to subdue Spitfire, and made her stand on pedestals and perform simple tricks, as do the other lions in the show. Warnings of the animal's savage propensities from those who had known her longer did not keep him from trying the dangerous experiment Tuesday afternoon.

Spitfire killed her first trainer, Max Papesco, in Hamburg, Germany. After she had torn a spectator the German authorities required that she be taken out of that country. In London she killed Trainer Fred Woods. In San Francisco she killed a grizzly bear after a four-hours' fight. Her latest outbreak, until Tuesday, was at Jacksonville, Fla., where she maimed a spectator by a blow delivered through the bars.

Dyer, though badly wounded, refused to let Dr. Becker, the surgical attendant on the grounds, cauterize or dress the wounds, and refused to go to a hospital. He bears 27 scars from previous encounters with lions, tigers and hyenas, and his most serious injuries heretofore were received in a battle with a baboon.

McGinness-Jencks Wedding.

A pretty event of last evening was the marriage in Wilkinsburg of Miss Isabella Goodale McGinness and Hollis Wells Jencks, of New London, Conn. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William L. McGinness, No. 839 Rebecca avenue, the Rev. Dr. M. M. Patterson, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, officiating. The house decorations were pink and green. Charles Jencks was best man and the bridesmaids were Miss Jane Richards and Miss Dell Crawford. Mrs. Scott as best man was accompanied by Fred McGinness, a brother of the bride. Miss McGinness' father gave her away. At the conclusion of the ceremony there were refreshments and an unexpected serenade from enthusiastic friends. Mr. and Mrs. Jencks left last night for the east, where they will make their home.

Relented Soldiers Off.

About 50 soldiers of the Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments, who had been left behind in the movement to the anthracite region on Tuesday night, left for their camps yesterday. Major J. McC. Johnston, of the Fourteenth regiment, had charge of the Pittsburgh contingent. The Tenth men, from Waynesburg, Uniontown, Washington and New Brighton, came to Pittsburgh early yesterday evening and went east at 9 o'clock. They will reach their comrades this afternoon.

FLAG WAS UPSIDE DOWN AND DEPEW WAS SHOCKED

Rushes to the Little Red School House, the Teacher Explains and a Speech Follows the Incident.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CROTON DAM, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Miss Nellie E. Regan, a pretty young school teacher, in charge of a flock of youngsters at a little red school house at Croton, is a proud young woman, because of an unexpected visit paid to her school yesterday by Senator Chauncey M. Depew.

Mr. Depew was driving from the railroad station to Palmer's hotel, where he was first nominated for the assembly 41 years ago, to attend the Republican assembly convention. He saw the school flag waving in the breeze, but noticed that the stars and stripes were upside down.

"Good gracious!" he said to his companion, Assemblyman Apgar. "This will never do!" He halted his surrey and climbed up the hill to the school house. Mr. Apgar followed.

Miss Regan, whom Senator Depew described afterward as the most fascinating teacher he had ever met, came to the door and blushed.

"My dear miss, please excuse me," said the senator, as he stood smiling, hat in hand, "I noticed that the flag in front of your school was upside down. In my official position I feel that I have a right to inquire about it."

"I know it's all wrong," stammered the young teacher, calling Mr. Depew by name, "but I couldn't help it. The halyards were broken and we could not hoist it right side up, so rather than not have it up at all the boys put it wrong side up."

Mr. Depew called Miss Regan a brave American girl, and said she had the proper spirit. Then he made a speech to the children, telling them of the importance of patriotism and significance of the flag, kissed a few of the younger girls and hurried away to fill his engagement.

As he drove away the teacher and pupils cheered and waved their hands until he was out of sight. They had all heard of Senator Depew, for he represented the district in his younger days, before the civil war, but none of them had ever seen him, and they will talk about his visit for a month.

POT OF GOLD WAS UNEARTHED BY AID OF A SPIRIT MESSAGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Houston, Tex., Oct. 8.—Inspired by the recurrence of a vision of 20 years ago, Mrs. Kersten of this city, in company with her husband, unearthed a pot containing about $10,000 in gold pieces from beneath a tree standing in the yard of the house occupied by her grandfather, who died long ago.

Mrs. Kersten, then Miss Liverkuhn, was a girl at the time of her grandfather's death. A few days afterward, she says, a vision came to her in which she was instructed to dig beneath the tree, but she paid no attention to it. Recently she has become a convert to spiritualism and on Sunday the message flashed back to her. Then she induced her husband to accompany her and dig at the foot of the tree and the gold was found.

They sought to keep it secret, but the present occupants of the old house, who own the property, had seen them digging and investigation brought the truth to light.

"It was a message to me from the dead," Mrs. Kersten protests, "and the money is mine. They can't take it away from us."

WILL ENLARGE LOCAL PLANTS

Head Officials of American Locomotive Company Make an Inspection.

CONTRACTS FAR AHEAD

Pittsburgh Plants to Be Put in Shaps to Meet Local Requirements—Business Necessitates Creation of New Offices.

President S. R. Callaway and Vice President A. J. Pitkin of the American Locomotive Company were in Pittsburgh yesterday inspecting local plants. Extensive improvements are expected to result from their visit. Because of the pressing demand upon the American locomotive works for motive power on the Pittsburgh lines it is intended to enlarge the local plants sufficiently to meet all requirements of the business.

"It is true that our trip to Pittsburgh has something to do with improvements of the plants here," said President Callaway. "We find the quarters seriously cramped and mean to make some extensions. As to the exact nature of the plans I can make no definite statement at present. The facilities will at least be increased sufficiently to meet the demands of the local business."

Mr. Callaway says that the orders placed with the American locomotive works up to the present time will require more than one year to fill. The majority of the railroads in the country have given contracts for 1903. The deliveries on all orders placed from now on cannot be hoped for earlier than 1904, so far ahead has the company booked contracts.

"Despite the large number of locomotives that have been turned out in the past year there seems to be a scarcity of motive power on nearly every railroad system in the country," said Mr. Callaway. "This is due to no other cause than the unprecedented movement of freight from all quarters of the United States. There is not a locomotive building concern in the country able to handle the contracts they now have, but the conditions at present give us hope of being able to catch up with the orders during the coming year."

TWO NEW POSITIONS.

Increased Business on the Panhandle Makes Necessary the Creation of Additional Places.

Two important positions have been created on the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle, in accordance with the reorganization in two departments. The new offices are the result of the increased business on this line. Circulars issued yesterday announce the appointment of G. F. Brown as chief train dispatcher, and Samuel Kipp as division operator, to become effective today. The two offices have heretofore been held by Mr. Brown as division operator, but on account of the increased duties of the department a reorganization was necessary. Both will have headquarters in the Penn avenue building of the Pennsylvania lines.

A. R. Albaugh has been made claim agent of the Pittsburgh division of the Panhandle, to relieve E. L. Covert. The latter will continue to look after the personal injury claims as far as Wheeling and Steubenville, while Mr. Albaugh will assume charge of the remainder of the division, extending to Columbus. He will in addition be responsible for claims of property damage or other similar duties of the office, exclusive of the personal claims between Pittsburgh and Steubenville.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of Alfred L. Stroud as passenger, baggage and freight agent at Bellevernon, to succeed W. C. Hughes, resigned.

Clairton Line Nearing Completion.

Extensive projects of the West Side Belt line, now under way, are soon to be completed. J. M. McRoberts, consulting engineer, said yesterday that the new line from Bruce station to Clairton, will be ready for service within 90 days. This work was commenced several months ago and involves an expenditure of $350,000. By October 15 the West Side belt will put in service a stretch of new track to Castle Shannon, and on November 10 the extension to Bruce station will be ready for use. The company is receiving a number of engines and cars, ordered last spring. Four freight locomotives were delivered by the American Locomotive Company yesterday.

Contesting for Property.

Another war is being waged between the Pennsylvania and the Wabash. Strenuous efforts are being made by the former company to prevent the Gould lines from building into Steubenville and East Liverpool, and invading the territory of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh. Representatives of both lines are contesting for the purchase of property and according to reports some fabulous prices are being offered. It is given out authentically that the Wabash has succeeded in obtaining enough property to give a right of way into both towns, and that plans are now being prepared for the extension of the line.

G. P. A. Convention.

General passenger agents of the Pittsburgh lines who will attend the annual meeting of the National Association of General Passenger Agents at Portland, Me., commencing October 14, will leave here Sunday evening. Many questions of importance will be discussed at the meeting, particularly interesting being the matter of the formation of a protective bureau to further prevent the manipulation of tickets by scalpers. Those who will attend from Pittsburgh are E. A. Ford of the Pennsylvania lines, L. A. Robison of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and E. D. Comstock of the Bessemer & Lake Erie.

Railroad Notes.

H. H. Miller, agent of the Cumberland Valley at Hagerstown, Md., was in town yesterday.

D. W. Galer, commercial agent of the Mexican National, at Cincinnati, is here on business.

G. W. Burgess, assistant engineer of the Pennsylvania lines, is making a tour of inspection over the Fort Wayne.

W. F. Coutant, master mechanic of the eastern division of the Wabash, has taken a similar office with the Erie, at Cleveland.

A meeting of the western passenger committee has been called to consider the extension of the anti-pass agreement, to include all the lines west of Chicago.

Passenger service has been inaugurated on the Wolf Creek branch of the Pennsylvania, a new line 11 miles long, running from Leesburg to Heath, Pa. It is part of the Western New York & Pennsylvania.

General Freight Agent R. W. Davis of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, accompanied by Division Freight Agent D. Lundergan of Buffalo and Division Freight Agent H. C. Watson of Pittsburgh, yesterday began a trip of inspection over the main line.

Fire Starts from Explosion.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 8.—Buildings belonging to the Moore & Handley Hardware Company were destroyed by fire today, entailing a loss of $200,000, 75 per cent of which is covered by insurance. The company's main building escaped. The fire was started by an explosion, presumably of gasoline.

JEWS WILL OBSERVE DAY OF ATONEMENT

Celebration of Annual Fast Begins on Friday Evening at Sundown.

On Friday evening next, at nightfall, the Jews of this city and throughout the world will observe the day of atonement. It is devoted to prayer, reflection, resolution and supplication for the divine help and forgiveness. The day is marked by a total suspension of business on the part of observant Jews, and a rigid fast is kept from sundown Friday evening to sundown Saturday evening.

The authority for the observance of the day is found in Leviticus xxiii.27, as follows: "On the 10th day of the 7th month there shall be a day of atonement; ye shall afflict your souls, ye shall do no manner of work. It shall be unto you a Sabbath of rest. In the ninth day of the month at even, from even until even, shall ye celebrate your Sabbath."

It will be remembered that the Jewish church still adheres to the observance of the lunar calendar, according to which next Friday will be the ninth day of the seventh month.

SUNSHINE BEST OF GERMICIDES

BUILDINGS SHOULD HAVE PLENTY OF IT.

President Folwell Reads Annual Report Before Society of Municipal Improvement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 8.—At today's session of the American Society of Municipal Improvement the report on sewerage and sanitation was presented by Prescott Folwell of Easton, Pa.

"Municipal sanitation can be intelligently attained only when based upon data dealing with the relation between health and external surroundings," said Mr. Folwell. "While most of our large cities collect certain vital statistics, these are too often wholly unreliable and in almost no case are they as full as is desirable. This is especially true of cases of sickness.

"Among nuisances to be prevented for sanitary reasons are the smoke nuisance, flooded lands and obstructed sunlight. More success has attended the use of moral suasion combined with eternal vigilance, moderation and common sense than the enactment of ordinances. In large plants, mechanical stokers, better draught and a better arrangement of fire box and boiler will prove economical as well as prevent giving off smoke; and in small plants the same is true if careful and intelligent hand firing be used instead of mechanical stokers.

"Sunshine is the best universal germicide known. No building should be permitted which rises above the ground a greater distance than that from its base to the nearest building opposite its front or rear.

"Food inspection is desirable, more especially to protect infants and invalids. More than 100 cities of the United States own their markets and employ food inspectors.

"Proper location for cemeteries deserves consideration. The cemetery should be given room to grow. It also should give pleasure to the living as well as avoid being a source of danger to them.

"Public fountains, may, by cooling the air, add not only to the pleasure, but the health of the citizens.

"More than 35 cities of the United States now have public baths, and all cities should make some provisions for permitting the very poor to bathe at slight or no expense.

"All flooded lots and wet lands in cities should be drained, as possible causes of malaria or other diseases.

"The uncovering of considerable stretches of land, as in excavating for water or sewer pipes, is thought by many to cause malarial diseases. The truth of this, and the mode of prevention if true, should be studied."

STILL LARGER MAINS.

Recorder Brown's Water Committee Moves for 12-inch Pipes in the Downtown District.

Recorder Brown's private water committee held another meeting yesterday and took up the ordinance prepared by the board of fire underwriters for the improvement of water supply in the downtown or first fire district. The ordinance as originally prepared provided for 10-inch water mains in all the downtown streets and alleys, but as amended yesterday provides for 12-inch mains. It also provides as originally for 150 new fire plugs. The cost is to be $211,000.

Fire Marshal McGill has officially advised the water committee that if the these improvements are carried out the board of fire underwriters will take off the last "pink slip" which amounted to $2 per 1,000.

GUIDI IS ANXIOUS.

Archbishop Instructs Paya to Hasten to the Philippines.

ROME, Oct. 8.—Archbishop Guidi, apostolic delegate in the Philippines, on his own responsibility has instructed the Rev. Santiago Paya, provincial of the order of Dominicans in the Philippine islands, who is in Spain and who intends to proceed shortly from there to Manila, to meet him on his arrival at Manila, even if he has to leave without seeing Archbishop Chapelle, the apostolic delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico, who, in a recent communication, begged Father Paya to await his approaching arrival in Rome, as he wished to confer with him.

Archbishop Guidi is anxious to confer with the provincials of all the orders so as to hasten the solution of the questions concerning the friars in the Philippines as much as possible.

KILLED THREE PUPILS.

Insane Schoolmaster Shoots Children and Is Lynched.

VIENNA, Oct. 8.—A fearful tragedy was enacted at Droyssig, Bohemia, on Monday. A village schoolmaster, 40 years of age, while talking to his class, suddenly became insane, rushed to his desk, drew a revolver from it and ran amuck, shooting right and left among the terrified children.

Three pupils were killed and three were dangerously wounded. On hearing the shots and screams the villagers quickly arrived at the school, and, infuriated at the sight which met them, lynched the schoolmaster.

DANISH TREATY URGED.

Effort to Ratify Cession of West Indies to United States.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8.—In the landsthing today Foreign Minister Deuntzer submitted a bill ratifying the cession of the Danish West Indies to the United States and urged a speedy settlement of the matter. The first reading of the bill is fixed for October 15, and the second reading for October 22.

The vote in the landsthing will be close, but it will undoubtedly be favorable to the treaty.

Skeptics Turn Believers and are cured.—"When I read that Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder could relieve catarrh in ten minutes I was far from being convinced. I tried it—a single puff through the blower afforded instant relief, stopped pain over the eyes and cleansed the nasal passages. Today I am free from catarrh."—B. L. Egan, Easton, Pa.—17.

SIAMESE PRINCE ARRIVES TODAY

President Roosevelt's Own Representative to Meet Him in New York.

A VISIT OF FOUR WEEKS

Will Be Entertained Officially in the East, Ending in Boston. Then the Journey Across the Continent Will Begin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, crown prince of Siam, will arrive in Washington Saturday morning to pay his respects to the president of the United States.

He is expected to arrive in New York on the Fuerst Bismarck tomorrow or Friday and will be met by a commission appointed by the president, consisting of H. H. D. Peirce, third assistant secretary of state; David B. Sickles of New York, former United States consul general at Bangkok, as a personal representative of President Roosevelt, and Edwin Morgan of the state department, as secretary to the commission. The Siamese minister and members of his legation also will greet the royal party on its arrival at New York.

The party will be brought to this city on a special train, arriving here about 8 o'clock in the morning, and will be received by the president, if his condition will permit it, at the temporary White House, at 11 o'clock. On Saturday evening the party will be entertained at dinner by Secretary Hay, and Sunday evening a dinner will be given in honor of the visitors by the Siamese minister.

On Monday the party will visit the naval academy at Annapolis. The program for Tuesday includes a visit to Mount Vernon on the president's yacht Sylph. In the evening the party will be entertained by Prof. Gore. On Wednesday the prince will proceed to Wilmington, Del., where he will be privately entertained by Gen. James H. Wilson, U. S. A., retired, on the 15th inst., and then will visit Philadelphia incognito as the guest of William Potter, formerly minister to Italy, from the 16th to the 22d inst., when the party will go to New York.

The program for their entertainment in that city includes a visit to the West Point military academy on the United States ship Dolphin on the 23d inst., a dinner by Mayor Low on the 24th inst., a visit to the home of Mr. Hyde of the Equitable Life Assurance Society at Bay Shore, L. I., on the 26th a dinner by Mr. Hollis of New York, who is the Siamese member of The Hague arbitration court, on Monday, the 27th.

On the same evening the prince and party will be entertained by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions at the Metropolitan club, and it is probable that the crown prince will give a dinner himself on the following evening.

On the 29th inst. the party will go to Boston and remain there three days, during which time they will be entertained by Prof. Eliot, president of Harvard university, and others.

The official entertainment will terminate at Boston, whence the crown prince's party will start on a tour of the country, visiting Syracuse, Niagara, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Kansas City, Colorado Springs, Pikes peak, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and other cities. The itinerary will cover 7,131 miles and consume about four weeks.

Bragg Transferred to Hongkong.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—Edward S. Bragg, consul general at Havana, has been transferred to the post of United States consul general at Hongkong, taking the place of William A. Rublee, who has been transferred to the consulate at Havana. Gen. Bragg is the consular officer who made himself persona non grata by a slighting remark in a letter to his wife about Cubans' capacity for self-government.

Young Teddy Gets a Mascot.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.—The members of Capt. P. R. Schuyler post G. A. R. of Philadelphia today presented to Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the son of the president, a lamb named "Teddy." TO MEET IN CANTON.

McKinley Memorial Association to Hold Its Anniversary Session and Select Site for Statue.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 8.—The first annual meeting of the trustees of the McKinley National Memorial association will be held in Canton October 25. The president of the association, former Secretary of State William R. Day, has issued the call. A full attendance of the trustees is already assured.

The association's first anniversary date is October 10. On that date last year it was formally organized in the office of Senator Hanna in this city. The annual reports of Treasurer Myron T. Herrick and Secretary Ritchie will be submitted at the coming meeting, together with reports from the auxiliary associations in the several states and territories. These reports will show the collections by divisions, and in the aggregate for the country at large.

Subjects of interest to the association and its work for the coming year will be discussed. The tomb of the late president will be visited, and in all probability the site for the memorial will be chosen.

DEAD TIRED

When a man's got an aching back, he seldom knows what it is to be rested—

Morning, noon and night the ache's there—Sometimes sharp and piercing, sometimes dull and heavy—

No let up to it—apparently no help for it—but there is help—

Kidneys are sick—that's all—Poisons that ought to be carried out of the blood are left in and are pumped back through the system—

No help for the backache until the Kidneys are made well—But the kidneys can be made well—

Doan's Kidney Pills

have cured thousands of aching backs here in Pittsburgh—Thousands of Pittsburghers singing their praises—home proof of their goodness—You can't doubt such testimony as this—

"Two years ago while camping out during a rainy spell I caught a severe cold, which settled in my back. For four days and a half I sat in a camp chair, all doubled up. Any attempt to straighten up brought the most intense pain. A country physician who was called administered morphine, and with the help of my friends I succeeded in getting home. Mrs. Joachin knew of the value of Doan's Kidney Pills, and got me a box at Fleming's drug store. The first box brought relief, but not cure. I continued using the pills, however, until within a couple of months I was as well and strong as ever. My whole system seemed to be strengthened and helped. I have had one slight attack of the trouble since, but a few doses of pills fixed me all right in a remarkably short time. I cannot tell you how much I appreciate this wonderful remedy.

RAILROAD BUYS IN ALLEGHENY

Ohio Connecting Secures 23 Acres from David B. Oliver.

HOTELS ARE WANTED

September Building Operations Make Excellent Showing. More Farm Dealing at Castle Shannon.

The Ohio Connecting Railroad Company has purchased from David B. Oliver 2.3 acres of land in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, for $36,335. The plot is vacant and lies between the tracks of the Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad and California avenue. It measures about 298x300 feet, with an "L" adjoining other property now owned by the Connecting railroad and also the holdings of Catherine Stewart. The larger portion runs up nearly to Antrim street. The purchase was made to afford the railroad more track room, as the property it now owns in this locality is narrow and crowded.

P. & L. E. R. R. Wants Hotels.

It is reported that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company is negotiating for the purchase of three hotel properties in McKees Rocks. These are the Butler house, at Chartiers avenue and Butler street, valued at $40,000; the Capitol house, directly in the rear of the Butler hotel and facing in Bell avenue, and the hotel owned by John Schwindehutte on the opposite side of Bell avenue. The last two hotels are said to be worth $30,000 and $20,000, respectively.

The three properties lie in a direct line, nearly parallel with the right of way of the railroad. Just beyond them and to the west, the railroad owns a large amount of ground on which improvements estimated to cost $750,000 are now started. These embrace the immense new roundhouses and shops of the railroad and a big extension to its yard facilities. By securing the hotel lots the railroad would have room to straighten the sharp curve which now hinders the movement of freight and to relieve the congestion of cars at this point.

The report of Pittsburgh building operations for September, just issued by Capt. J. A. A. Brown, superintendent of the bureau of building inspection, makes a much more encouraging showing than was generally supposed. The total amount named in the permits granted is $2,050,670, an increase of $996,014 over September, 1901, and of $489,925 over August of this year. The showing is the more remarkable when it is considered that only one large building was included in the month's business—the Bessemer building being erected by Henry Phipps at the corner of Sixth street and Duquesne way, at a cost of $800,000.

Good Gain in Buildings.

A total of 265 permits were granted, a gain of 57 over August. Of this number 59 were for brick buildings, 143 for frame buildings and 62 for brick veneered. The total estimated cost of the new structures was $1,872,770. Permits were also granted for 54 additions, to cost $139,244, and for 71 alterations, to cost $28,665. The East End wards made an excellent showing in the way of good residences, the Twenty-first having 71 permits amounting to $189,200; the Twentieth 26 permits, amounting to $15,810, and the Twenty-second 14 permits, amounting to $207,250.

Mrs. Dr. J. R. Nelan proves to have been the buyer of the Cass property at Nos. 336-338 Second avenue, which was sold last week through the W. H. Skivington company for $50,000. The purchase was made for an investment, and no changes are contemplated at present.

Options at Castle Shannon.

A leading real estate firm in Fourth avenue has within the last two days secured an option on a farm of 73 acres, situated in the rear of the Catholic church at Castle Shannon. The option is good till October 15 and was placed at $1,000 an acre. The farm faces in the Scott township road and is one of the best properties for plotting in this neighborhood. Near by is the Smith and Heiman farm, which was optioned a few weeks ago by an East End broker for $1,200 an acre. This farm lies along the new macadamized road. It is reported that both farms are being secured for a syndicate of three lot investors, who will plot them in the spring.

A good residence property in the Twentieth ward has been sold by Henry Akin to Joseph L. Dennison for $18,500. The property measures 60x150 feet, is on the east side of Rebecca street, near Baum street, and has erected on it a 12-room house, which the purchaser will occupy as a home.

The Derry Pottery Plant.

Saturday promises to be another big day for suburban lot sales, if the weather is favorable. The big plan of lots at Derry, Pa., will be opened with a special sale that day. It will be easily reached from Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Blairsville, Saltsburg, Indiana, Latrobe, Jeannette and Greensburg.

The feature that is bound to attract purchasers in the 20 acres of potteries to be erected by the Derry China Company. The main building of the works will be 600x182 feet and the plant will employ 2,000 men. In addition to this, the extensive works of the Keeling & Ridge Brick & Tile Company, which turn out over 10,000 bricks a day, are located at this point. The plan is being handled by Haas & Lauinger, who have already successfully launched six other plans this season.

Central for Railroads.

At West Pittsburgh the West Pittsburgh Realty Company and the Duquesne Realty Company will put a large plan before the public. The West Pittsburgh plan is situated five miles east of New Castle, on the lines of the Pennsylvania, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, the Pittsburgh & Western, the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads. Among the concerns that are preparing to locate there are the Garland Nut and Rivet Company of Unionville, Conn., the Safety Armorite Conduit Company of Rankin, and the American Interior Conduit Company of Milwaukee, Wis., and Waukegan, Ill. Free sites are being offered for schools and churches and a discount of 10 per cent is taken off the price of the first 50 lots bought, provided the purchasers build on them.

COMMITTEE WILL FIGHT SMALLPOX

Municipal Hospital's Needs Pointed Out by The Gazette to Be Fulfilled.

The committee on sanitation and health of Pittsburgh councils will lose no further time in guarding against a possible outbreak of smallpox. Political differences will be erased and recommendations will be made to councils to have the bureau of health equipped for any emergency that may arise.

The editorial in The Gazette yesterday pointing out some of the needs of the municipal hospital was accepted by the committee as a most timely suggestion. Dr. W. D. O'Brien, chairman of the committee, said:

"I shall call a meeting of the committee early next week and every measure for providing the city against any possible danger from an epidemic of smallpox will be taken. I have no reason to believe that Pittsburgh is threatened by an epidemic. The promptness in enforcing vaccination last summer has prevented the danger of widespread contagion. However, we will take all means in our power to keep the number of cases at a minimum and to make the patients at the municipal hospital as comfortable as possible.

"A resident physician will be appointed for the municipal hospital. His salary will be $100 or $125 a month. This work has been done by the city physicians, and in a manner quite satisfactorily, too, but when the number of cases of smallpox increase and a house physician is needed, we shall not be found wanting in providing another doctor.

"The committee on sanitation and health is not disturbed by political differences or clannishness and we are of one mind in the matter of backing up the bureau of health. When the bureau started a hue and cry after smallpox last summer, the committee resolved on its policy then and that policy has the unanimous sanction of the entire committee.

"The work done by the undergraduate physicians, who made house-to-house visits to enforce vaccination, has been effectual. The figures recently published in a medical journal show how rigid enforcement of the vaccination laws prevents the disease from spreading. In Cleveland the board of health decided that a thorough cleansing of the houses would do more toward preventing a scourge of smallpox than any efforts to enforce vaccination. They inspected every kitchen and cellar and kept housewives plying the broom and scrubbing brush when their physicians should have been rounding up the unvaccinated.

"The comparative results are apparent. During the week beginning September 6 Cleveland, a small town, compared with our city, had 84 cases of smallpox with 16 deaths, while Pittsburgh had but 25 cases, with one death. The rules which have been enforced to guard against a scourge will be observed and there is no cause for alarm.

CITY IS BELOW $6,000,000 LIMIT

Committee on School Site Finds Pittsburgh Can Borrow Money.

INTERESTING FIGURES

Financial Condition of Municipality Was Laid Bare—Gross Debt Over $21,000,000; Net Debt Over $15,000,000.

Members of the councilmanic committee on a site for the Carnegie technical school, who have been spending the time since the last meeting in endeavoring to learn whether the city has exceeded the constitutional limit of 2 percent, without the assent of the people, have learned that it has not exceeded that limit, and that it is below it. The limit is $6,000,000. The amount of indebtedness which the city now has standing against it incurred without the assent of the people, is $4,286,788 08. The city still has a little more than $1,700,000 to go.

The total gross debt of the city of Pittsburgh is $21,416,201 87. The amount of Pittsburgh city bonds now held in the sinking fund is $5,387,963 14. That is, that amount of money in the sinking fund is invested in Pittsburgh city bonds, which are the only kind of bonds the city of Pittsburgh will buy for investment. The state law permits cities to invest in city, state or national bonds, but the city of Pittsburgh has always aimed to invest its sinking fund money in its own bonds, and thus stop the payment of interest. As these bonds are owned by the city now, they are counted as a credit against the gross debt, leaving a net bonded debt of $15,428,288 73.

Figures on Debt.

This net bonded debt was incurred partly by the assent of the people and partly by councils without the assent of the people.

The amount which was incurred without the consent of the people is detailed below, the items representing the various loans, with the credits in the sinking fund deducted:

Water loan, $588,900; water loan sinking fund No. 2, $146 85; funded street improvement loan, $410,265; refunded Fifth Avenue market and city building bonds, $33,750; funded debt, S. F. (7 per cent 40-year loan), $415,200; improvement loan, S. F., $1,174,471; municipal consolidated, S. F., $97,000; water extension 7 per cent bonds, $2,500; borough of East Birmingham, $9,5000; railroad compromise, $1,554,401 87. These items represent the entire amount of the net indebtedness of the city, incurred without the assent of the people, and the total is $4,286,788 98. This is the amount, according to the supreme court, which must be considered when calculating the 2 per cent limit showing that the city has not yet reached that limit.

Net Debt Is $15,428,238.

The items of the net indebtedness incurred by the assent of the people, as expressed at elections held for that purpose, are given as follows, the credits in the sinking fund being, of course, deducted: Monongahela river bridge loan, S. F., $1,127,300; water loan, S. F., 1895 4 per cent loan, $1,544,000; park bonds, S. F., 1895 4 per cent loan, $1,567,300; boulevard loan, 1895 4 per cent, $386,000; public safety bonds, S. F., 1895 4 per cent loan, $370,300; loan of 1900, S. F., $6,387,500. The total of this is $11,382,200. Added to this amount, that created without the assent of the people and the investments of the municipal sinking fund, the special sinking fund and the sinking fund proper, which aggregate $20,750 25, the total is found to be $15,428,238 73, or the exact amount of the city's net bonded debt.

The committee on site will consider these figures at the next meeting, which will be held next week.

THE CHILDREN ENJOY

Life out of doors and out of the games which they play and the enjoyment which they receive and the efforts which they make, comes the greater part of that healthful development which is so essential to their happiness when grown. When a laxative is needed the remedy which is given to them to cleanse and sweeten and strengthen the internal organs on which it acts, should be such as physicians would sanction, because its component parts are known to be wholesome and the remedy itself free from every objectionable quality. The one remedy which physicians and parents, well-informed, approve and recommend and which the little ones enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects, is—Syrup of Figs—and for the same reason it is the only laxative which should be used by fathers and mothers.

Syrup of Figs is the only remedy which acts gently, pleasantly and naturally without griping, irritating, or nauseating and which cleanses the system effectually, without producing that constipated habit which results from the use of the old-time cathartics and modern imitations, and against which the children should be so carefully guarded. If you would have them grow to manhood and womanhood, strong, healthy and happy, do not give them medicines, when medicines are not needed, and when nature needs assistance in the way of a laxative, give them only the simple, pleasant and gentle—Syrup of Figs.

Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic syrups and juices, but also to our original method of manufacture and as you value the health of the little ones, do not accept any of the substitutes which unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer to increase their profits. The genuine article may be bought anywhere of all reliable druggists at fifty cents per bottle. Please to remember, the full name of the Company—CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.—is printed on the front of every package. In order to get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine only.

One of the foremost corset-making concerns in America has brought out a new corset which they know to have such points of merit that if it is once well started the sale of a million a year is not too much to expect.

So this firm has arranged with one of the leading stores in most of the great American cities to introduce the new corset in a novel and original way—by means of a series of princely presents which will be distributed among the women who send in their friends to see it.

An expert demonstrator has been sent to the "People's Store," together with a number of beautiful models and all the necessary materials for conducting this gift distribution. She will tell you all about it at our corset counter.

PIRATES ONLY NEED ONE GAME TO CLINCH WORLD'S SERIES

CHAMPIONS WON IN CLEVER STYLE

Contest Was a Pitchers' Battle and Phillipe Proved Best.

MANY EXCITING PLAYS

Both Teams Were Out for a Victory and Battle Was a Warm One—Big Crowd Cheered for the Pirates.

The second game of the series between the champion Pirates and the All-American stars resulted in a victory for the locals by a score of 2 to 0. The contest was a beautiful pitchers' battle between Deacon Phillippe and Joss, the premier pitcher of the Cleveland club, and the Deacon walked off with the honors of the occasion.

It was a delightful afternoon for baseball and 4,500 lovers of the game turned out to watch what are undoubtedly the strongest baseball teams in the world contest against each other. The crowd was not disappointed, because the game was a treat in every way, and as the champions pulled out the victory the crowd was a happy one. The game was a battle from start to finish and was filled with the prettiest kind of plays. It was evident from the call of time that both teams were out for a win and the players showed their deep interest by the determined look upon their faces.

A Change That Was Costly.

When the All-Americans lined up for practice work it was found that Bradley, who covered third base on Tuesday, was missing and in his place was Bobby Wallace, who played second on Tuesday while George Carey of the Washington club was at second. This change did not prove a good one, because Carey made a slip-up that gave the champions their first run. In the eighth inning Carey changed places with Harry Davis, the latter going to second, and he also made a mistake which was largely responsible for the champions' second run.

The game was played under American league rules, which differ but slightly from those of the National league. The only difference is in the foul strike, and this did not cut much of a figure, because there were few attempts to foul off good balls. The only direct attempt was made by Wagner in the sixth inning, who just wanted to show how easily it could be done. The umpires shifted positions, O'Day giving the decisions on bases and O'Laughlin going behind the bat. The umpiring of O'Laughlin was one of the features of the game. He has a voice that could be heard on the top of Monument Hill and his decisions were both prompt and correct; in fact, the work of both umpires could hardly be improved upon.

Grand Work by the Pitchers.

The work of the pitchers was a treat to watch, as both were in splendid form and had the batters guessing good and hard. On one occasion at least Joss was in an ugly hole with three runners on bases, two out and Beaumont at bat, but the hit needed for runs was not forthcoming. Deacon Phil held his opponents safe at all times, and up until the seventh inning but one hit had been secured off his delivery. In the seventh Davis got a hit and in the ninth Mercer, who went in to bat for Joss, placed a single in center, which was the sum total of the All-Americans' safeties.

Kitty Bransfield was the star fielder of the afternoon, and two of his plays brought long and loud cheers from the spectators. In the second inning Kelly ran clear out into right field and gathered in a foul fly from Harley's bat, the catch seeming an impossible one, and in the first inning he made a double play unaided, taking a liner from Davis' bat then touching first ahead of Janes. Harry Davis also made an unassisted double play for the All-Americans which cut off Pirate runs in the eighth inning. Bobby Wallace distinguished himself at third by making two pretty pick-ups of hot grounders and nailed his men at first base.

Scoring the Pirates' Runs.

Wagner scored the champions' first run in the fifth inning, when he reached first on Carey's low throw to Davis and Honus got around on timely singles by Ritchey and Sebring. Beaumont led off the eighth with a hit, but was forced at second by Clarke, the latter reaching first on the out. Clarke took second on a fumble by Davis and scored on Wagner's drive, which was too hot for Wallace to handle, and which counted as a two-bagger. The only visitor to get as far as third was Mercer in the ninth, and fast fielding held him there. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

There was never a prettier display of team work than that put up by the champions yesterday, and it seemed as though each man knew what play was to be made before the batter hit the ball. Bransfield and Phillippe worked together like a well oiled piece of machinery and the only slip-up was in the ninth inning, when the Deacon dropped the ball after it had been tossed to him at first by Kitty.

Kitty Bransfield was in the game up to his neck yesterday and furnished the Americans with a sample of how fast ball should be played. His running catch of Hartly's foul fly in the second inning was a thing of beauty, and Kitty also brought cheers by the fast double play in the first, when he gathered in Davis' liner and doubled Jones at first.

The champions go to Charleroi today, where a great reception is promised them. On Friday morning Manager Clarke will take his entire team over to Cleveland for the remaining games with the All-Americans. Quite a number of local rooters have signified their intention of accompanying the champions, and when they appear on the field on Friday afternoon they will have plenty of friends in the stands.

George Carey, who was at second base for the All-Americans yesterday, is the first baseman of the Washington club and a good one he is too. He was out of place on second yesterday and while he made a splendid effort at fielding balls, still he could not handle them perfectly. He shifted positions with Harry Davis in the eighth and the ex-Pirate also showed a lack of experience at second, making a costly error.

AMHERST GAVE THE CRIMSONS TROUBLE

Harvard Did Not Make Near as Good Showing as the Yale Team.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 8.—The Amherst football team, which was defeated, 23 to 6, by Yale, held Harvard down to 6 points today, and much of the time seemingly outplayed the crimson eleven. In the middle of the second half Harvard pushed the ball to Amherst's 8-yard line, where Lindsay was sent through for the only touchdown of the game. Barnard kicked an easy goal. Twice Harvard was within scoring distance, but a fumble or the fine defense of the visitors prevented a touchdown. The interference of the crimson team was poorly formed, while the backs started very slowly and failed to take advantage of the holes opened up by the linemen. On the other hand, Amherst played a snappy game, forcing Harvard to kick a number of times, and, although not getting within the crimson's 25-yard line, they kept Harvard continually on the jump. Score and line-up:

Harvard—6.	Position.	Amherst—0.
Jones	L. E.	Griswold
Reekie and Dodge	L. T.	Pierce

BEAT WESLEYAN BY LARGE SCORE

YALES' REGULARS GAINED GROUND AT WILL.

In the Second Half Substitutes Were Used and Wesleyan Was Twice Close to Scoring.

YESTERDAY'S FOOTBALL SCORES.

Yale	35—Wesleyan 0
Cornell	57—Hobart 0
Harvard	6—Amherst 0
U. of P.	18—Haverford 5
W. U. P.	16—Grove City 0

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 8.—Yale defeated Wesleyan today in an interesting game in which there was the widest divergence between the two halves. The score was, Yale 35, Wesleyan 0. The early part of the game showed Yale much stronger, and able to gain ground at will for almost any distance. The score at the end of the first half was 22 to 0.

In the second half Wesleyan seemed to realize that the substitutes, which Capt. Chadwick put in, were not their equals. They aimed tackle plays at first one man and then another of the substitutes, and made big holes in the Yale line through which they gained ground in surprisingly easy fashion. But Wesleyan was not able to keep it up, being lighter.

Twice, however, the ball was landed close enough to Yale's goal to make trys for a field goal. Each time, however, Rogers, fullback, failed. Once the ball was kicked accurately for distance, but not with force enough to send it over the posts. The second effort was a poorer one and the ball went wide.

Toward the end Wesleyan seemed likely to score. The Yale substitutes were playing a demoralized game, and tackle plays, which Wesleyan used, gave her apparently an opportunity to score. With the ball in their possession not more than 15 yards from Yale's goal Wesleyan lost that opportunity because time was up.

The touchdowns which Yale made were secured in much the same style of game that has characterized play earlier in the season, being very simple football, end runs and line bucking.

The features of the game were Metcalf's run of 45 yards with the ball caught on Rogers' kick-off, and in the second half, Ward's magnificent run of more than 100 yards. Ward also caught the ball on a kick-off on Yale's seven-yard line and dashed for goal. He distanced all pursuers by sheer endurance after he dodged the ends. The score and line-up:

Yale—35.	Position.	Wesleyan—0.
Neale-Hare	L. E.	Eyster
Hamlin-Shevlin	L. T.	Cobb
Glass-Kinney	L. G.	Coote-Schneider
Holt	Center	Day
Goss-Batchelder	R. G.	Espy
Hogan-Bissell	R. T.	Forbes
Coffin	R. E.	Onthrop
Metcalf-Winslow	Q. B.	Calder
Chadwick-Hinkle	L. H.	Hanlon
Ward-Preston-Soper	R. H.	McDonald
Farmer-McClintock-Vanderpool	F. B.	Rogers

Referee—Dr. S. A. Hammond, Yale. Umpire—W. J. Hickok, Yale. Linesmen—Mr. Agard, Wesleyan; Mr. Tilley, Yale. Touchdowns—Farmer 3, Ward 2, Shevlin. Goals from touchdowns—Ward 3. Time of halves—25 and 20 minutes.

Just before the end of the game the ball was tossed back for a kick. It went over the fullback's head and back of the goal line. The referee called the play a safety instead of a touch back, and therefore raised Yale's score to 35.

HOBART A MARK.

Only Once Could Five Yards Be Gained on Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Hobart college proved a mark for the Cornell football team this afternoon, and the score of 57 to 0 quite accurately indicates the respective merits of the two teams. The visitors were stopped every way and only once in the entire game were they able to make the required five yards. Their line was close in weight to the Cornell line, but was a dead one compared with that of the Ithacans. The line-up:

Cornell—57.	Position.	Hobart—0.
Lawrence	L. E.	Espy
Leander	L. T.	Whitney (captain)
Warner (captain)	L. G.	Sinclair
Voss-Davitt	Center	Ellis
Hunt-Webb	R. G.	Summers
Smith	R. T.	Atwater
Fydenam	R. E.	Hill-Hudsell
Brewster-Somes	Q. B.	Maddigan
Purcell-Shepard	L. H.	Hollands-Everett
Snyder-Coffin	R. H.	Wasey-Lembeck
Catlin-Halliday	F. B.	Williams.

COLUMBIA'S BIG SCORE.

Harold Weekes Was the Whole Team in Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Columbia's football team today defeated the eleven of Fordham college in the opening contest of the local season at the Polo grounds. The tally was 45 to 0, over a point a minute, throughout the 35 minutes' play.

Harold Weekes, the captain, more than the team itself, won the game for Columbia. Six times Weekes raced down the gridiron on sensational end runs that each time yielded a touchdown. He, alone, scored 27 of Columbia's 45 points, although he played little more than half the game.

The 'varsity team was displaced in the second half almost entirely by substitutes. The ends proved to be Columbia's weak spots.

Other College Games.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—University of Chicago, 21; Cornell College (Iowa), 0.

EASTON, PA., Oct. 8.—Lafayette defeated Gettysburg College today by the score of 14 to 0.

W. U. P. DEFEATED GROVE CITY TEAM

Mercer County Collegians Too Light for Local Eleven.

MUCH FUMBLING DONE

Both Teams Played Poor Ball at Times—Locke of Grove City Made Sensational Tackles. W. U. P. Much Improved.

The crimson color of the Grove City football team was laid low in the dust yesterday afternoon by the sturdy eleven representing the Western University of Pennsylvania, who won the game by a score of 16 to 0. The weather was still a little warm for football and only about 400 people witnessed the contest.

While the teams were only fairly evenly matched the Mercer county collegians should have made a far better showing than they did. The score does not show their good plays, and at least one touchdown should have been recorded against the team from Observatory hill.

Fumbles Were Plenty.

Serious fumbling on both sides characterized the game from start to finish. The Grove City team is practically a new organization, as most of the men have donned a football uniform for the first time this season. The team was weak on the ends and most of the W. U. P. gains were made around their opponents' ends.

Grove City's line looked to be a great deal lighter than W. U. P.'s, but at times the college team from Mercer county held the strong local eleven for downs. Several penalties, principally for off-side play, were imposed during the game. Members of both teams were offenders.

The most surprising feature of the game was the improvement of form in the W. U. P. team. It is much stronger in nearly every position than at the first of the season, and if greater attention is given to interference and less fumbling is done the eleven may make a good record this season.

Capt. Martin was easily the star player for W. U. P. He made most of the long end runs and bucked the line fiercely. McLain, at right half also played fairly well, while Secrist did some good work at times.

Locke Proves His Worth.

In Locke at fullback Grove City has the making of a football star. The way the big fellow plowed through the W. U. P. line yesterday and made some of the hardest tackles possible shows that with a little experience and good training he will be heard from on the gridiron.

Thomas, at right tackle, also put up a fine article of football at times, and Capt. Craig was in the game at all stages. Larimer, the little quarterback, is a hard worker and got into many a scrimmage and saved some big gains for his team.

The game started at 3:15. Capt. Craig won the toss and took the west goal. Secrist kicked to Cunningham, who got back 10 yards before being downed. Grove City then tried her opponents' line, and made good gains.

After Locke had hit center for five yards Thomas fumbled and W. U. P. got the ball. W. U. P. worked the quarterback kick to advantage and then Grove City's ends for a touchdown, Martin going over the line. Rugh kicked goal, making the score W. U. P., 6; Grove City, 0.

Dodds took Elliott's place in the line-up at right half. The local collegians kept up their end runs. Grove City secured the ball once and kicked. The W. U. P. got it on a fumble and worked it down, Secrist being sent through the line for the second touchdown. Rugh missed the goal. Score: W. U. P., 11; Grove City, 0.

Better in Second Half.

Grove City played a stronger game in the second half. They had the ball more and made better gains through the W. U. P. line. Very few attempts were made to run the ends, and the Mercer county lads resorted to nothing but straight football.

With but four minutes left to play W. U. P. took the ball steadily down the field and scored a touchdown, the last one of the game. Secrist again went over and Rugh missed the kick, making the final score, W. U. P., 16; Grove City, 0. Line-up and score:

W. U. P.—16.		Grove City—0.
Straud	L. E.	Hildebrand, Cunninghan
Jackson	L. T.	Williams
Boyd	L. G.	Marks
Hankey	Center	Williams
Douglass	R. G.	Kelley
McGagney	R. T.	Thomas
Rugh	R. E.	Hogsett
Carpenter	Q. B.	Larimer
Martin (captain)	L. H.	(Captain) Craig
McLain	R. H.	Elliott-Dodds
Secrist	F. B.	Locke

Touchdowns—Martin, Secrist 2. Goals—Rugh 1. Time of halves—30 and 25 minutes. Umpire and Referee, alternating—Chesbro, Grove City; Fulton, State College.

THE HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS.

Pittsburgh and Greensburg Elevens Meet Tomorrow.

The Greensburg High school football team will be the attraction at Friendship park Friday. The Pittsburgh High School boys will line up in full force for this game. Coach Labus is particularly anxious that his protegees make a good showing in this their fourth game. The Greensburg boys have been coached for the past week by some of the stars of the professionals, and are about the same weight as the local team. East Liberty academy beat them last Friday, 6-0, and the academy boys report the Greensburg fullback to be a wonder at punting. Many of his punts go 60 yards. The Pittsburgh team will line up as follows, though many substitutions will be made: Ends, Jackson and Harper; tackles, Orr and Lauderbough; guards, Nickel and Palmer; center, Campbell; quarter, Bauer; halves, Patterson and Zelch; full, Diebold. The game will be called at 3:45.

PLAYED THE SCRUBS

Princeton Regulars Made Some Pretty Plays.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Princeton football management being unable to arrange another game for today in place of the one cancelled by the New York university, Capt. Davis lined his men up against the scrubs for a hard contest of two 25-minute halves, in which the 'varsity was victorious by four touchdowns and a goal from the field. Four of the prettiest runs ever seen here were responsible for the touchdowns, three by Foulke of 50, 25 and 60 yards, and one by Hart of 100 yards.

The fumbling among the 'varsity backs today was atrocious, and had it not been for these four long runs the scrubs would have had the advantage. The defensive work was also poor.

CHAMPIONS' RECEPTION.

Charleroi Will Turn Out and Make Up for Lost Time Last Week.

CHARLEROI, PA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding the fact that the fans all along the river were greatly disappointed at the rain which knocked out the ball game with the two-times champions last week, a greater reception than ever is planned for tomorrow, when one more attempt will be made. Local rooters want to give the Pirates a big hand any way, because of the glorious record they made in the season just closed, and this game will serve a double purpose.

There may be one or two little surprises when the teams line-up tomorrow. Parkins or Selig will pitch for Charleroi, according to announcement, but it would not be at all surprising to see Big Bill Phillips on the firing line. Bill lives a mile or two up the road and has many friends in this locality. In fact he is a member of the Charleroi brass band. This is the band that met the Pirates last week, but was drowned out. Last year Phillips pitched the tail end of the annual contest with the Pittsburgh team, and, by the way, the game was no slouch. The Smoky City bunch won the game by a score of 8 to 3, the locals touching up Schoolmaster Sam for 11 hits.

Chesbro is billed to pitch for Pittsburgh, but it is likely one of the youngsters will be used. If it is Cushman all money had better be placed on Charleroi. He has been in this neck of woods before as he has good cause to remember. It will take a good one to beat us out. Before the game the Charleroi Gun club will entertain at the traps. For a week the local shooters have been practicing to get the best shots together.

Capt. Bevis and Crew of Old Shamrock for New Yacht.

GLASGOW, Oct. 8.—The proposal to place the Shamrock II. under the control of an American skipper and crew when she is entitled to meet the new challenger, has been abandoned, and the report that at the conclusion of the tests on this side of the Atlantic Capt. Charles Bevis and the crew of the Shamrock I. will be transferred to the Sharock II. is confirmed. Capt. Bevis is a novice in racing for the American cup, but he commanded the Laurea, winner of the French international cup, and the Alisa, and is reckoned among the best steersmen. He is a man of exceptional resource and originality.

HUDSON IS COACHING.

Famous Quarterback of Carlisle Indian Eleven Helping Backs of East End Team.

Frank Hudson, the former Carlisle Indian football player, is assisting with the coaching work of the East End Athletic eleven. Since his retirement from the great college game two years ago, Hudson has played very little football. He is connected with an East End bank, and does not have much time to devote to practice.

The management of the East End team found it necessary to have an assistant in the coaching. Chief Coach Joe Heh has all the work he can possibly do to look after the line men. Hudson's work will be mainly with the backs.

During the several years he played at quarterback on the famous Indian team Hudson was noted for his drop kicking. He is one of the best punters that ever wore a moleskin uniform, and has succeeded in dropping goals against nearly all the big college elevens.

Hudson started out this year to coach a team called the Bankers. This eleven did not play a game before disbanding, and now Hudson will devote all his time to coaching the East End eleven.

The team is practicing hard for its opening game with the Lyceum eleven at Friendship park Saturday afternoon. Every member of the eleven is in good shape, and as the Lyceum team is a strong one, the contest will be a bitter struggle.

Manor Will Greet the Pirates.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Pittsburgh Champions will play the Manor team on the latter's grounds Tuesday afternoon next. Manager Brubaker of Manor states that if the day is fine the league champions will play to a crowd of at least 2,000.

BETTER TONE TO STOCKS AND PRICES CLOSED HIGHER

Money Rate Advanced to 16 Per Cent., but the Supply Was Larger---Local Securities Were Dull but Steady.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a better feeling in financial circles yesterday. So far as the money market was concerned, the supply of funds was larger, although rates were firmly maintained. At one time it is estimated that the call money offering on the New York stock exchange at 10 per cent aggregated $10,000,000. The rate at one time dropped to 8 per cent, but late in the afternoon, when stock speculation was broadening, the banks hoisted the the warning signal again by advancing the rate to 16 per cent, and just before 3 o'clock 14 per cent was quoted, the last loan being at 7 per cent. The New York sub-treasury paid out $3,050,000 on account of gold received at San Francisco from Australia, and the banks showed a net gain of $210,000 since last Friday. Time loans, however, continue difficult to negotiate, it being reported that 60-day money on mixed collateral had loaned as high as 8 per cent, while 9 per cent was quoted on 90-day loans. The statement of the production of the Rand gold production showed a total output for September of $5,600,000, an increase of $2,800,000 over the corresponding month last year. The tendency of sterling exchange was downward, but the change was not sufficiently marked to be significant. On the whole the banks appear to be getting into stronger position, but the financial requirements of various syndidates during the next few weeks will be large enough to absorb surplus funds, and the outlook is not favorable to any material decline in rates—certainly not favorable to what is usually regarded as easy money.

In the stock market there was a very decided falling off in business, the sale to noon amounting to 344,000 shares, and for the day to 610,100 shares, a decrease of about 300,000 shares for Tuesday's total. At the opening price were generally firm, and during the morning hours there was a fair advance, largely due to shorts covering, but in special instances to purchases for foreign account, particularly of Union Pacific, and a banking house identified with the finances of the company was credited with being a large buyer of the stock. During the middle part of the session there was a sagging tendency, but shortly after 1 o'clock the upward movement was resumed, reports gaining currency that the anthracite coal operators were meeting with good success in getting miners. The detalings, however, were mainly professional, purchases by commission houses being limited. Around 2 o'clock some weakness appeared in Amalgamated Copper, which broke to 62½ and displayed no rallying power. This started some selling in the remainder of the list, but there was no decided pressure, and the market finally closed at net advances for the day.

A feature of the industrial list, aside from the decline in Copper, was the weakness in American Car and Foundry common, which broke to 34 on the announcement of the action of the directors in declaring the usual dividend of ½ of 1 per cent on the stock. There had been confident predictions that the rate would be raised to a 3 per cent basis, and the decline in the market was the expression of the disappointment of traders. United States Steel stocks were steady and fractionally higher on the quarterly statement of earnings, although the latter did not receive the attention they warranted. Compared with the corresponding quarter last year the profits show the enormous increase of more than $8,000,000. Of course the company was handicapped a year ago by the strike it had on hands, and it was reasonable to expect an increase this year, but no one last fall—at least no one outside the corporation—was sanguine enough to predict the increase shown in the official statement yesterday. Western Union was firmer on the annual report showing an increase in net earnings of $607,000. As a rule the iron and steel stocks and the older industrials displayed a good tone. They went through the recent liquidation in better shape than the railroad specialtites, and in any upward movement they are, in the opinion of market advisers, likely to take a conspicuous part.

In Pittsburgh there was a very considerable falling off in the volume of trading, and the number of securities dealt in was smaller. But two stocks displayed any signs of activity. These were United States Steel preferred and Westinghouse Electric second preferred. The former sold to the extent of 2,250 shares at 88¼ and 88⅝, the bulk of the selling being confined to one house, which marked 2,000 shares at 88⅜. The close was at 88⅛ bid, 88⅜ asked, a net gain of ¼ per cent for the day. The common was ⅜ higher at 39⅝, only 50 shares changing hands all day. Westinghouse Electric opened firm at 107, and held steady until shortly after noon, when a drop in New York to an equivalent of 105, caused some selling here, the stock closing at 105⅝, a net decline for the day of 1⅜. Window Glass sold at 58⅜, ex-dividend of 1½ per cent, or unchanged from the previous day. There was less activity in the coal stocks and prices were nominally unchanged. Pittsburgh Coal common sold at 29½@29⅝ and closed ¼ off for the day, the market expressing no disappointment over the fact that no dividend was declared on the common stock. River Coal sold at 11⅜ and was rather freely offered at that price at one time, while the preferred remained unchanged at 40. Crucible Steel gained ¼ for the common and ½ for the preferred, closing steady. The annual meeting of this company will be held next Wednesday, and while a favorable statement is looked for, no one expects that a dividend on the common stock will be declared this year.

In the bank and trust company group one new high record was established, Metropolitan National bank selling at 174 and advancing to 177 bid; but as a rule the tendency of values was downward, and the only important declines of the day occurred in this list. A small lot of Pittsburgh Trust sold at 870, a decline of $30 a share from the last previous sale, and at the close the stock was quoted at 850 bid, 870 asked. There were no transactions in Colonial Trust, but the stock was offered down to 636, and at the close 638 was the best bid. Real Estate Trust was quoted at 305 bid, 307½ asked, and Commonwealth Trust at 245 bid, 250 asked. The bond market remained quiet and unchanged.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Ohio Fuel was quoted at 27¼ bid, 27⅞ asked.

Wettengel was again the principal seller of River Coal common, and Hill & Co. bought.

Barbour bought $3,000 United States Steel 5s, series E, at 113½. Morris, Brown & Co. sold.

At the close Doty & Sutton bid 11⅝ for 1,000 shares River Coal common, and Hill & Co. offered 500 shares at 11⅝.

S. S. Pinkerton was on change yesterday. During the past 18 months he has transacted little business, owing to poor health, but he has returned completely restored and will resume business.

Potter Title and Trust Company, Pittsburgh, capital $200,000; directors, J. E. Potter, J. Kelly Cochran, John R. Hays, James R. Dunn, E. M. Booth, Pittsburgh, was chartered at Harrisburg yesterday.

Masten & Co. were buyers of Allegheny Valley Railway preferred. Very little of the stock of this road sold the Vanderbilts acquired in the general railroad list during the past two weeks, and there appears to be enough buying orders to absorb all offerings.

The most conspicuous transaction of the day on the local board was the sale of a block of 1,700 shares United States Steel preferred at 88⅜. These sold the Wilmer & Stephenson bought. The same seller disposed of 300 shares more, making 2,000 shares in all. The transaction showed that there was a good demand for the stock.

A Pittsburgh banker who made inquiry in New York on the subject, received the reply that the New York banks would not issue clearing house certificates, as the situation was well in hand, so far as the money market is concerned, but that the policy of the banks would be to steadily strengthen their position, pursuing a course that would work the least hardship.

	1902.	1901.
July	$12,041,914	$ 9,580,154
August	12,972,720	9,810,880
September	11,760,000	9,209,000
Total	$36,764,643	$28,891,031
Increase,	$8,173,612.

The Northern Pacific stockholders' meeting developed the fact that practically all the Northern Pacific stock, except about 15,000 shares, or about 1 per cent, has been either deposited in exchange for Northern Securities stock or by bankers for such deposit. Something like 1,200,000 shares are supposed to have been actually turned in and to be now represented by about $135,000,000 of Northern Securities stock. Had the Northern Securities Co.pany not been in existence, the company's annual report would have received much more attention than has been given to it. It makes an extraordinarily favorable showing and the company apparently earned about 8½ per cent on the stock for the year after spending considerable sums in maintenance of way over and above what might be called a full allowance.

The Wall Street Journal puts the matter in a nutshell thus: "The significance of the following figures from Saturday's bank statement is better recognized today than when they first appeared.

Loans	$872,393,700
Deposits	$22,176,000
Excess in loans	$ 127,700
Capital	$100,672,700
Net profits	117,167,900
Total	$218,840,600
Reserve held	218,845,200
Excess of reserve	$ 1,322,600

One of the largest Wall street commission houses wired the following to its Pittsburgh correspondent: "Banking institutions have had time to adjust their deposits and payments so as to be in a position where they could assist their clients; merchants are being supplied at 6 per cent, where the demand is legitimate, and, while Wall street pays somewhat more heavily, it is because of a natural discrimination by conservative banking elements against the speculative department. This discrimination will continue for some time, and in our opinion there will be some further liquidation, but not of an excessive nature nor abnormal in any degree. Prices will probably, therefore, not recover any may even go somewhat lower, but so far as money is concerned the wise and most commendable action of the treasury department and the able co-operation of the leading banks of the country has placed us in an attitude of comparative safety. There will be no panic here unless very serious developments, now unforeseen, should arise in the question of the coal strike.

The gross earnings of Chesapeake & Ohio for September decreased $278,457. For the same month Mexican Central increased $852,152.

It is interesting to note the effect of declining prices on Wall street sentiment. Throughout the coal strike values were upheld and boomed, and the losses entailed by the strike were largely ignored. Today, when the strike is hardly worse than it was a week or a month ago, Wall street is pessimistic. Here is a dispatch received by a Fourth avenue house yesterday: "The coal strike continues to be decidedly favorable, considering the situation here. There is a feeling of discontent that is spreading pretty generally, and unless there is some relief afforded it is apprehended its serious effect on business of all classes. We had the first demonstration of this kind in New York yesterday when the price of bread was raised on account of the high price of coal, and if this continues the result will be similar uprisings throughout the country. This influences is undoubtedly playing a very important part in unsettling confidence, and has given rise to a feeling of distrust that operates to the detriment of securities values. We are inclined to think that the market for the present is a safe one all around, at least until the situation clears up a bit."

Commenting upon the recent advance in the oil market, an experienced Pennsylvania operator, who has just returned from a long inspection of the Texas oil field, said: "I went to Texas to ascertain the real situation there, and found that field practically all the talk for depressing developments so far as the price of oil is concerned. I found nearly every well in the Beaumont field had got down to pumping, and there was evidence of the approach of gas in many wells. No new pools have been looking for. There is nothing in the history of the Pennsylvania oil fields that will compare with the reckless speculation that has in the past and continues today, in the Beaumont field. The derricks in some parts of the field are so close together that I believe it possible to walk over ten acres without putting a foot on the ground. In one instance a location was so close to a drilling well that the owner of the former obtained permission to construct a jacket extending from the derrick to be utilized in drilling the adjoining hole. Acreage which was sold at from $10,000 to $20,000 an acre was cut up into sixteenths and even less, and finally small parcels sold

DECIDED RELIEF IN WALL STREET

Market Is Helped by Withdrawal of Pressure of Credit Contraction.

STOCKS MAKING GAINS

Reaction Comes Later in Day, but Some Securities Close at Top Figures—Volume of Business Only Half Million Shares.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 8.—There was decided relief today from the pressure of the credit contraction by the banks and the result was a sharp recovery in the prices of stocks. The demand to cover short contracts by the bears was a considerable factor, as the recent heavy declines have made operators of that side of the market bold and quite active.

There was some show of enthusiasm in the early buying and considerable gains were established. The enthusiasm, however, did not last the day out, and the bears regained some confidence and ceased their efforts to cover. Some signs of strength persisted to the last, only Union Pacific, but the market generally became somewhat apathetic and closing prices were generally below best.

A stiffening in the money rate late in the day to 15 per cent and a heavy selling movement in Amalgamated copper helped to unsettle the late dealings. The weakness of Amalgamated is due to the decline in price of copper, both in New York and London.

Money Situation Improves.

The considerable strengthening of the position of the banks as a result of the week's liquidation and several developments today tending to replenish their cash reserves gave rise to the query whether the corner had been turned in money stringency, so that some confidence might be felt that forced liquidation of stocks had come to an end. The earlier view was that this might be hoped for with some confidence, but the wavering course of prices later in the day showed that this opinion was shaken.

The mere fact that today's volume of dealings ran to but little over 500,000 shares compared with an average of about 1,000,000 during the recent days of weakness, shows that the recovery was lacking in strong impetus. The banks also showed no disposition to deviate from their recent determination not to extend credits to stock market customers for the present.

There was a payment due today of nearly $18,000,000 on account of the subscriptions to the syndicate for taking over the Louisville & Nashville. This represents a 50 per cent payment and the remaining 50 per cent is payable a week from today.

Other Subscriptions Called.

A 20 per cent installment has been called by the ship combine syndicate, calling for about $15,000,000 and payable this week. Fifty per cent of subscriptions for new Baltimore & Ohio stock, calling for $21,250,000, are payable on October 17. These large syndicate requirements may be the cause of the continued unsettlement in the money market in spite of the relieving factors at work.

The $3,000,000 of Australian gold at San Francisco was made payable at the sub-treasury here today. Large requirements for the payment of New York taxes have been met and are returning to the channels of the market. Reassuring reports of the health of Russell Sage were quieting a quieting influence in the money market. Foreign exchange continued its downward course, and some bills were sold in that market. It is believed also that the morning strength shown by Americans in London is due to repurchases there by American sellers in this market to get the benefit of the cheaper money rate there for carrying stocks. But there was some buying here today for London account which helped to weaken exchange.

The continuing diversion of government receipts, except customs into bank deposits affords relief from the sub-treasury drain. There were some hopeful expressions current over the coal strike today, which helped sustain the market. Union Pacific was supported with determination and closed at the highest price.

The bond market was more irregular than stocks, and developed points of weakness as the day progressed. Total sales, par value, $3,665,000. United States new 4s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

MOST SEALS ESCAPE.

First Vessel to Arrive at Victoria Reports Poor Season's Catch.

Storms Interfere.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 8.—Somewhat discouraging news has been received from Bearing sea, through the return of the first of the sealing fleet, the Oscar and Hattie, which took 280 skins in the sea, totalling 1,805 for the season of nine months off the coast of Copper Island and in the Bearing sea.

Bearing sea, the crew report, was very tempestuous almost from the beginning of the season until the schooner headed for home, September 20. For 16 days a continuous gale blew, and during this time it was impossible to lower a boat. In the last 15 days spent in the sea the boats were lowered but four times.

Only three of the sealing fleet were sighted, the Victoria on August 28, with a catch of 100 skins; the Zillah May, on the day previous, with only 46 skins, and the Favorite, on September 7, with 19 skins.

OPPORTUNITY FOR TRADE.

Good Market for Machinery of All Kinds in South Africa.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The reports of the commissioners sent to South Africa to investigate trade openings have been published. They emphasize the enormous opportunities for free trade in engineering, mining, agricultural and electrical machinery of all kinds, street car and lighting equipments, and iron and steel constructional work.

The commissioners found everywhere that American and German competition was very keen and that business could be obtained only by push and appreciation of the requirements of the market. They were surprised at the antiquated business methods of the British manufacturers.

OIL FIELD LOSS $200,000.

No Wind to Spread Fire or Damage Would Have Been Greater.

BEAUMONT, TEX., Oct. 8.—Reports received today estimate the loss by last night's fire in the oil fields from $100,000 to $500,000. Rumors of loss of life have proved untrue, although one man was probably fatally burned while working at the top of a derrick.

The fire started in the J. S. Corbett well, near the center of the Spindle Top avenua fronting, the middle section of the Hogg-Swayne tract, and swept the section, completely destroying practically every derrick and pumping rig. The fact that there was no wind alone prevented the spread of the fire to other sections.

CEREALS HIGHER IN CHICAGO PITS

Dullness Pervades Market at Opening, but Firmness Develops Later.

WEATHER HURTS PRICES

Wheat Starts Low, but Fair Commission House Buying Helps—Lower Cables on Corn. Little Doing in Oats.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Dullness again pervaded the board of trade markets today. The early prices were lower, but firmness developed later in the day, December wheat closing ½c higher, December corn ⅜@½c higher and oats ¼c higher. January provisions closed a shade to 7½c higher.

Wheat started weak on favorable weather in the northwest and southwest. There was fair commission house buying throughout the entire session, however, induced by the strength in outside markets and small local receipts and the close was strong. December opened a shade to ⅛c lower at 69¼@69⅝c to 69⅝c, sold at 69¼c, and then rallied steadily, closing ½c higher at 69⅝@70c, the high point of the day. Primary receipts were 1,085,000 bushels compared with 1,170,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 745 cars, which, with local receipts of 90 cars—4 of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 858 cars, against 904 last week and 1,053 a year ago.

Lower Cables in Corn.

Corn opened easier, influenced by lower cables and good weather throughout the west. The Missouri crop report claimed this year's crop would be the largest in the history of the state, and some selling developed as a result of this announcement. Good cash demand and bullish sentiment among local traders, however, more than counterbalanced these depressing factors and there was good buying throughout the day. Trading, on the whole, was nevertheless more restricted than of late. Heavy buying of May by a local long late in the day caused a strong close. December opened ⅛@⅛c to ¼@⅜c lower at 48¼@48⅜c to 48c. After selling at 48c, the market took an upward turn and the latter part of the session was strong. The close was at the top at 48⅞c, a gain of ⅝@¾c. Local receipts were 60 cars, with 6 of contract grade.

Oats Without Feature.

Oats were again featureless, with some selling early due to reports of excellent weather. After an easy opening some strength developed on local buying and the close was firm. December opened ¼c lower at 32⅛c and sold between 32⅛c and 32½c, closing at the high point with a gain of ¼c. Local receipts were 111 cars.

Provisions were easy, influenced largely by further declines in the prices of hogs. Trade was dull. Demand was largely local, with offerings coming mainly from small holders. January pork closed 7½c higher at $15 77½, lard 2½c higher, and ribs a shade higher at $8 90@8 92½ and $8 25@8 27½, respectively.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 60 cars; corn, 73 cars; oats, 90 cars; hogs, 22,000 head.

FANCY APPLES SELL AT HIGHER FIGURES

Hay and Grain Firm at Unchanged Prices—Peaches Plentiful and Dull.

Local quotations for hay and grain underwent no change yesterday, markets being in good condition with prices firmly held by sellers. No top grade timothy hay was offered below $16 00, while asking of $17 00 were not infrequent. Corn held its own, with receipts slightly in excess of the arrivals Tuesday, but offerings are still scant.

In the west there was a slightly easier corn market, owing to favorable crop reports, but the weakness was but trifling. All offerings were quickly absorbed, and the decline was in consequence partial, being brought about by a desire on the part of some holders to sell. The supply of old corn is almost exhausted, and dealers are of the opinion there will be only insignificant quantities moving before the first of the year, and do not hesitate to buy on all weak spots.

Wheat has been subject to some bearish influences in the Chicago market, the large increase in the world's visible supply being somewhat depressing, but so far there has not been a decline sufficiently marked to affect flour, which is still held at quotations ruling last week. There is a good steady demand for this latter staple, with no especial activity, although retailers do not hesitate to buy freely for requirements.

Big Increase in Coffee Supply.

The world's visible supply of coffee increased to the extent of 778,978 bags during September, about 80,000 bags more than was expected, and the tone of the market has not gained the strength expected a few days ago. Local prices are uncharged, however, and quotations are steady with demand good. Sugar remains as it was at the opening of the week. Navy beans went no higher yesterday, but they are no lower, and $2 75 is the price ruling in most transactions.

While there are large quantities of apples reaching Pittsburgh there is an unusual demand at present for the fanciest stock, and for this grade stronger prices are ruling. Lower grades are unchanged, being in greater quantity and less request than the fancy. There are still enough peaches in the market, and the conditions ruling are easy, with much inferior stock offering. Grapes are firmly held at quotations.

Supplies of Garden Stuff.

Potatoes continue to arrive in moderate amount only, and the market is steady. Cabbage is not yet very active, but is showing a little more life than it did earlier in the month. Fresh tomatoes are plentiful for the time of year, and prices are easy, fancy stock bringing $1 per bushel, while common can be bought for 60 cents. String beans are getting scarcer. Corn is steady without change in price.

Butter presents no new features, the market being steady at quotations prevailing for nearly two weeks. Cheese holds its own, but has advanced no further. Eggs continue to arrive in sufficient quantities to supply the demand, and are offering at old figures.

The poultry supply is keeping up to about an average for the past week, and there is no difference in quotations for any description. Domestic rabbits are in good demand.

More plentiful supplies of hogs in the west have made provision prices easier in Chicago, while the local market has not been changed.
